Blood Purge Blamed on Goering

FRICK SAYS HE CAUSED KILLING OF INNOCENTS

War Crime Tribunal Told How Hitler Crushed Foes

BY HAL FOUST
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

NUERNBERG, Germany, Nov. 22—How the Nazi party, once in the saddle, moved ruthlessly to suppress every vestige of opposition by political trickery and violence, was revealed today at the international military tribunal trying 19 top Nazis.

Wilhelm Frick

The story was presented by American prosecutors in a huge mass of documentary evidence in support of the first phase of the indictment which charges that the Nazis had a "common plan or conspiracy" for seizing illegal control of Germany as a first step to world conquest.

Hermann Goering, former reichsmarshal, was identified by nazi Interior Minister Wilhelm Frick as the instigator of Adolf Hitler's blood purge of 1934. The identification was made in a surprise affidavit presented by Maj. Frank B. Wallis of Boston, Mass. It had been made only last Monday, a day before the trial opened.

Ordered Mass Killings

a putsch was being planned by Capt. Ernst Roehm, gave Goering the order to carry out the mass killings.

"Many people were killed, I don't know how many, who actually did not have anything to do with the putsch — people who just weren't liked very well," Frick's statement said.

Among these, Frick named former Reichschancellor Gen. Kurt von Schleicher and his wife, and former Nazi party leader Gregor Strasser, who had differed with Hitler.

Frick's statement said "something like a hundred, even more, were killed who were accused of high treason. All of this was done without resort to legal proceedings. They were just killed on the spot."

Trace Rise of Party

In continuing its assignment to prove the charge of conspiracy to wage aggressive war, the American prosecution staff started with the 1923 Munich beer hall putsch and outlined the history of the party to 1939 with many gaps to be filled in the next four to six weeks from the tons of captured German records. Hitler, in 1933, became chancellor but, Wallis said, "the records show that the Nazis did not have the free

NAZIS FORGED VON HINDENBURG WILL: VON PAPEN

NUERNBERG, Germany, Nov. 22 (AP)—Franz von Papen has informed the international war crimes tribunal that the genuine "last testament" of Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg urged Adolf Hitler to help restore the Hohenzollern monarchy in Germany and to avoid combining the offices of head of the state and head of the government.

Marshal von Hindenburg

Franz von Papen

Von Papen, veteran German politician and diplomat, was captured by American troops on April 10 and is one of those on trial as a major nazi war criminal.

"Must Remain Separate"

"The legislative and executive branches must always remain separate," Hindenburg said, as quoted by Von Papen. "It is my wish that Germany return to the monarchal form of government after my death."

Hindenburg also called upon the government, as its "foremost duty," to retain Germany's "strong foundation" of Christianity, Von Papen said.

Hitler was President Hindenburg's chancellor in the last 19 months of the Hindenburg regime and after Hindenburg's death in 1934 combined the presidency and chancellorship into the office of reichsfuehrer. The nazi government that year published a document described as Hindenburg's last will and testament. Its authenticity was widely questioned, praitcularly a section which by implication urged Hitler to combine the offices of head of the reich and head of the government.

True Will "Never Published"

Von Papen says he drew up the original document at Hindenburg's request, and in a letter dated Oct. 24, 1945, has told the Nuernberg war crimes court that the true Hindenburg will never was published. By American request, Von Papen reconstructed the will from memory while awaiting trial as a war criminal.

Von Papen told the international tribunal that Hindenburg's warning against consolidation of the two

Halsey Gives Mighty Fleet to New Chief

Long Beach, Cal., Nov. 22 (AP)—Adm. Halsey, who led the famed third fleet from disaster in Pearl Harbor to triumph in Tokyo Bay, hauled down his four star flag aboard his flagship South Dakota today. In a colorful ceremony, he turned over command to Rear Adm. Howard F. Kingman, preparatory to retirement in about a month.

Then, on the smooth waters of Los Angeles harbor, with a brilliant sun beating down, he inspected units of the mightiest fleet ever assembled, while 5 inchers roared 17 gun salutes and 16 inchers bobbed up and down on the decks of the flagship and the great battleships Alabama, Iowa, and Wisconsin.

'Well Done,' He Says.

"In hauling down my flag," Halsey told lines of officers and bluejackets standing at stiff attention, "I am terminating my seagoing career of slightly over 45 years. This is far from a pleasure. But I deem it necessary for men of my age [he is 63] to step aside so that younger men can take over the greatest navy in the world.

"I want to congratulate the veterans of all the crews returning from four hard years of war in the Pacific.

"I am told that the conduct of those already returned has been splendid, and I am proud of that. I like to see the younger men joining today 'follow that pattern.' They can see they don't have to be rough and tumble to be great fighters.

Like Cutting Off Arm

"You have heard the nation say 'well done'—the finest tribute to the navy. Well done, well done, well done. May you all have happy careers. Godspeed and God bless you."

Adm. Kingman, in response, described Halsey's retirement as "the last scene, last act of one of the most brilliant performances in navy history."

In an interview, Adm. Halsey confessed that leaving the fleet "is like cutting off my right arm." He said he will depart Saturday for Washington, and will testify before the current Pearl Harbor inquiry.

New York, Nov. 22 [Special] — Miss Emily Hahn, 40, Chicago author, today was reunited with Maj. Charles Boxer, 41, British intelligence officer, who is the father of her daughter, Carola, 4. The officer arrived by plane from California on his way from Japan where he was a prisoner for 18 months.

The three embraced beside the plane, then went to Miss Hahn's present home in upper Manhattan. Boxer said he planned to marry the author, "if she will have me," as soon as he learns from England whether his wife, Ursulla, has obtained a divorce in proceedings she brought there. He said he hoped to return to England with Emily and Carola in about a month.

Boxer and Miss Hahn met and fell in love in Hong Kong in 1940. Carola was born there in 1941. The child and her mother left Hong Kong on the exchange liner Gripsholm on Sept. 19, 1943. Upon her return to the United States, Miss Hahn told the world about her baby in a book entitled "China to Me."

GI ENOCH ARDEN HOME TO WIFE WHO WED UNCLE

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 22 (AP)—Staff Sgt. Gene D. Birdwell, 21 year old aerial gunner whose wife married his uncle in the belief he was dead, came home to a Thanksgiving dinner today, "the happiest man in the world."

The sergeant, who was shot down over Borneo and spent a year in a Japanese prison camp, was liberated in September—two weeks after his 19 year old bride, Mrs. Ann Birdwell, had married the uncle, Jack Marshall, Wichita, Kas.

With him when he stepped out of a plane at 3 a. m. was his wife, whose marriage to Marshall was annulled after she learned Birdwell was alive instead of dead as she had believed for nine months. They came here from Denver, where the sergeant had been in an army hospital.

Liberal Members to Quit Italian Coalition Cabinet

ROME, Nov. 23 [Friday] (AP)—The Liberal party said early today that Vice Premier Manlio Brosio and other Liberal cabinet members would withdraw from Premier Parri's coalition government — an action which probably would force the premier to resign. The Liberals, who have been feuding with the leftists over fascist purge measures and general elections, said their decision came after a five-hour conference of the six coalition parties with Parri.

Girl, 6, Killed, Ten Injured in Furnace Blast

Thanksgiving dinner preparations in the home of Orville Rainville, 37, a truck driver, at 9601 S. Merton av., Worth township, were interrupted yesterday by a furnace explosion that caused the death of a 6 year old girl and the injury of 10 other persons, members of three families.

Karlene Sento

Karlene Sento, whose father, Harry, 42, of 9632 Brandt av., Oak Lawn, a pressman, had dropped in on the Rainvilles for a brief visit, was believed to have been killed outright.

Baby Critically Injured

Critically injured were Rainville and 14 month old George Adams, son of Clifton Adams, 29, of 5356 Aberdeen st., Chicago, also a truck driver, whose family was to dine with the Rainvilles. They were taken to Little Company of Mary hospital with the other injured.

The others hurt were Rainville's son, Orville Jr., 2, and daughter, Margaret, 3; Adams; his wife, June, 25; another son, Billy, 8, and a daughter, Jane, 6; Sento and Sento's son, Charles, 5. Injuries to Jane Adams and Charles Sento were described as slight.

The five room frame dwelling, which Rainville purchased 11 days ago, has no basement and the furnace of the hot water heating system is in a utility room just off the kitchen, where most of the victims were assembled.

Adams said Rainville, with the aid of Santo, was trying to thaw out a frozen radiator or pipe by building up the fire and had added cold water to the system's supply just before the explosion.

Blast Knocks Down Walls

The utility room's two outside walls and the wall separating it from the living room were blown out. The furnace door was hurled thru an open door into the kitchen. The door apparently lessened the force of the blast in that direction. The shock was felt four blocks away.

Two persons escaped injury. They are Rainville's wife, Grace, and another daughter, Edith, 1.

The house is in Columbus Manor, an unincorporated area outside Oak Lawn. Capt. William Rasmussen of the Columbus Manor fire department, which extinguished a blaze started by the blast, estimated damage at $3,500 to $5,000.

Phone Parley Fails; National Union to Act

Negotiations for the settlement of a strike of 8,900 long distance operators of the Illinois Bell Telephone company broke down last night and the Illinois Telephone Traffic union called upon its parent union, the National Federation of Telephone Workers, to represent it in future discussions.

Ernest Weaver

This development came after the union and telephone company representatives remained deadlocked after a special meeting in the office of Robert L. Gordon, state director of labor, to consider what the union termed a "compromise offer" as settlement of the wage dispute. Company spokesmen said the offer was "virtually the same" as the original demands.

Soon after the meeting ended, the union announced Joseph A. Beirne, New York, federation president, was en route to Chicago by plane. Beirne was scheduled to confer immediately with representatives of the Illinois union and all allied telephone workers' unions about support of the Chicago strike.

Ernest Weaver, regional director of the federation, commented that the threat of a national strike is now presented by the Illinois union's action.

Stand on $6 Pay Boost

The union stood on its $6 weekly wage increase but offered to amend its demand on retroactive payments by advancing the back pay period from May, 1945, to June 29. Company representatives declined to recede from its readiness to pay a $4 weekly increase, which was recommended by the national telephone commission of the war labor board.

When informed that the union had delegated Beirne to represent it, the company announced its willingness to continue negotiations at any time.

The company reported yesterday that it was maintaining normal service in Chicago and emergency service on long distance calls, altho long distance operators in Cincinnati, O., and Washington, D. C., have refused to accept calls from Chicago since Wednesday night. Service to Cleveland had been cut off but was resumed.

$300,000 Wages Lost

The union withdrew its pickets yesterday from outlying exchanges in Chicago, but maintained picket lines at the company's offices in the loop and at the warehouse at 2511 W. 23d st.

Since the start of the strike on Monday, employes have lost approximately $300,000 in wages, an increase of $78,000 over the previous day's figure.

C. E. Mitchell, president of the Illinois Union of Telephone Workers, which represents 4,000 plant craftsmen who work on switchboards and other equipment, said the suburban local of the union had voted to support the Chicago locals in refusing to cross picket lines.

TIEUP COSTLY TO PUBLIC

The strike of 8,900 members of the Illinois Telephone and Traffic Union has virtually halted telephone service of suburban residents of Chicago between and within communities. Even efforts yesterday

LABORITE WARNS BRITISH FARMERS LAND MAY BE SEIZED

LONDON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Minister of Agriculture Tom Williams told British farmers tonight that failure to coöperate in the Labor government's planned agriculture program might mean confiscation of their land.

In a radio address, Williams said the government's policy is intended "to insure that land is properly farmed, managed, and equipped." He warned that, as "a last resort," land would be taken, at a valuation, from farmers and landowners "who fail to play their part."

"There may be a minority, a small minority," Williams said, "who fail to fulfill the responsibilities attaching to ownership or occupation of the land. These we must have the power to control, and we shall seek legislative authority from parliament to serve compulsory directions."

BATTLE INDONESIANS IN SUBURBS OF JAVA PORT

12 YANKS HURT AS RIOTERS RIP THRU CALCUTTA

CALCUTTA, India, Nov. 22 (AP)—Twelve American soldiers were injured today and at least 10 other persons were reported killed as rioting crowds surged through Calcutta in demonstrations marking Indian national army day.

At least four persons were known to have been killed, including one slain by police gunfire today, and scores of demonstrators and police were injured.

The rioting intensified tonight after two days of disorders. Hospitals were jammed.

Touched Off by Parade

The demonstration started yesterday when Calcutta university students marched toward Dalhousie square for a meeting observing Indian national army day to protest resumption of the trials of army personnel at New Delhi. The Indian national army was organized by the late Subhas Chandra Bose to fight beside the Japanese against the allies.

All Calcutta was placed out of bounds to American troops by Brig. Gen. Robert P. Neyland, commander of the United States base section headquarters here.

Two American officers were beaten by a mob after being forced to halt their command car before a fire barricade across a road in the southern part of the city.

U. S. Sentry Mobbed

An American soldier was attacked by a mob while he was on guard duty at army headquarters. Nine other soldiers were cut and bruised by rocks thrown at military vehicles.

At least 22 military trucks, including American vehicles and a United States Red Cross truck, were burned by the rioters.

Calcutta's transportation system was paralyzed.

Nationalists Refuse to Meet Dutch Peace Makers

BATAVIA, Java, Nov. 22 (AP)—Japanese troops under British command battled Indonesians in eastern suburbs of the mid-Java port city of Semarang today, while in turbulent Batavia attempts to negotiate a peace between the Dutch and Indonesian republican leaders collapsed. A British spokesman said the Japanese were "good troops" who fought well.

Japanese troops directed to clear kampongs [suburban areas] on the eastern side of Semarang were meeting resistance, and they attacked briskly during the morning.

A British spokesman said the Japanese, like the British forces, were permitted to shoot any one bearing arms, but they have been "very good" about taking Indonesians prisoners rather than killing them.

Twenty Die in Batavia

The Japanese troops ignored Indonesian pamphlets asking in poor Japanese: "Why are you fighting with the British? The Japanese and Indonesians are friends."

Soerabaja, big naval base 175 miles east of Semarang, remained relatively quiet.

At least 20 Indonesians were killed in Batavia in the past 24 hours by intermittent sniping and attacks, and a British bulletin reported a "serious outbreak of unrest" in Bandoeng, 75 miles southeast of Batavia.

Indonesian leaders here declared they would not meet with the Dutch "due to actions of the Dutch disturbing the peace among the Indonesians."

Conference Scheduled

A conference with Lt. Gen. Philip Christison, allied commander in chief of the Netherlands East Indies, had been scheduled for tonight.

One Indonesian spokesman said the Indonesians would negotiate with the British alone and asserted "when the Dutch give the order for cessation of shooting and when the burning of our villages and the murdering of our people are stopped by the Dutch, then we shall be willing to talk with them."

Battles between Indonesian and British forces were spreading ominously. From Semarang the British sent a motorized infantry company of Mahrattas [Indians] to relieve besieged Ambarawa, where 10,000 Dutch women, children, and men were reported under attack by Indonesian extremists. Ambarawa was described as the current western Java "hot spot."

En route with artillery, mortars and two tanks to relieve the small garrison forces protecting the internees, the Mahrattas killed 18 Indonesians and one Japanese deserter in clearing out a bunker just outside Semarang blocking the road to Ambarawa. One Mahratta was killed.

Gurkhas Battle Nationalists

A Gurkha battalion, dispatched from Magelang to Ambarawa, fought a nightlong battle with Indonesians near Ambarawa, and the British estimated 150 Nationalists were killed or wounded. There were 10 Gurkha casualties.

Unrest was reported in several other cities, including Bandoeng. Allied officers said Indonesians in Bandoeng appeared determined to interfere with the work of RAPWI, the organization caring for internees and former allied prisoners of war. Shopkeepers and farmers were being intimidated with food supplies for Europeans and Eurasians being cut off, the officers added.

BOY OF 7 SHOT AS 3 QUARREL IN BINGO GAME

Ralph Esquivel, 7, of 1433 S. Trumbull av., was shot in the stomach by another 7 year old, Raymond Bretanus, last night, police said, when they and Julius Alvarez, 10, of 1426 S. Trumbull av., quarreled over the outcome of a bingo game.

Ralph Esquivel [top] and Raymond Bretanus

The three were playing in the Bretanus boy's home on the third floor at the Trumbull av. address. A bitter quarrel took place between Raymond and Julius. Raymond got his father's empty shotgun, loaded it with shells he took from a third floor pantry shelf, and pointed it at Julius.

As Julius moved out of range, the gun was discharged and the charge struck Ralph. He was taken to Mt. Sinai hospital, where physicians despaired of saving his life. His assailant told police he did not intend to discharge the gun.

CHINA REDS SAY U. S. IS BUILDING SHANGHAI BASE

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 22 (AP)—A communist spokesman charged tonight the United States was turning Shanghai into a naval base as part of a program to give military and financial aid to nationalist China.

Without confirmation from any quarter, the communist spokesman, who never is identified by name, declared that work already had begun on the Shanghai base.

BRITISH OWNERS MAY GET SHIPS BACK ON FEB. 1

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Nov. 22—The ministry of war transport today was reported working out a program to release Britain's merchant fleets to their owners next Feb. 1. This will be followed a month later, it was said, by the winding up of the United Maritime corporation which operated the united nations shipping pool. British shipping companies are reportedly pessimistic about immediate frate prospects as a result of slow reconversion of industry and materials and man power shortages in export trades.

NAZIS FORGED HINDENBURG'S WILL: PAPEN

Reconstructs Real One, Backing Monarchy

high offices was promoted by the obvious danger that Hitler would attempt to have himself elected reich president or else promote the acquisition of this post by one of his followers.

"Both possibilities had to be prevented," Von Papen said. "As an alternative, it seemed best to restore the constitutional monarchy."

Reports Hitler Agreed

Von Papen said he then broached the matter to Hitler, who seemed to be completely in favor of the idea. Hitler frequently had voiced admiration for Prussia's rulers, he said.

"It is a good idea to consider restoration of the monarchy," Von Papen quoted Hitler as saying. "We can do it as soon as I have restored order to the reich reasonably well. The monarchy must have a good start."

Von Papen said he went straight to Hindenburg and suggested that he draw up a statement dealing with the monarchy and the question of its succession, thru which he might express his last will to the German people. Von Papen said Hindenburg agreed and instructed him to prepare the testament.

Von Papen said Hindenburg's son Oskar gave him the will and testament at Hindenburg's funeral and that he passed it on to Hitler.

"True Will" Reconstructed

"To the chancellor of the reich, A. Hitler, Berlin.

"My last will:

"In my advanced age, God may soon call me away from this life. Therefore, I wish to proclaim hereby to you and the German people, to whom the services of all my life were dedicated, my conception and my wishes for the future of the people and the state.

"In one of the gravest hours in the German people's inner political life, I have called you, Mr. Chancellor of the reich, to be head of the government of the reich. The German people are torn apart into many parties and split and shattered by social struggles which were aggravated by unemployment on an unheard of scale.

"You have built up a movement which represents a big social program and which desires to reestablish the full sovereignty of the German reich in matters of foreign policy and to clear it from the unjust blame of being the only one guilty for the World war.

"In approval of this program, to be carried out by peaceful means, I have entrusted to you the leadership of the government.

"It gives me great happiness to see that the lost sense of national unity is growing again, that the German worker considers himself again a valuable and important part of the German people, that class hatred is vanishing, and that peasants, business men, and scientists today are again marching hand in hand.

"A large program of work procurement again secures work and the daily bread for the major part of our people.

"All this represents a big step forward. For, if Germany is to reoccupy her once so respected place in the council of European nations, her inner balance must first be reestablished by unity, law, and order.

Government Needs Control

"The more orderly and just the manner in which a state is governed and administered, the greater the respect and confidence it enjoys in the life of nations; the sooner also will it find readiness to be accorded the rights to which a sovereign state is inalienably entitled and which it has the duty to demand by peaceful means.

"Altho it is true that in extraordinary times the use of extraordinary methods by a government is indicated and permitted, the experience of a long life, ripened in long and hard discipline, has taught me that it is necessary to return as early as possible to normal conditions under which the powers of the state can be controled by parliament and independent agencies.

"Advantageous as it may seem for the moment to replace the many parties of the country by one big, single movement, it is nevertheless necessary that the government, be it even inspired by the best intentions, should not suppress an opposition which constitutes a control that is valuable and indispensable for the government itself.

"I have especially at heart the education of German youth, which had to suffer so much from the scourge of unemployment.

"It is the [standard] bearer of the German future. Its admission to labor service and education is a gratifying progress. But it is also necessary above all, not to let degenerate the spiritual basis upon which all education rests.

"The rich history of our fatherland was based for more than a thousand years on the strong foundation of the Christian conception. It is the foremost duty of any government to keep this foundation unshaken.

Backs Christian Heritage

"Measures against both the servants and the institutions of the Christian churches, altho they may have appeared necessary for political or moral reasons, must never shake the Christian heritage on which rests occidental civilization and the historic mission of Germany.

"When God decides to call me from this life, the question of the head of the reich will have to be settled anew. A faithful servant of my emperor and king thruout my long life, I have always been a stanch supporter of the monarchal system of government. History teaches us that the reich and Prussia, as well as other states, owe their rulers immeasurably much. Therefore, it concerns me deeply that, as a result of the last war, the monarchal form of government was replaced by a republican form. Despite these scruples, I have not hesitated to serve the German people under this form of government when called upon to do so.

"Yet, experience showed me that our nation, politically still weaker than other, old democracies, without strong authoritative and steady leadership becomes too easily a pawn of its parties and its exploiters. Election of a head of state and formation of governments often were the source of great disturbances and shameful strife.

"It would also violate sound policies of the state to combine the offices of head of the reich with the head of the government in one person. The legislative and executive branches must always remain separated.

"Therefore it is my wish that Germany return to the monarchal form of government after my death. The house of Hohenzollern has a legitimate claim which has been fortified by centuries of glorious history, and I am convinced that the descendant of that house will do all to secure peace, happiness, and prosperity for the German people of the future.

"I say farewell to the German people with a feeling of deep gratitude for the confidence which it has placed in me, as a soldier in the field and as reich president. My life and thoughts belong to Germans only. I pray that God may give the fatherland, which has been hit hard by the war, a new future in peace and in prosperity and in brotherly unity of the whole German people.

COURT TOLD HOW NAZIS CRUSHED ALL OPPOSITION

The first day's batch of documentary evidence indicated the thoroness of the evidence collected as the United States army pushed across Germany. Original minutes of cabinet meetings, initiated by some of the defendants, told of plots to suppress the opposition.

With all the other parties outlawed, nazi Black Shirts hunted down dissenters. Concentration camps were filled. Blood was shed in street riots.

The Nazi party itself was purged of conservatives who objected to Hitler's extremes. It was not capricious violence but a deliberate plan, the prosecution charged. The party's own records were introduced to prove it was planned that way.

Church Suppressed.

Trade unions were swallowed by the Nazis using violence only when promises of government support failed to wean the leaders from democratic principles of organization. Employers, at first welcoming freedom from collective bargaining and strike threats, then found themselves under the nazi dictates.

Another sheaf of seized records documented the charge that the Nazis deliberately suppressed the church as an influence contradicting the race superiority thesis and the sanctity of the state and its political leaders. The education of youth was taken over to end independent thinking by the up-coming generation.

Growing Nazi fury in the face of passive noncoöperation on the part of the clergy was revealed in secret police files. One Nazi secret police report as early as 1934 described Catholic church opposition to the new regime as "unspeakable behavior," and by 1942 Himmler ordered concentration camps to put priests of some nationalities at any kind of work.

Persecution Launched

Another report told of the failure of more than 70 Bavarian churches to toll a death knell for President Von Hindenburg in 1934. "Of the clergy involved, 32 in all are politically tainted," the Gestapo report said. "Two of them said holy mass for deceased Chancellor Dolfuss of the Austrian confederation."

The anti-Jewish program was launched not only to solidify the non-Jews, but also to intimidate Aryans who might dissent. Some of the details of this persecution, which finally wiped out about 5,700,000 of Europe's 9,600,000 Jews, will be told by the Russian and French portion of the prosecution later in the trial. The British will take up the prosecution from 1939 on, to cover treaty violations.

BORDEAUX WINE GROWERS WORRY OVER DRY MOVE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BORDEAUX, France, Nov. 22 — Bordeaux wine growers are seriously worried over a prohibition movement which has developed in France since the war. The domestic wine market seems threatened.

The French have always been great drinkers of table wines produced in this region and these wines practically disappeared during the German occupation. Now, 15 months after liberation, each adult is still rationed at one quart of wine a week and this may be cut.

Why this meager ration when before the war France had enough to supply every one with half a liter daily?

The best explanation is that recent statistics have painted a grim picture of alcoholism in France and the government wants to restrict consumption. Curtailment of drinking in cafes during the occupation resulted in the improvement of health, according to doctors, who are strongly backing the movement against wine drinking.

French statistics show that there is one cafe or "bistro" for every 25 persons in France. Last month the government applied restrictions against the opening of new cafes and put a number of existing small ones out of business. The figures show the Frenchman before the war drank 27 quarts of wine on the average annually as against 11 for the Italian, nine for the Belgian, and four for the Englishman.

EDEN ASKS CURB ON NATIONALISM AS PEACE MOVE

Wants United Nations Veto Powers Scrapped

LONDON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee and Anthony Eden today appealed for mutual confidence among all nations to avoid war, and Eden urged that veto rights under the united nations charter be abandoned to lessen the dangers of nationalism in a world of atomic power.

Anthony Eden

Opening the first full dress debate on foreign affairs since the labor government came in, Attlee told commons of his atom bomb conversations in Washington, D. C., and warned that civilization would "perish" if war again engulfs the world.

Eden, war time foreign secretary, speaking for the conservative opposition, said he was "unable to see any final solution that will make the world safe for atomic power, other than that we all abate our present ideas of sovereignty."

'Take Sting Out of Nationalism'

Nothing, Eden added, shows more clearly the continued hold of nationalism on all nations than the decision of the San Francisco conference to retain the power of veto for Russia, the United States, Britain, France, and China in the security council of the united nations organization on any question of using armed force.

"We have got somehow to take the sting out of nationalism," he said. "The united nations ought to review their charter in the light of discoveries made about atomic energy, which were not before us when the charter was drawn up."

Eden said he hoped that the nations, having looked at the veto clause again, "will decide that the retention of that power [in the charter] is an anachronism of the modern world."

Tells Suspicion of Russia

Turning to relations with Russia, Eden said, "No one would deny there has been an increase of suspicion and distrust between the soviet union and the other two great partners in victory, the United States and ourselves."

Eden deplored this suspicion, and said he was convinced that future peace depended upon understanding between Britain, the United States, and Russia.

To a cheering house, Eden begged "our Russian friends to believe" that they could make no greater contribution to international understanding than to allow foreign correspondents into Russian territory or territory under Russian control. He asked Russia to grant "the same full freedom as is allowed Russian correspondents here."

Wants Reds to Help

"We want the fullest Russian participation in world affairs on equal terms," said Eden. "We know Russia's arrangements are not aimed against us. We can surely ask her to believe that our arrangements are not aimed against her."

Referring to the troubles in the Iranian province of Azerbaijan, Eden said the soviet union would allay world suspicion if it would invite world newsmen to go in and see for themselves what is going on in that area.

"Drop those barriers of censorship and you will blow away in one gust much of the black fogs of suspicion," he said.

Explaining that Russia had "gone very far in making arrangements the soviets intended them "against a possible resurgence of German plans for domination of Europe." He added that the Russians are not with all her neighbors," Eden said the Russians are not convinced "that the nazi spirit is entirely dead."

Attlee said the united nations organization is the one instrument thus far devised which could establish the rule of law and prevent war—if all nations would resolve to use it.

Urges World-Wide Confidence

"I say 'resolve to use it' because to me here is the essence of the problem: Just as no system of inspection or control of weapons will work without goodwill, so no international organization, however carefully framed, will be of any value unless the nations resolve to lay aside war or the threat of war as instruments of policy, unless they are determined to establish between themselves such mutual confidence that war is unthinkable," he said.

"We can make up our minds that if the world again lapses into war on a scale comparable with that from which we have just emerged, every weapon will be used, and we can confidently expect that full scale atomic warfare will result in the destruction of great cities, the deaths of millions and the setting back of civilization to an unimaginable extent."

Participate in Auto Celebration

SHADES OF 1895 CHUG THRU CITY IN AUTO 'RACE'

BY ROY GIBBONS

While a band played "You Gotta Get Under, Get Out and Get Under," the drivers of 30 antiquated automobiles yesterday coaxed into life the sputtering engines of their temperamental museum pieces and chugged and coughed to a brave start in what was intended to be the reënactment of America's first automobile race, held in Chicago on Thanksgiving day 50 years ago.

Yesterday's revival of that historic spectacle got under way 15 minutes late at 9:15 a. m. in front of the Museum of Science and Industry, which sponsored the event in connection with its golden jubilee celebration commemorating 50 years of progress in the automobile industry.

It's a Parade, Rather Than Race

In reality, the reënactment was not a race, but more a parade of old time cars, some of which dated back to an era when automobiles in this country were called "horseless carriages."

In the race of half a century ago, 11 motor driven vehicles struggled toward the starting point that lay just southwest of the building that now houses the museum in Jackson park. Six of the cars got away, but only two finished the 54½ mile course extending from Jackson park to Evanston and return.

In yesterday's revival of the spectacle the same course was retraced by cars which approximated in age the ones which participated in the race of 50 years ago.

Six Entries in First Division

The racing section, which was known as the first division, contained six entries to equal the number of starting cars in the 1895 event.

In division No. 2, which followed, were automobiles illustrating the various stages of development that have preceded the present day automobile.

Spotted in the center of the parade and intended to mark the separation of old and new automobiles rode an amphibious weasel from World War II. It was manned by members of the United States marine corps and served as a punctuation mark for the end of an old era. Behind the weasel came different makes of 1946 models now rolling off the assembly lines in plants not strikebound.

All But Two on Time

Altho only two cars in the race of 50 years ago reached Evanston, in yesterday's reënactment all but two of the ancient models arrived without mishap and on time at 11:30 a. m. in front of the Technological Institute of Northwestern university, where a box lunch was served to the half frozen drivers.

The cars arrived back at their starting point in Chicago at 4:30 p. m.

The first car in the racing section to reach the Evanston halfway mark was driven by Miss Barbara Lohr, 18, daughter of Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, president of the museum, who conceived and directed the revival of the race.

To win first place in the contest which her father said was not a race, Miss Lohr drove a Sears Roebuck 1909 model.

Slight Hills Too Much for Two

The only ancient models failing to reach Evanston also were in the racing section. One was a Duryea of 1896 vintage and the immediate successor of the same kind of car which won the 1895 race. The other relic which failed to negotiate the slight hills along the boulevard course was a Roberts electric, also of 1896 ancestry, built experimentally in Oak Park. The Roberts had two motors mounted just forward of the rear axle.

J. Frank Duryea, now 76, who won first place in the 1895 race, started out in yesterday's contest driving an 1896 model bearing his name. He brought the car here from Madison, Conn. Charles B. King of Larchmont, N. Y., who said his age was a secret and who won second place in the 1895 event, rode beside Duryea until their car got out of Jackson park.

But the 16 above temperature and biting winds made the two elderly champions of 50 years ago turn over the car to other drivers a short time after the vehicle had started on its way.

Not on Friendly Terms

Following his uncle in a Duryea of an entirely different design was M. J. Duryea, 50, of Springfield, Mass. The younger Duryea said that he and his uncle were not on friendly terms. He accused his uncle of attempting to claim credit for invention of the first automobile, which the younger Duryea said has been historically credited to his own father, Charles E. Duryea, who died in 1930.

The uncle said history will prove that he and not his brother invented the first automobile used in this country.

LABORITES HAIL EDEN SPEECH ON WORLD AFFAIRS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Nov. 22—Former Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's speech during the house of commons debate on foreign affairs aroused surprise and lively discussion among members of parliament tonight.

Parliamentary observers said the Conservatives showed little enthusiasm for Eden's approach to the problems confronting the allied nations, but the speech delighted the Laborites and again highlighted the confusion existing at present in British politics.

A feature of the present make-up of commons is that the Laborite foreign minister, Ernest Bevin, often is cheered by the Conservatives for outspoken comments on Russia while Eden earns the applause of the Laborites for his international outlook. One Laborite asked Eden if he were making a party speech. The ex-foreign minister admitted he was not speaking for the Conservative party but did not say he was talking only for himself.

Labor and Liberal sources described Eden's talk as one of the best of his career and suggested it was the kind of speech which should be made by a government spokesman. By contrast Attlee's report on his discussions with President Truman was described as disappointing to parliament and the nation.

RIBBENTROP SEEKS FIVE BRITISH PEERS AS HIS WITNESSES

NUERNBERG, Germany, Nov. 22 (AP)—Dr. Fritz Sauter, defense counsel for Joachim von Ribbentrop, has formally requested the international military tribunal to subpena five members of Britain's house of lords as witnesses in his trial.

Sauter said today that Ribbentrop wanted Londonderry, Beaverbrook, Derby, Vansittart and Kemsley to appear. "My client," he said, "wishes to prove he always wanted a treaty of friendship with England. He never participated in any measures looking to war with Britain."

Sauter said Ribbentrop also asked for subpena of a "General Wood," of the United States, whose first name he said he did not know.

RECOMMENDS 3 MAIN ENTRANCES TO NEW AIRPORT

Kingery Tells Hopes for Douglas Landing Site

BY ROBERT HOWARD

Two and probably three main automobile entrances should be provided for the 5,235 acre airport to be built northwest of Chicago, it was recommended yesterday by Robert Kingery, general manager of the Chicago Regional Planning association. Kingery is secretary of the airport selection board, appointed by Mayor Kelly, which picked the Douglas airport site near Park Ridge, for early development as Chicago's future air terminal.

"The main entrance will be from the intersection of Higgins and La Grange [Mannheim] rds., at the northeast corner of the field," said Kingery. "The northwest superhighway will be routed along Higgins rd. and all traffic from the downtown district and the north side will use that expressway.

"Motorists also must be able to reach the airport from the south, so another driveway must be provided somewhere along Irving Park rd., possibly at the La Grange rd. intersection.

Accessible from All Sides

"Lawrence av., a main thorofare in that area, could well be the third gateway. Under such an arragement, the airport would be easily accessible from any part of Chicago and from the suburban districts."

Inside the airport, roads will be routed thru the layout of runways to the vicinity of the terminal area in the center of the grounds. There they will be tunneled under the loading aprons into the oval space where parking lots, ticket offices, and loading gates will be located.

Highway officials have not attempted to lay out the driveways, pending a decision by aeronautical engineers on the exact placing of the runways.

Selection Board Meets Today

Public Works Commissioner Hewitt, who has charge of designing the airport, said condemnation of right of way would not start until the city obtains title to the site of the government owned Douglas airport.

The selection board will meet today to consider a final report drafted by Kingery.

Action will be taken promptly to complete the zoning of the area for airport purposes, said Kingery, a member of the county zoning board. Most of the ground already is zoned for airport purposes, but additional action will be necessary to prevent construction of buildings or smokestacks that could be classed later as obstacles.

Plans for Douglas Airport

EARLY BEGINNING ON EXPRESSWAY TO DETROIT SEEN

Enthusiasm Is High in Indiana, Michigan

Early work on the proposed expressway from Chicago to Detroit was predicted yesterday by Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club. He said enthusiasm for the high speed highway, which would incorporate the latest safety features, is high in the Indiana and Michigan areas it would cross. The Chicago Motor club and the Automobile Club of Michigan are co-sponsors of the project.

As planned, the highway would eliminate grade crossings at railroads and intersecting highways or protect them with signals. A parkway would divide opposing streams of traffic. Much of the road would be built on a 300 foot right of way, and the super-highway would reduce both driving time and accidents.

Second Most-Needed Road

"The United States public roads administration recognizes this road as the second most needed highway in America today," Hayes said. "The Boston Post road between Washington and Boston is viewed as the No. 1 traffic artery. Five hundred million dollars a year of federal funds, to be matched by a like amount from the states, will be used in building the system of national interstate highways of which the Chicago-Detroit highway is an important unit."

Specific routing has been left to local and state officials. In Cook county, suggestions have been made for utilizing the outer drive in Jackson park, then following Stony Island av. and Doty av. to the south end of Lake Calumet. There it would connect with the Calumet and Tri-state expressway projects for which right of way has been bought by the Cook county highway department.

Route North of No. 6 Highway

Hayes said that the general line in Indiana will follow the Tri-state highway across Lake county north of the present No. 6 highway and the Little Calumet river, joining No. 20 a few miles east of the Lake-Porter county line.

Sentiment in Indiana is for carrying the road to a point east of Elkhart and then north and east to connect with Michigan cities on a direct route to Detroit.

MONOXIDE GASES OVERCOME 14 IN HAMMOND CAFE

Fourteen persons were overcome by carbon monoxide fumes late Wednesday night in Fred Vogel's restaurant, 1250 Indianapolis blvd., Hammond. The restaurant is about 200 feet from the Phil Smidt restaurant, where three persons were killed and 16 injured by a gas explosion last Jan. 29.

Victims of the fumes in Vogel's establishment started fainting in the bar, Hammond police reported. Soon 21 patrons of the place were ill. Fourteen who became unconscious were revived by an inhalator squad and taken to St. Margaret's hospital, Hammond. All were released yesterday except Mrs. Doris Bachi, 28, of 1708 Parkview av., Hammond, a waitress in the restaurant.

Police were unable to determine the cause of the fumes, but said they suspected the heating equipment.

PLANE CRASHES; FARMER DRAGS PILOT FROM FIRE

Robert Ryberg, 31, of 154 Straw av., Bellevue, Pa., was seriously injured yesterday when his plane, a Culver-Cadet, which he was flying home, plunged to the ground near the Stinson air field at East av. and route No. 66, in McCook. Ryberg, who is a pilot for a commercial air line, was taken to the MacNeal Memorial hospital in Berwyn, suffering from a skull fracture.

The pilot was saved from burning to death by I. W. Sanburn, a farmer, who dragged him away from the burning plane, which caught fire after it struck the ground. The plane struck on the land of Sanburn, within 100 feet of him.

Deputies Joseph Cizek and Frank Jeno of the county highway police, who were nearby, said that the plane appeared out of control when it was about 150 feet in the air, just after taking off from the air field. The plane plummeted earthward, struck a tree, and caromed off a shed on Sanburn's property. Sanburn had removed the pilot by the time the deputies reached the scene.

LONDON, Nov. 22 .[Reuters]—Frenchmen heard the news of the death of Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch Jr. with deep regret, a commentator on the Paris radio said tonight.

ALLMAN SETS UP TWO NIGHT JOBS FOR 53 CAPTAINS

Will Take Turns in New Positions

Each of Chicago's 53 district police captains will take turns in filling two night time jobs which were created yesterday thru an order of Commissioner Allman. The assignments are in the office of Capt. John Prendergast, chief of the uniformed forces, and will be made in an effort to assure quick supervision at the scene of important police work and also to provide training.

One emergency captain will be on duty from 4 p. m. to midnight and the other will relieve him and remain until 8 a. m. They will be in uniform and will have their chauffeurs.

In a companion order, the commissioner ordered the captains to turn out at any hour of the night when a crime or disaster requires their supervision. Heretofore captains have been accustomed to an eight hour day and the lack of direction at serious crimes occuring at other hours, especially at night, was one criticism expressed in a recent study of the force made by THE TRIBUNE.

When a crime serious enough to require supervision is reported the captain of the district will be awakened by the desk sergeant. He will be expected to go at once to the scene and relieve the captain from headquarters.

The new arrangement of two special nighttime captains will be effective next Monday. Commissioner Allman did not announce the first assignments yesterday. He said each captain would serve a week or two. While he is away from his district a lieutenant will be made acting captain.

E BOND SALES HIT $28,957,783, 31.5% OF QUOTA

Sales of E bonds in Chicago and Cook county since the Victory loan drive began Oct. 29 total $28,957,783, or 31.5 per cent of the quota for the area, George F. Spaulding, chairman of the drive, reported yesterday.

Individual sales other than E bonds have reached $76,416,102, or 77.4 per cent of the quota. Total individual bond sales have reached 55.3 per cent of the $190,552,000 quota, Spaulding said. Sales of E bonds thruout the state are at 31.1 per cent of the quota.

Once Welcome Craft Now Seen as Competitors

Express Rates Cut

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22 (AP) —Domestic air lines, thru the Air Transport association, announced tonight a 13 per cent drop in express rates effective Jan. 1. The present basic charge of 70 cents per ton mile will be cut to 61.2-5 cents and the coast to coast rate from 84 to 73 cents a pound. They will charge about 3 instead of 3½ cents to carry a pound of air express 100 miles. A minimum charge of $1 for each shipment will continue.

BY FRANK STURDY
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22—A few weeks ago, a four engine American transport plane flew from New York to Great Britain, completing the first commercial passenger flight of an air line newly authorized to fly the North Atlantic.

The plane carried 12 passengers, bound for London. They left the plane at Hurn airport, on the south coast of England, 118 miles from the center of London. They completed their journey by train, a trip of about three hours. The one way fare for each passenger was $572.

The transport plane was the same type that had carried as many as 28 passengers over the same route during the war. It was flown by pilots of the same company, which is proud of its record of more than 10,000 trans-Atlantic crossings for the army air transport command without wetting a plane or a passenger, all of whom were soldiers, sailors, or civilians traveling on war business with high priorities. "The civilians paid no more than they are now paying the air lines for the same trip. If their destination was London, they left the ATC planes at an airport near the city, usually Bovingdon, an hour's drive from the town.

Held Back by Old Rules

This striking contrast gives a reasonably adequate idea of the remarkable effect the end of the war has had on world flying. Fare paying passengers ride under rules established by the civil aeronautics administration. The air lines operate under regulations established by negotiations between the United States and foreign governments. Neither set of rules has caught up with the air lines' current needs.

The CAA rules, now preventing the air lines from carrying as many civilian passengers in the converted Douglas C-54 as they carried for the air transport command, are being revised. Modifications now being made in the aircraft will permit them, before winter is over it is hoped, to carry as many as 34 passengers on each trans-Atlantic flight.

Foreign Attitude Changes

As for international air rights, the future is by no means as clear. The moment the war ended, commercial interests dominated countries that had given the United States military air bases and flying rights when self-preservation was the chief concern of these countries. Nations which were happy to see American army planes bringing soldiers and supplies are now both slow and choosey in negotiating commercial air agreements.

The American companies are landing passengers at Hurn not because they want to, but because they cannot get clearance to land at an airport near London. The British Overseas Airways comporation operates a Boeing flying boat to England from Baltimore. BOAC has no trans-Atlantic land planes as yet, and must discharge its passengers in the flying boat terminal at the Poole landing basin. Poole is near Hurn, which the British government has designated as the terminal point for American planes. The American advantage from its land planes, therefore, is lost, and the competitive position kept in balance insofar as terminal proximity to London is concerned.

Army Held Responsible

Bovingdon is used by the United States army air forces. The British place responsibility on the American army for keeping the American transports away from Bovingdon, but the transport companies believe the army would readily make room for their few flights weekly were it not for fear of antagonizing the British.

Not one of the three United States air lines authorized to fly the north Atlantic routes — the world's most important—is allowed to carry passengers the length of the lines allotted them by the civil aeronautics board. The principal stumbling blocks are Russia, France, Great Britain, and countries under British influence, and France. They have raised barriers to flying as effective as road blocks to highway traffic.

Russia, the great enigma, is entirely closed to American air traffic. On paper, Leningrad and Moscow are terminal points on American Airlines' overseas route thru northern Europe, but no American planes may land there. We have no air agreements with Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Austria, Hungary, or Romania in the Russian zone of influence. These countries are an important segment of Pan American World Airways route thru middle Europe to India.

Can't Land at Paris

The only agreement with France is pre-war and limits flights to Marseilles, on Pan American's route. Trans-World Airways, the overseas division of Transcontinental and Western Air, does not yet have the right to fly into Paris, the most important point on TWA's route.

Let's examine the reasons preventing air travelers from going wherever they wish, from taking advantage of the much vaunted ability of the airplane to compress distances by flying over instead of going around mountains, rivers, even continents.

Underlying everything is the fact that foreign countries think of the airplane in military terms, not, as we do, primarily as a means of travel for pleasure and business. They are far from freed from Europe's ancient border jealousies, altho there has been some relaxation of pre-war flying prohibitions.

Agree Not to Shoot

Many countries have agreed to the "two freedoms" formula written at the international air conference in Chicago in 1944. These basic rights, simple as they are, represent an advance over the pre-war situation. They guarantee foreign planes the right to fly over the territory of signatory countries, and to land for refueling and other plane servicing purposes.

This halting step in the direction of full freedom of the air means simply that countries accepting the principle have relinquished their cherished right to shoot down foreign aircraft without inquiring whether they might be innocent travelers.

Grant Pickup Rights

Number 3 in the list of five freedoms outlined at the Chicago conference gives the planes of one country the right to fly passengers from its own to another country, and land them; number 4 accords the right to pick up passengers in the second country, and fly them to the plane's home country.

This limited arrangement has made little or no progress because the question of competition immediately arose. For instance, between the United States and Great Britain, how was the traffic to be divided? If there were no limitations on the number of flights between the two countries and the American companies offered better service at the same or lower fares, the British lines would starve while all the passengers bought tickets on United States planes.

A Catch in any Increase

At this stage, the British and countries with like views were willing to allow increases in flights based on growing traffic volume, but only to the extent of the third and fourth formulas. Thus, an American company flying to London, when its traffic density became great enough, might add more flights between a United States point and London, but could not pick up passengers in London for cities beyond.

Suggestions of this sort were not acceptable to the United States, whose air transport companies were, and with one exception still are, in favor of the famous fifth freedom—complete freedom of competition. Countries accepting the fifth formula agree to permit foreign planes to pick up passengers for destinations in a third country.

There is so much confusion over the meaning of the five freedoms that an illustration of their application to an American air line may be helpful. An American plane passing over Newfoundland en route to Europe is exercising, merely by its passage, the first freedom; landing for refueling in Iceland, it uses the first and second; arriving in London, it must also have the third if it is to discharge passengers, and the fourth if it is to pick up passengers for return to the United States.

Must Fly Half Empty

The route is long, however, and passes thru many countries. The plane is not to turn back to Chicago or New York, but is to proceed to Paris, Berlin, and Moscow. There lies the importance of the fifth freedom. If half the passengers get out at London, more leave at Paris, and still more at Berlin, the plane will fly the last stages with many empty seats, and may easily arrive at Moscow with only one or two passengers. To avoid such uneconomic operation, the air lines want to be able to fill seats vacated at London with English passengers for Paris, take on in Paris passengers for Berlin or Moscow.

Foreign countries with air line systems of their own fear their people will desert them for the fast, luxurious, American transports. Will a resident of Prague, planning to go to Vienna or Budapest, they say, not prefer an American four engine transport, if his alternative is a smaller plane of the Czechoslovakian air line?

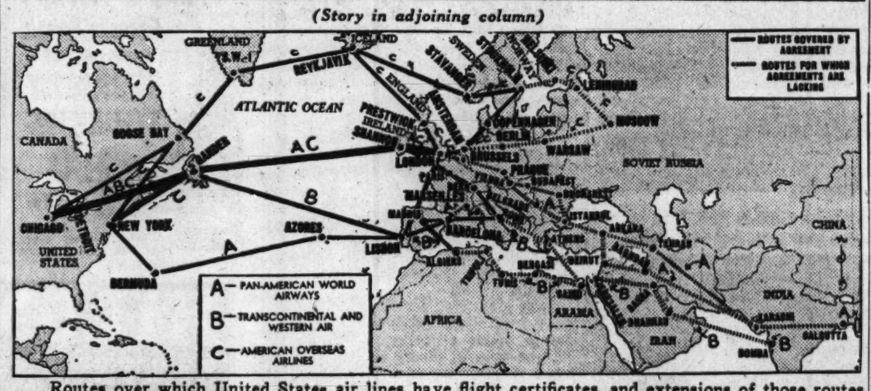
Schedules May Go Awry

The state department argues in landing rights negotiations that flights of American international transports not only will be few, but that they will be keyed to the convenience of travelers at the ends of routes thousands of miles long. To get aboard, the Prague traveler may have to get up in the small hours of the morning.

Further, American trans-Atlantic planes will be subject to weather and other delays over its long flight, and by the time it reaches Prague, may be far off schedule. The Czech line, on the other hand, will be able to offer more frequent flights, at hours calculated to suit the convenience of local travelers, and because of its shorter run, will be much more likely to achieve its schedule.

Lack of Agreements Holds Up Air Line Expansion

(Story in adjoining column)



Routes over which United States air lines have flight certificates, and extensions of those routes across Europe, for which no certificates have been issued because there are no international agreements to cover them. Not all the route sections for which certificates have been issued (solid black) are now being flown.

The points at which United States planes land in Britain are more than 100 miles from London.

KELLY WAVES, SO DOES CHURCHILL IN PARLIAMENT

BY WARD WALKER
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Nov. 22—Edward J. Kelly, Chicago's globe trotting mayor, visited parliament today and heard Anthony Eden address the house of commons, waved to former Prime Minister Churchill, and chatted with Harold Laski, voluble spokesman without portfolio of the Labor party.

Laski assured Kelly that if the united nations capital went to America, he would favor Chicago but said he hoped it would go to Vienna. "Chicago is the ideal location in America," Laski said. "Her central location mixed with her population, the beautiful lake front, and the distance from Washington, D. C., are in her favor. New York? I don't consider New York a part of America."

Kelly Waves to Churchill

Churchill, who met Kelly in Washington, D. C., during the war, spotted the mayor in the gallery and waved. Kelly waved back with the comment to friends: "He's a grand old lion."

The mayor said he was impressed with the hubbub and confusion and particularly the booing during debates. Of Eden he said: "Dapper—lots of personality."

Because of the continuing fog Kelly merely conferred on the housing situation here with Alderman C. W. Key, a member of parliament and the housing authority. He will tour the slums and damaged areas tomorrow. Tonight he made an appearance at the American and British Commonwealth association Thanksgiving party.

Calls Kelly Pro-British

The Daily Mail quoted the mayor as saying: "Hell, no, I have enough on my plate without that," when asked if he proposed helping the 52,000 English brides of GIs get to America. The Mail's reporter was impressed with Kelly's white shirt and rimless glasses. He said the mayor "likes to be questioned about Chicago but makes no secret of the fact that he is violently pro-British."

Chicagolanders Celebrate

Chicagolanders here celebrated Thanksgiving in traditional style even to roast turkey dinners. The observance was highlighted by impressive services in historic Westminster Abbey.

Illinois' Lt. Gov. Hugh Cross gave a dinner party at the Savoy hotel for a Chicago group. His guests included most of the passengers who flew here with him on the American Overseas airlines plane which inaugurated direct Chicago to London air service.

Along with 3,000 service men and other prominent Americans, Cross attended services in the abbey, where American Ambassador John G. Winant read the Presidential Thanksgiving proclamation in front of the altar which was draped with an American flag.

JET BUZZ BOMB TO BE USED FROM LSTs DEVELOPED

Twin Fuselage Fighter Plane Announced

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 22 (AP)—Development of a jet-propelled buzz bomb which could be used aboard landing craft and of a twin-fuselage military fighter with a range of 2,500 miles was announced today by two aircraft firms.

Northrop Aircraft described its buzz bomb as a single jet creation with a 30 foot wingspread, much like a small fighter in appearance, and revealed it has been making such bombs for the army since the summer of 1944.

Designated the JB-1A, it succeeds a twin-jet machine which Northrop built first for the army, patterned after its flying wing. The company's announcement said it had no information as to how or where the army used the bomb. It added:

Improvements to the launching platform cut the length of the tracks to 50 feet, capable of installation on an LST. The backbone of each launching sled is a 14 foot aluminum tube with the bomb resting on cradles within the tube. It is catapulted into the air at 220 miles an hour with the aid of four rockets.

Speed Not Disclosed

What speed it reaches after the jet engine takes over was not disclosed nor was the number of bombs manufactured, altho the company said delivery of 1000 sleds had been completed. The craft's weight is 7,000 pounds, including explosive charges of 3,700 pounds.

In contrast to the earlier twin-jet craft, which carried its bombs on either side of the engine, the JB-1A's explosives are in magnesium cast housings within the wing on either side of the fuselage.

Pilot on Each Side

North American Aviation made public details of its P-82 twin Mustang—latest in the series of famed Mustang fighters which saw action on many war fronts. The company said the P-82 will replace the P-51H on production lines.

The new craft houses a pilot in each fuselage, and, North American's statement says, culminates five years of research. It has a 2,500 mile combat range, carrying full armament. Two 2,200 horse power, 12 cylinder engines give it speeds in excess of 475 miles per hour, the company added, with efficient operation up to 45,000 feet.

Armament includes six .50 caliber machine guns, 25 rockets—which the company asserted provide the fire power of a light cruiser broadside—and four 1,000 pound bombs. By use of adapters, however, two of the bomb racks can carry 2,000 pounders.

FRIENDS CONVOY HEAD OF 'BLACK DRAGON' TO JAIL

TOKYO, Nov. 22 (AP)—Baron Gen. Sadao Araki, so-called "high priest of the military cult," and Yoshihisa Kuzuu, head of the Black Dragon secret society, surrendered at Sugamo prison today.

Araki said "the trial will be the best opportunity for clearing the Japanese position, which has been misunderstood by the world."

He and Kuzuu were two of the 11 Japanese war leaders ordered arrested earlier this week by Gen. MacArthur. A third, Baron Gen. Shigeru Honjo, committed hara-kiri to escape arrest.

Araki, a striking figure with long white mustaches, arrived at the gloomy prison carrying a bedding roll and several pieces of luggage. Kuzuu was accompanied by a large group of friends in a four auto convoy.

3 ON ATOM RAIDS TELL OF A GREAT MARVEL—HOME!

No Thrill Like It, Declare Chicagoan and Pals

Three flying heroes who helped lift the curtain on the heralded era of atomic power came back from the bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki yesterday proclaiming that scientific marvels are all right, but fade into insignificance alongside such a thrilling thing as home.

Sgt. Raymond Gallagher, 23, of 5757 S. Mozart st., and his buddies, Sgt. Abe Spitzer, 33, of New York,

Stop Over With Friends

Because Spitzer and Buckley could not reach their homes for Thanksgiving, Gallagher persuaded them to stop over with him. Their train arrived at 11:30 a. m. Barely an hour later, the three were seated at table in the Gallagher home, the center of a family circle of 15, knives and forks at "ready," and preparing to advance on a golden brown bird that hadn't been prepared to offer resistance.

An hour later Raymond got up from his chair, gave his sister, Christine, the hug which he felt was her due as cook, and announced that the biggest thrill since he left home three years ago had nothing to do with nuclear power; it was being back home.

All on Plane Win Award

Sergeants Gallagher, Spitzer, and Buckley were in the crew of the B-29 Great Artiste, one of the escorting Super Fortresses in the atomic bombing of Hiroshimo, and the plane from which fell the A-bomb that wrecked Nagasaki.

Gallagher was a gunner, Spitzer a radio operator, and Buckley a radar operator. There were nine airmen in their plane's crew. All were awarded distinguished flying crosses.

U. S. PROSECUTOR FAILS TO SHAKE YAMASHITA AID

Third Day on Stand Proves Little

BY ROBERT CROMIE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 23 [Friday]—Cross-examination of Lt. Gen. Akira Muto, who was on the stand for the third day, led exactly nowhere in this morning's hearing in the trial of Gen. Yamashita on war crime charges. Muto is chief of staff to the accused "Tiger of Malaya."

Capt. Jack Pace of New York City attempted to trip up the witness with notable lack of success. With a seeming desire to answer whatever questions he could, Muto listened while Lt. Comdr. Samuel Bartlett of Wellesley, Mass., translated Pace's questions into Japanese.

Sometimes the witness' answers were sharp and quick, sometimes he registered surprise—his moon face breaking into a smile, his eyes widening. On other times he leaned his head back, pursed his lips in thought, and answered slowly as tho making an effort to recall. But never did his answer in any way incriminate Gen. Yamashita, no matter how long or how thoroly Pace fished for such a reply.

Had 230,000 Troops

All Pace was able to learn of interest was that in early January there were approximately 230,000 troops in Yamashita's 14th army on Luzon, that Yamashita had issued orders to exterminate armed guerrillas but not women, children or guerrilla sympathizers, and that Muto had no idea how many guerrillas had been killed—but certainly not the 60,000 figure offered by Pace.

Incidental information brought out was that Muto had listened to broadcasts from San Francisco, Cal., saying Japanese commanders have authority to discipline or court martial subordinates, and that roughly 30 to 40 per cent of troops in Luzon had combat training.

Considered Open City

Maj. Gen. R. B. Reynolds, president of the trial commission, asked Muto whether Yamashita ever had declared Manila an open city and if not why not. Muto replied the idea was abandoned because the Japs had so many supplies there which would have had to be removed and also there were both naval and air force troops in Manila not responsible to Yamashita, who would have remained and fought.

Muto said in response to another question by Reynolds that Yamashita had also considered but abandoned the idea of evacuating civilians because of a lack of transport, lack of food, and constant American bombing raids. But Muto said Yamashita did issue orders to his local commanders to permit any one wishing to leave the city to do so.

Col. Hiroshi Hashimoto of the Japanese army testified there were only 1,800 army troops in Manila when Gen. MacArthur's troops entered. He pointed to South Manila, where destruction by Japs was the heaviest, and said most of the 20,000 Jap naval personnel was concentrated there.

HEARSAY BARRED AT WAR CRIME TRIAL OF 7 JAPS

MANILA, Nov. 23 [Friday] (AP)—Trial of seven Japanese officers on charges that they killed two American airmen and five Filipinos at Cebu City last March began today on a startling note—a ruling that hearsay evidence is unacceptable.

The ruling by Brig. Gen. Arthur Trudeau, law member of the military commission, prompted the prosecution to demand a commission vote on it but Trudeau said his opinion was final. Hearsay testimony has figured in the current trial of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita on charges that he condoned atrocities in his Philippines command.

At today's trial of the seven Japanese, varying in rank from colonel to corporal, a Catholic sister said she saw the Japanese tie the hands of the two American victims, Paul J. Mansella and Harold Scott, and march them away. Cebu City is on the Philippines island of Cebu.

U. S. AID HINTS G. M. STRIKE MAY LAST 2 MONTHS

Union Is Preparing for Long Battle

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 22 (AP)—John W. Gibson, special assistant to Labor Secretary Schwellenbach, tonight predicted the strike of more than 200,000 General Motors Corporation workers would be settled by Jan. 15 "and probably before that."

John W. Gibson

Gibson, who was sent here to help end the strike, made his statement when asked about reports that the United Auto Workers [CIO] were preparing for the possibility the strike might last thruout the winter.

"I have a feeling the strike won't last any longer than Jan. 15 and it probably will be settled before then," he asserted.

Gibson, who resigned as president of the Michigan CIO council on Aug. 2 to become Schwellenbach's aid, disclosed he had been in touch with UAW officials during the day.

Brace for Long Fight

He did not indicate if he had contacted General Motors officials during the day.

Meanwhile, as preliminary efforts to mediate the strike began, both the UAW and G. M. indicated they were bracing for the possibility the strike might be a long drawn out affair.

The strike, affecting 70 odd plants of the corporation began yesterday following a breakdown in negotiations on union demands for a 30 per cent general wage rate increase. An industry spokesman predicted the number of idle workers might be doubled or trebled eventually because of other companies' dependence on G. M. for vital auto parts.

Calls Visit a "Feeler."

Gibson, who earlier described his visit here as a "feeler," planned to fly to Washington late tonight or early tomorrow.

The strike scene was quiet on Thanksgiving day today. There was only "token picketing" of struck plants, with a few pickets appearing for short intervals.

At the same time the union prepared to get out its full forces tomorrow. UAW-CIO headquarters in Detroit was closed, but offices of locals stayed open, laying plans for feeding and equipping picket battalions.

Refuse to Pass Picket Lines

Strikers received promises of cooperation from AFL unions and railway brotherhoods, which said they would refuse to go thru picket lines.

At Flint a brotherhood spokesman said one picket would be enough to stop a train from entering a G. M. plant. The AFL building trades council said 1,000 tradesmen would leave their G. M. reconversion jobs.

Edward Thal, secretary of the Detroit Building Trades council, said, "Our members are not going thru the CIO's picket lines unless arrangements are made for them to go thru peaceably.

"If they [the strikers] do not want us in the plants, the work will be there for us when the strike is over," Thal said.

To Mail Pay Checks

"We do not want to see the strikers get beaten," he added, "altho the CIO, I suppose, would not give us much consideration if we were in a strike."

The AFL and CIO in Detroit have had numerous jurisdictional battles in past years and have accused each other of membership "raids" as well as other protested practices.

Still in question was whether General Motors would be able to keep its full salaried force on the job. The corporation has 73,500 salaried employes, including office workers and supervisory employes.

General Motors arranged to mail pay checks to salaried workers unable to reach their offices. Management cautioned them against trying to "force" their way past picket lines.

Strikers said foremen and supervisers would be permitted in G. M. factories only on an agreement with management that they would not do strikers' work.

U. S. Sets Up Control of Berlin Food Prices

LONDON, Nov. 22 [Reuters]—Price control of foodstuffs and other necessities has been introduced in the American occupation zone in Germany, the American press service in Germany reported tonight. Similar measures will be taken by allied authorities in other zones it added. The central price control office will be in Berlin.

CIO'S REUTHER 3D GENERATION UNION LEADER

Walter Reuther, director of the General Motors department of the CIO United Automobile Workers, was nurtured almost from birth on unionism. His father, Valentine Reuther, who styled himself a Christian Socialist, was president of the Ohio Valley Trades and Labor Assembly when 23. His grandfather was an organizer in the socialist minded United Brewery Workers.

Walter was born in Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 1, 1907. In 1922 he left high school after completing two years and began his apprenticeship as a tool and die maker. He was fired later for trying to organize workers against Sunday and holiday work.

In 1927 he began working at the Briggs plant in Detroit, Mich. He finished his high school education at night classes and then studied three years at Wayne university. He had risen to a job of foreman in the Ford plant and his future seemed assured when, in 1932, he was fired and put on the Ford blacklist for trying to organize workers.

Studied Communism

Walter and his brother, Victor, started on a tour of the world that lasted more than two years. They studied the labor movement wherever they went, watching Hitler's Nazis ruin the labor organization of Germany and studying at first hand communism in Russia. Reuther went into Russia sympathetic to communism and says he came out a convinced anti-Communist. That conviction since has made him the leader of the right wing within the CIO organization, he asserts.

Returning to the United States in 1935, Reuther jumped into the forefront of organizing the nation's auto workers. In Detroit he formed the UAW's local 174 and jumped its membership in a year from 78 to 30,000. In 1936 he was elected to the UAW international board.

Reuther took an active part in the first major strike of the industry in the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel company plant, where a 10 day sitdown strike won the workers a substantial pay increase. He was one of the Ford organizing committee that was beaten by Ford service men at the Ford Rouge plant and emerged one of labor's heroes. In 1937 he helped negotiate the agreement with General Motors and since has been in charge of that department of the UAW.

"Famed" Plane Plan

The red haired, squat, barrel chested labor leader owes his greatest national fame to the "Reuther plan," which he offered in 1940. It consisted of a proposal to turn the entire automobile industry into one vast assembly line in order to turn out 500 airplanes a day. The plan was frowned upon by auto company officials and was never given more than glancing attention by production leaders, who had the task of preparing American industry for war output.

His wife, the former May Wolf, whom he married in March, 1936, is a member of his staff, with which he directs all UAW activities in all General Motors plants.

WARD WON'T TRY TO BLOCK STRIKE BY CIO MONDAY

A spokesman for Montgomery Ward & Co. said yesterday that no move was contemplated to block the strike demonstration called by its unionized employes for next Monday. The company will stand on the letter sent Wednesday by Sewell L. Avery, Ward chairman, to Samuel Wolchok, president of the United Wholesale, Retail, and Department Store Employes' union [CIO].

"No further reply is contemplated," said the company spokesman. "We shall wait and see what takes place."

Officers of the local union could not be reached yesterday. There was no announcement of any change in plans to demonstrate against Ward plants in Chicago and thruout the country for one week starting Monday.

Historic Jap Schooner to Be Red Cross Canteen

TOKYO, Japan, Nov. 22 (AP)—The sailing ship Meiji Maru, once one of the largest schooners in the world, is being converted into a Red Cross canteen. She was commissioned in 1880 and made her last cruise in 1914, then was moored in Tokyo bay as a training ship for merchant seamen. Now on a concrete base in the Sumida river, she will house Red Cross reading rooms, game rooms, dance hall, and snack bar.

CHINESE DRIVE 75 MILES DEEP INTO MANCHURIA

Reds May Be Forced to Quit Hulutao

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 22 (AP)—Chinese Nationalist troops today outflanked the port of Hulutao—military prize of southern Manchuria—with a 15 mile sweep that also menaced the communist fortified city of Chinhsien, press dispatches reported.

Plunging 75 miles deep into Manchuria, the Nationalist soldiers of Gen. Tu Li-ming made the Chinese Communist position in Hulutao untenable and it was possible the latter might flee to avoid being pinned against the coast.

Near Railway Town

Chungking press reports said Nationalist forces were near the railway town of Lienshan, whose fall would cut off by rail any escape from Hulutao, less than eight miles east of Lienshan.

Thirty miles to the north lies Chinhsien, flanked by frowning hills and a logical place for a Communist stand if they intend to attempt to check the so far unchallenged drive toward Mukden.

[Associated Press Correspondent Olen Clements in a dispatch from Tientsin said reports reaching there indicated the Communists were massing troops in Mukden, a city of industries of great strategic value. Clements said the Communists were expected to offer stiff resistance at Chinhsien. A Communist spokesman in Chungking also has said the first "big battle for Manchuria" would be fought there.]

Overrun Hingcheng

In their northward thrust, Tu's troops overran Hingcheng on the Peiping-Mukden railroad and pushed on north toward Lienshan without stopping. Lienshan is 150 miles southwest of Mukden.

The Communists were reported to have destroyed sections of the railroad south of Chinhsien in an attempt to slow the advance.

Other press reports said fighting had flared up once more west of the Manchurian operations in the inner Mongolian province of Suiyan.

An official dispatch quoted Communist deserters as reporting that the famous Communist general, Hsaio Keh, was killed in action in Inner Mongolia, Nov. 13.

CHARGE NATIVES BURN INDO-CHINA IN FRENCH PATH

Saigon, Indo-China, Nov. 22—(AP)—Jean Henri Cedile, French commissioner for Cochin-China, southernmost Indo-China colony, today said organized Annamese were intensifying a campaign of earth scorching and burning of French buildings at the approach of French reoccupation troops.

Five or six junks, flying the Viet Minh [Nationalist party] or Chinese flags, were sunk by a French gunboat when they ignored its challenges and raced inshore, he said.

Cedile said the French have made concessions to allow greater participation by the Annamese in civil affairs and that reoccupied Mytho had 70 natives among the the civil servants up to last week. Some Annamese also have been made provincial prefects in Cochin-China, taking over offices formerly held by Frenchmen.

JAPANESE ASK PRESS LEAGUE AS BAR TO WAR

TOKYO, Japan, Nov. 22 (AP)—Shingoro Takaishi, chairman of the Newspaper League of Japan, today urged establishment of an international press league as the most effective way to prevent wars.

In a statement prepared at the request of Wilbur Forrest, chairman of the American Society of Newspaper Editors' committee on postwar press freedom, Takaishi asserted "where there is no freedom of news and press, democracy can never be a reality."

Speaking of Japanese newspapers, which now enjoy freedom of the press as the result of an order by Gen. MacArthur, he said papers which once were forced to support the war "are now all out to consolidate the foundation for the country's rehabilitation."

RUSSIA AND IRAN HOLD PARLEY ON BORDER UNREST

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 22 (AP)—Iranian diplomatic and military men were reported today to be seeking thru conferences to break an impasse with Russian occupation forces concerning unrest in the Iranian border province of Azerbaijan.

Without amplification, a military spokesman of Iran declared last night that approximately 6,000 soviet troops had been moved toward Karaj, 25 miles northwest of Tehran and on the 80 mile highway to Russian winter quarters at Kazvin.

It was near Kazvin that Red army men Tuesday halted four battalions of Iranian troops en route to reinforce government garrisons in Aberbaijan.

YANKS IN INDIA WARNED THERE'S PLENTY OF WORK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 22—Maj. Gen. Thomas A. Terry, commanding general of United States forces in the India-Burma theater, warned his command yesterday that there is still a big job ahead before the return to America of all remaining troops here.

He said that on V-J day his command was caught with 1,250,000 tons of United States property, not including air force technical supplies, which must be either returned, destroyed or sold as surplus.

Disclosing that a lack of transport is one of the limiting factors for the quick deployment of troops, Terry said the duty of American soldiers here is to remain and see that the best prices are obtained for surplus property. Calcutta will be busy shipping army property to the United States until March, he said.

In Washington and thruout the world, Chicago Tribune correspondents are alert to report every significant event. Experienced in getting the facts, they cover the news first hand and report it from the American viewpoint.

PHONE PARLEY FAILS; NATIONAL UNION WILL ACT

Compromise Offer of Operators Rejected

to place calls to hospitals, as well as business and family households, proved futile for the most part.

Only four large communities, Evanston, Aurora, Joliet, and Gary, which have dial telephone systems, were not affected by the strike. Manual operations, or phones without dial systems, within the remaining suburbs and inter-community calls were placed on an emergency basis.

Delay on Emergency Call

William H. Dean, of Green Bay road, Waukegan, a painting contractor, reported he spent 20 minutes getting a telephone operator yesterday when his daughter, Alice, 12, became ill and was rushed to St. Therese hospital. Dean said the automatic magnetic tape, which records the message "we are taking emergency calls only," played at least 75 times before he obtained an operator to call the family doctor.

Mrs. Edward Dunigan, 140 S. Euclid av., Oak Park, whose husband underwent an operation at Michael Reese hospital Wednesday said she had been unable to call for daily reports on his condition, or to notify her son, Edward, with the navy in Seattle, or the remainder of her family at Long Beach, Cal.

Report Business Losses

A taxi driver and a florist in Wilmette complained that the telephone strike was costing them an average 30 per cent loss in business. Ladd Stachel, owner of a greenhouse at 1821 Central av., said he was losing 35 per cent of his business daily because no telephone calls could be placed from outlying communities. He said other florists had observed a 50 per cent reduction in their calls.

John Kristianson, 627 11th st., a cab driver, who estimated his loss at 25 per cent, said, however, that he thought the "girls were entitled to a raise and besides, it's sort of nice at home, not to be bothered with the phone."

Others Inconvenienced

In Gary, Mrs. A. F. Watkins, 4615 Washington st., reported her mother, who was en route to visit her from Hinsdale, was stranded for three hours in a South Shore train station when the train broke down. She was unable to call because of the strike.

Mrs. Arthur Heal, 452 Ash st., Waukegan, almost missed having a sailor at her Thanksgiving dinner table to substitute for her son Thomas, 20, who was killed at Leyte. She made arrangements several weeks ago with the Great Lakes Naval Training center to send an invalided sailor to her home, but was only able to contact the base for final arrangements by walking one-half mile to a neighbor's home, where a friend drove her to Great Lakes on Monday and again yesterday.

CIO CLOTHING WORKERS ASK $1 A DAY PAY HIKE

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 22 (AP)—The executive board of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America [CIO] announced today it would seek a wage increase of $1 a day, an old age retirement fund, and six paid holidays each year for its 150,000 clothing workers thruout the country.

Sidney Hillman, union president, said the union's negotiating committee would confer with Clothing Manufacturers' association representatives here Saturday.

Jacob S. Potossky, secretary-treasurer of the Clothing Workers union, said negotiations also were under way for wage boosts and other benefits for 75,000 cotton garment workers in 32 states.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

Nov. 23—First Baldwin Engine

ON NOV. 23, 1832, a group of men interested in the latest technological developments loitered about the Philadelphia station of the Philadelphia, Germantown, and Norristown railroad. Strange things were afoot.

What looked like an elongated beer barrel mounted on wheels was hissing and steaming as the fire kindled beneath it leaped and crackled. At one end of the barrel was a tall chimney; at the other, a small cart was attached.

After 20 minutes of preparation, the mysterious machine stirred into action. It rolled out of the station in what a contemporary account described as "beautiful style."

However, the strange vehicle was out of sight of the spectators in the station before it really showed its capability. Minute by minute, as it rattled along the primitive track between Philadelphia and Germantown, it gathered momentum. Finally, it was doing 28 miles per hour.

This was the initial public trial of the first locomotive to be used in Pennsylvania and the first ever built by Matthias William Baldwin. Baldwin, an ex-jeweler and a mechanical expert who already had constructed a small stationary steam engine to furnish power for the manufacturing establishment that he operated, built this locomotive largely by hand in six months. He later founded the great Baldwin Locomotive works.

Successful trial of the locomotive did not mean the end of horses on the Germantown road. An early advertisment of the company announced that the locomotive would run in fair weather, but that on rainy days "horses will be attached."

GREEN PROMISES STATE WILL HELP VETS GET HOMES

State aid in finding homes for war veterans was promised yesterday by Gov. Green in an announcement that he had authorized spending $500,000 to set up portables for GI students at the University of Illinois and had started a study of means to cooperate with communities thruout the state.

William K. Divers

"The problem of adequate housing for veterans, not only at the university but in every Illinois community, remains the most pressing problem confronting local and state governments in Illinois," he said. "The Illinois housing board and other divisions of state government are studying every phase of the question to determine how the state may best cooperate."

275 Dwellings Obtained

The university has obtained 275 unused knockdown houses from the government. They are of one and two room sizes and will provide quarters for 400 GI students and their wives, the governor estimated. They are to be ready at opening of the second semester in February.

Chicago's prospects for a supply of temporary dwellings were brightened yesterday. Prof. Louis Wirth, University of Chicago sociologist, who is chairman of the recently formed committee on the Chicago housing crisis, said that William K. Divers, regional representative of the national housing administration, had found 500 portable houses at the Seneca shipyards and had fair assurance of getting 2,500 trailers. These are in addition to 1,500 portables allotted by the government to Mayor Kelly and 200 promised the University of Chicago.

Prof. Wirth said his committee had discussed placing the portables and trailers in colonies in the parks and along the lake shore to remind the citizens of a permanent housing shortage so serious that makeshift measures were necessary to take care of its war veterans.

RUG AND CASH STOLEN

Mrs. Margaret Lenart, 4501 S. Mozart st., reported to police yesterday that her purse containing $37, a platinum diamond wedding ring, and papers was snatched at 47th st. and California av. by two boys.

M. P.'s ASK MORE MEN TO CONTROL PARIS NIGHT LIFE

Raid the Cafes to Find A.W.O.L. Yanks

BY JOHN THOMPSON
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Nov. 22 — Gay Paree, wicked Paree, lost a lot of its reputation last night in a tour of Parisian trouble spots made by Lt. Col. James F. Hughes of Watertown, Mass., boss of the military police. But if the tour did not live up to all expectations, it had its moments.

For example, the big GI night club Coliseum, where a soldier can buy champagne for 360 francs [$7.20] a bottle or cognac at 25 francs [50 cents] a shot. When we walked in the boys were carrying out two girls who had had too much to drink.

French women stood near-by, urging soldiers to take them inside.

M. P.'s Plead for Help

Jiving couples packed the dance floor, sat at tables or "necked" unashamedly. Some French soldiers, sailors, and marines were also evident. And two M. P.s charged with controling fights among the boisterous crowd pleaded with Hughes for more help.

"We need six men here," they said. "And ask the French police to look over these women. We've gotten rid of most of the older ones by raids, but we've got a new crop of young ones who are hard to handle. Many pay French soldiers 50 francs [$1] merely to meet them here."

Hughes sympathized, but his troubles were many. Most high point M. P.s have been replaced by combat men without police training. Where sprawling Paris was once controled by five battalions, Hughes now has only one for the entire city.

"Gypsy's" Is Raided

At one booking station, an AWOL Negro soldier named McGhee tried unsuccessfully to explain to a patient lieutenant why he was in Paris without a pass.

Soldiers carrying souvenir pistols, mostly German, are one of the army's biggest problems.

At 1 a. m. we arrived at "Gypsy's," a nightclub frequented by Negro soldiers. A raiding party of white and Negro M. P.s, French gendarmes, and C. I. D. men was seeking AWOL soldiers, phony passes, and narcotics. Police have been vainly seeking a ring selling military passes.

The band halted the music. M. P.s guarded all doors and searched the basement. Startled girls and French patrons became deadpan. Soldiers lined up and turned out their pockets, but only one doubtful lieutenant rode back in the pickup wagon.

One officer said his men had just come from raiding a shady hotel. It was empty, but in one room he found eight signal corps trunks filled with army clothing and rations. His men were going to raid the hotel again this morning, hoping to catch the suspects.

Gangster in Uniform

A C. I. D. agent said professional gangsters in uniform, suppressed by manhunts earlier, were now reappearing again and encroaching on amateurs who rob for money to spend when broke.

After a 4 a. m. breakfast of fried eggs and coffee in the M. P. barracks we rode thru the chill air back to Scribe hotel. Except for a few late wanderers, the streets of Gay Paree were deserted. The police radio was silent.

"It was a dull night," said Col. Hughes.

CLEANING MAN BURNS TO DEATH IN AIR SHAFT

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 22 (AP)—Trapped by flaming dust while cleaning an air shaft at Hahnemann hospital, George Hoffman, 30, burned to death today before his charred body plunged 10 floors to the basement, the coroner's office reported.

Detective Edward Meyers said Hoffman had lowered himself into the four foot square shaft on a boatswain's chair, aided by Thomas Wilson, a helper at the 16th floor exit. How the fire started was not ascertained, Meyers said, adding that Wilson heard Hoffman shouting: "Get me out of here. This place is on fire!"

Wilson said he was unable to pull up the chair quickly enough and that Hoffman's body fell to the basement when the rope burned thru.

TUSCOLA FIRE BURNS 6 HOURS; LOSS IS $50,000

Tuscola, Ill., Nov. 22 [Special]—Flames that raged in the downtown district for more than six hours today destroyed two adjoining buildings. More than 30 families who lived in apartments and rooms in the store and residence buildings were made homeless. Four persons were injured and damage estimated at $50,000 was caused.

Fire departments were called from six neighboring towns to fight the blaze which threatened the entire downtown district as a high wind blew sparks all over the area. The city water supply was exhausted and two tank cars of water were being rushed here from Villa Grove, eight miles east.

One of the buildings destroyed was an apartment hotel, part of the old "Opera House," a Tuscola landmark for 50 years. The other building housed the dry goods store of George Moore, owner of the buildings; a combined cafe and grocery, and a wholesale grocery. Over the stores were small apartments and rooms. One of the four men injured received a broken leg when he jumped from a second floor window. The others were burned. Water damage was caused to the quarters of the Tuscola Journal, the Moose lodge and a bowling alley in a building separated by a fire wall from those destroyed.

LONDON, Nov. 22 [Reuters]—Diplomatic relations between Argentina and the Lebanon were formally established here today at a ceremony coinciding with the Lebanese national holiday.

WORLD AT PEACE STIRS THANKS IN CHICAGO HOMES

Thousands Have Men Back from War

Chicagoans observed the American day of thankfulness yesterday in the traditional ways, but the day had a special meaning in thousands of homes.

The world was at peace for the first time in six years. Many soldiers and sailors were home again from the battlefronts, telling their families how, only a year ago, they were eating field rations in Europe or on lonely islands of the Pacific.

Thruout the Chicago area, there were few dinner tables without bountiful food—usually turkey with all the trimmings. Sermons at church services emphasized that bountiful food is a rarity in many parts of the world.

Snow Gives Christmas Touch

Snow gave a Christmas touch to the day in the central west and in Chicago the temperature stayed below freezing thruout the day for the first time this season.

The usual holiday feasts were provided in institutions of the city and county, and there were special food and entertainment for patients at Vaughan and Gardiner General hospitals and at Hines Veterans hospital.

Probably the most spectacular Thanksgiving dinner in the city was a marathon feast served from 11 a. m. to midnight in the three service men's centers run by the Chicago commission on national defense. By 2 p. m. the centers had served 11,274 men and women in uniform.

Gas Lines Fail

Families living in the area bounded by 59th and 65th sts. and Harlem and Cicero avs. suffered inconvenience between 11:45 a. m. and 2 p. m. when the gas failed as housewives were cooking dinner.

The gas company sent a crew of workmen to search for what at first was believed to be a failure in the distribution lines, but none was discovered. Later an official said the gas failed because too many homes were using gas ovens at the same time.

MAN FOUND ON SIDEWALK DIES

A shabbily dressed man about 63, who was found by police on the sidewalk at Madison st. and Union av. last night, was dead on arrival at County hospital.

GREEK REGENT SAYS HE'LL QUIT; PREMIER SEEKS TO KEEP HIM

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 22 (AP)—Archbishop Damaskinos said today he was definitely resigning as regent of Greece, but the new premier, Themistokles Sophoulis, was reported making new attempts to persuade him to change his mind.

Sophoulis, 85, liberal leader whose coalition government was sworn in early today by Damaskinos, was reported holding up the elderly churchman's telegram of resignation to King George II in London in an attempt to stay the withdrawal.

The left wing EAM served notice it would accept the new government "as long as its composition and program remain actually democratic and republican." It was the first time the EAM had reacted favorably to any Greek government. An EAM statement said it would not insist on participation in the new cabinet, but warned against "any future inclusion of reactionary elements."

CAMERA AND $200 STOLEN

Jewelry and a camera valued at $109, and $200 were stolen by burglars from the home of Anthony Miller, 3423 W. 59th pl., he told police yesterday.

BOTH SIDES QUIT, SO JUDGE DOOMS COLLABORATOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Nov. 22—Jules de Richebourg, 46, alleged collaborator, was sentenced to death by the Bethune court of justice today without prosecution or defense presenting its case.

Following a hostile demonstration on the part of the public, the defense lawyer walked out of the courtroom, whereupon the prosecutor announced he had nothing to say. This being the case, the judge pronounced the death sentence and court adjourned.

De Richebourg is accused of leaving the resistance movement to become a German agent.

SOME OF IT FROM CANS, BUT YANKS ALL EAT TURKEY

GIs in Batavia Get Birds by Plane

FRANKFURT, Germany, Nov. 22 (AP)—American soldiers remaining in Europe on occupation duty observed the day with church services, turkey with all the trimmings, football games and Red Cross dances and parties.

Thousands remembered their loved ones at home with radioed orders for flowers.

In Nuernberg 500 military and civilian members of the United States prosecution staff were invited by Justice Robert H. Jackson to attend a Thanksgiving service in the courtroom where Nazi leaders are being tried for war crimes.

Eat Turkey in Japan

TOKYO, Japan, Nov. 22 (AP)—Thruout Japan, the Philippines and the orient, American troops bowed their heads today in gratitude for peace, then snapped to grinning attention before mess hall tables loaded with more than a million pounds of American turkey.

Thousands ate in replacement depots where they were awaiting transportation home. Thousands more hope to be home in time for Christmas with their families; yet all realized what the chaplains had stressed. If Japan had not yielded they'd be dining in foxholes this Thanksgiving day.

One Victory ship, the Great Republic, arrived in Tokyo bay recently filled with Thanksgiving fare for the troops.

From Yokohama, turkey sped by rail and ship to the 6th army in southern Japan, and to the 24th corps in Korea. Everywhere, army commanders proclaimed a holiday.

In Shanghai, naval personnel aboard 105 American ships dined in similar style, altho army men ashore ate turkey from cans. Their fresh birds had not yet arrived.

Get Turkey by Air

BATAVIA, Java, Nov. 22 (AP)—Four turkeys flown from Calcutta provided Mess Sgt. John Shannon of Mount Carmel, Pa., the material for Thanksgiving dinners today for the 14 man air transport command detachment.

"It was swell," he said, "but next Thanksgiving meal I want to be home."

The detachment is officered by Capt. J. D. Wade of Norris City, Ill.

Plymouth to Plymouth

PLYMOUTH, England, Nov. 22 (AP)—Plymouth sent Thanksgiving greetings today to Plymouth, Mass., and the lord mayor placed a wreath on the Mayflower memorial which marks the embarkation point of the Pilgrim fathers in 1620.

IDENTIFY MAN KILLED IN FIRE

The body of a man who was burned to death in a fire in an apartment at 825 Milwaukee av. Wednesday night was identified yesterday as that of Joseph Oscar, 72, of the Milwaukee av. address.

William D. Mott Jr. carves the turkey while his father and mother look on approvingly.

A special prayer of thanksgiving was offered in many Chicago and Illinois homes yesterday by families recently reunited with sons, brothers, and fathers, and daughters and sisters, too, who passed Thanksgiving of the war years on distant battlefields. Some had been absent since 1940.

Among those back home were 1,100 members of the 33d division, formerly the Illinois national guard, who returned Saturday. None of these was happier than William D. Mott Jr., 22, discharged sergeant, as he carved turkey in the home of his parents, William Sr., and Fern Mott, at 7108 University av. He had been overseas 33 months.

Col. James M. Hilton, 7838 Kimbark av., enjoyed his Thanksgiving with his wife, his son, Dale, 13, and a nephew, Lt. Robert Gross, just back from Europe.

One of Col. Hilton's soldiers, Walter Rahn, 28, of 4863 Bloomingdale av., was home with his mother, Frieda, for the first time in four years. Sgt. Glenn Burklow, 32, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burklow, 1746 W. 35th st., arrived just in time for dinner at the home of his sister, Mrs. Ted Trost, 7002 S. Winchester av. With them was his brother, Sgt. Clarence, a veteran of Pacific fighting.

LAST OF LEGION PARLEY GROUPS RETURNING HOME

The last of the Legionnaires in Chicago for the 27th annual national convention, which ended Wednesday with the election of John A. Stelle as the new national commander, were drifting back home yesterday.

The principal concerns of the Legionnaires were the lack of attendance and the question of which way the World War II. veterans will jump—into the Legion or new organizations. Many laid the poor attendance to the publicity attendant on the lack of hotel rooms and asserted the Legion has as great a pulling power with World War II. veterans as it has on those of World War I.

The election of Stelle had its beginning at the 1939 convention in Boston, Mass., where Ray Fields of Guthrie, Okla., was upset in his election efforts. Fields, national publicity director of the Legion, was one of Stelle's principal backers.

360 Bodies of German Victims Found in Italy

ROME, Nov. 22 (AP)—Dispatches from Massa, in the Ligurian region north of Leghorn, said workmen had discovered in a pit 360 bodies of persons shot by the Germans. A commission has been named to exhume and try to identify the bodies.

TURKEY FAILS, SO CRUISER'S CREW DINES ON STEAK

BY QUENTIN POPE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Nov. 22—The hardships of peace caught up with some midwesterners in the navy here today when they were compelled to eat a Thanksgiving dinner sans turkey.

The men, members of the crew of the cruiser Vincennes, ran afoul a slip-up in the navy supply service and ate steak. The Vincennes, the only United States cruiser celebrating Thanksgiving this year in the South Pacific, was said to be the last large American ship in Antipodean waters.

The officer of the deck anti-aircraft, Lt. George Chapman of Hammond, Ind., recalled that in the cruiser's most rugged days off Formosa last Thanksgiving day, the navy managed to deliver turkeys and Seaman 2d Class Conrad Westcott, 2301 N. 35th st., Milwaukee, Wis., said a supply of turkeys reached the flagship of the Atlantic fleet, on which he served.

May Get It Next Week

Lower deck rumors said the navy would deliver the birds when the cruiser puts out to sea next week.

Seaman 1st Class Thomas C. Kisaler, 11115 South Park av.; Musician's Mate 2d Class Donald Hanzlick, 1505 S. Komensky av.; Seaman 1st Class Leo Bronkallan [address garbled], and Fireman 2d Class David Johnson, 4925 Augusta blvd., all of Chicago; Fireman 2d Class Ray Menke, 2719 76th av., Elmwood Park; Gunner's Mate 3d Class Raymond F. Hankner, Evanston, and the following from other Illinois towns:

Machinist's Mate 3d Class William Baxter, Shipman; Boatswain's Mate 2d Class Robert Fulk, Siegel; Seaman 1st Class Virgil Owsley, Quincy.

From Michigan: Seaman 2d Class Everett C. Smiley, Lansing; Seaman 1st Class Chester Zejak, 6668 Southern st., Detroit; Seaman 2d Class Ronald A. Dennis, Gaastra.

From Indiana—Coxswain Loye Ramsay, Sandborne; Seaman 2d Class William Zenor, New Albany.

From Iowa: S. Mate 2d Class H. J. Trout, Mitchell; Fireman 1st Class Lee V. Roberts, Knoxville; Pvt. 1st Class Roy D. Kinyon, Everly, and Pvt. Bill McCabe, Sioux City.

HIROHITO TELLS PRINCE NOT TO BE COMMONER

TOKYO, Japan, Nov. 22 (AP)—Emperor Hirohito frowns upon the decision of Prince Naruhiko Higashi-Kuni to become a commoner and won't permit any prince to renounce his royal status without extremely urgent reason, the newspaper Mainichi said today. Hirohito's attitude was reported to have been learned in interviews with the imperial household minister, Sotaro Ishiwata, and other ministry officials. Higashi-Kuni, whom the emperor named premier after Japan's surrender, had proposed that all princes except three brothers of the emperor give up their royal rank.

SLAYING CAUSES PUBLIC STORM; CHIEF OUSTED

Convict, Used as Servant, Admits Murder

Santa Fe, N. M., Nov. 22 [Special]—High public indignation was expressed here today over a laxity of state authorities in using a Negro convict as a houseboy outside of the penitentiary and giving him the opportunity to commit the sex slaying of a socially prominent young mother, Mrs. Leon G. Kennedy Jr.

Mrs. Leon Kennedy Jr.

The Negro, Louis Young, 44, of Houston, Tex., confessed today that he fatally stabbed Mrs. Kennedy in an attack in her bathroom Monday afternoon. At the time the convict was in his role of servant to State Police Chief Frank Young, who lives in the same apartment building as do the Kennedys.

Chief Blames Himself

Within a few hours after the confession Gov. John J. Dempsey announced he was relieving Chief Young of his duties, effective immediately. He said this was done at the chief's request.

The police head, who earlier had declared he would take full responsibility for the convict's action, said he realized he was being criticized. He is an influential Democrat in eastern New Mexico politics.

It was recalled that Gov. Dempsey, also a Democrat, used a dozen convicts last June to build a driveway at a residence he owns in north Santa Fe, a job estimated to have been worth $2,000.

Governor Upheld

When a barrage of public protests arose over this use of convict labor, in the face of a New Mexico law that it may not be used by private employers, Atty. Gen. Clyde McCulloh ruled that the governor had committed no wrong since it was employed on a home the state's chief executive intended to use as an executive mansion. The governor has not yet occupied the place.

Indignation over the latest case of a state official giving a roving assignment to a convict was expressed in many quarters today, but principally by women who live alone. They telephoned protests to Police Chief Manuel Montoya, newspapers, and office holders against exposing citizens to the criminality of persons legally ordered confined in a penitentiary.

Altho Dist. Atty. Bert Clancy had declined to give details of the slayer's confession because of the possibility it would prejudice the state's case before a jury, several new phases of the case were learned from unofficial police sources.

Enters Victim's Apartment

These informants gave the following account of the Negro's actions:

On the morning of the murder the trusty was assigned to cleaning duty at the apartment of Chief Young. In the afternoon he performed similar duties in the apartment of Mrs. Betty Flanagan. Both of the apartments are in the same building with that of Mrs. Kennedy's and all are on the first floor.

Shortly after noon he slipped into the apartment of Mrs. Kennedy, 25, there with her 5 week old baby. Apparently unnoticed by her, he went to a clothes closet across a hall from the bathroom and stripped off all his clothes.

He waited until Mrs. Kennedy went to the bathroom, then forced his way in with her. After raping, or attempting to rape her, and stabbing her 11 times with a butcher knife, he washed himself, returned to the clothes closet, donned his clothes, and went back to Mrs. Flanagan's apartment.

Phones for Police Car

There he telephoned twice within 10 minutes to state police headquarters, adjacent to the penitentiary, asking that a car be sent for him.

A light was still burning in the clothes closet he allegedly used as a hiding place when Mrs. Kennedy's husband, Leon G. Kennedy Jr., chief bookkeeper of the First National bank, came home at 5:30 p. m. and found his wife's body. Their baby daughter was crying in her crib in an adjacent bedroom, but was unharmed.

Denies Killing at First

The Negro, who was serving a fourth term in prison—a 10 year burglary sentence—was awakened from sleep in his cell at the penitentiary that night and questioned about the slaying. But he calmly maintained then, as he did in testifying later at an inquest, that he had not been in the Kennedy apartment.

He broke down and confessed early today, it was said, after police found the death weapon, a bent butcher knife from the Kennedy kitchen. It was discovered partially covered with dirt under the steps in the yard back of the Kennedy apartment. The convict was reported to have confessed when he was told his finger prints were on the knife.

Death Penalty to Be Asked

District Atty. Clancy announced that a first degree murder charge had been prepared against the Negro and would be filed tomorrow. The prosecutor said he would ask that Young be executed in the electric chair.

Meantime, Chief Young's status awaited clarification by Gov. Dempsey. The police head had announced a month ago that he was resigning, effective Jan. 1, to permit him to seek nomination as sheriff of Chavez county in the spring primaries. Young was sheriff of that county before he was named head of the state police 2½ years ago.

A MESSAGE TO DOG-TIRED FOLKS

Here's a sensible, drugless way to avoid fatigue and loss of energy due to B Complex deficiency...

It is surprising, and shocking too, how many people go along day after day so tired, so tuckered out most of the time, that they find it difficult to do their work and impossible to enjoy life. It isn't that they are sick. There's nothing organically wrong—just that awful fatigue!

Now, while fatigue may be due to a number of causes, it has been proved that in a surprising number of cases, fatigue is due to a lack of three factors in your daily diet—thiamine, essential for the normal functioning of the nervous system; riboflavin and niacin.

All three are factors in B Complex vitamins. All three are equally important.

The sensible, honest and inexpensive way to guard against B deficiency ... the way to help avoid that constant nagging fatigue ... is to supplement your diet with BEXEL. BEXEL is a remarkable product—an easy-to-take capsule which contains concentrated amounts of thiamine, riboflavin and niacin. If you will take BEXEL over a reasonable period and if, at the same time, you will follow the common sense rules of getting a reasonable amount of sleep, and eating a good diet, then ... well, you'd be amazed how many thousands of people have been helped to joyous vitality and radiant energy by BEXEL.

BEXEL contains no artificial stimulants that let you down. It is the new, modern way to insure against loss of energy and fatigue due to dietary deficiency of B Complex. BEXEL costs only 2½ cents a day—isn't that inexpensive insurance worth taking out?

Get BEXEL today in your drug store. Or ask your doctor what he thinks of this wonderful preparation.

WHERE DO THEY GO FROM HERE?

New Dealers and Roosevelt partisans have correctly perceived from the beginning of the congressional investigation into the Pearl Harbor disaster that Mr. Roosevelt's reputation was on trial. Their first line of defense was to assert that when war came on Dec. 7, 1941, it was just as tremendous a surprise to Mr. Roosevelt as it was to the American people. In taking this tack the Roosevelt idolators followed the cue of the President himself.

Abundant evidence relating to the feat of our intelligence in cracking the Japanese secret code more than a month before Pearl Harbor has demonstrated beyond dispute that Mr. Roosevelt and his official circle knew that Japan was at war with the United States as early as Dec. 4. On that day, and again on the following day, the Tokyo radio broadcast a fake weather report predicting "east winds and rain," which was the agreed warning to Japan's diplomatic corps thruout the world that Japan had decreed war on this country without a formal notification.

Mr. Roosevelt, his cabinet associates, and his high command knew then that a state of war existed on the fourth day preceding Pearl Harbor. They did not so inform the commanders in Hawaii, nor did they choose to tell the American people either then or later. The existence of this knowledge was concealed for three years and 11 months, until it was finally brought into the open at the congressional hearings. Meanwhile 260,000 American boys had been killed in the war and three-quarters of a million were wounded.

Mr. Roosevelt's secretary of war attempted to suppress the secret for all time by obtaining passage of legislation specifying that any one making public information originally transmitted in code by our government or any other should be imprisoned for 10 years and fined $10,000. Mr. Roosevelt's successor as President also played his part in trying to frustrate the efforts of Republican minority members of the investigating committee to obtain information from army and navy officers. Meanwhile, the transcripts of the east wind message as intercepted and decoded disappeared from the official files and were destroyed by all four navy monitoring stations. Still, the secret was brought out.

At the time, however, Mr. Roosevelt believed that he was safe. When he went before congress Dec. 15, 1941, he described an interview he had had with the Japanese emissaries in Washington on Dec. 2. In the course of his remarks he said: "We did not know then, as we know now, that they [the Japanese] had ordered and were even then carrying out their treacherous attack upon us."

More than 250 secret Japanese messages which had been intercepted and decoded since September of 1941 belied his statement. They showed unmistakably that Japan was approaching ever closer to war. After Nov. 29 one of these messages had apprised the President "things would automatically begin to happen." The meaning of other messages was equally unmistakable. What did Mr. Roosevelt think they meant? What could he have thought they meant, except war?

Congress did not know any of this then, nor did the people. Not until the code messages were placed before the investigating committee was the truth known. Since then Mr. Roosevelt's defenders have been forced to shift their defense. Now they say the President did know that war was coming, but he didn't know when or where.

The code messages answer that just as effectively as they dispose of the original defense. At least five sets of instructions to spies in Hawaii show that Tokyo was concerned with only one question—the American fleet berthed inside Pearl Harbor. Tokyo was not interested in fleet units of any other nation at any other port in the Pacific. But it did want to know how many American ships were in the Oahu fleet basin, exactly where they were berthed, whether they could be counted on to stay there, and what was the condition of the harbor defenses. These messages tipped off Washington as to the "where" of the attack.

As to the "when," Mr. Roosevelt and his inner circle knew that war existed from Dec. 4 on. Ordinary intelligence would indicate that the attack could come at any time afterward. Finally, on Dec. 6, the first 13 sections of the reply which Tokyo intended to make to Secretary of State Hull's ultimatum of Nov. 26 were in the hands of the administration. Ordinary prudence would have suggested to Mr. Roosevelt and his associates that time was running out. They then had 16½ hours in which still to warn our fleet and garrison commanders. They did nothing. Finally, two and three-quarters hours before the actual attack, the 14th section of Tokyo's instructions to its Washington representatives came in.

It directed the ambassadors, Nomura and Kurusu, to present their reply to our government on Dec. 7 at 1 p. m. Washington time. At that hour it would be dark night in Asia, midnight at Manila, but sunrise—the hour for surprise air attack—at Honolulu. An intelligence officer was quick to point out the significance of this fact to Mr. Roosevelt's secretary of the navy, Frank Knox. The first 13 sections of the Japanese message were sufficient to have caused the chief of naval operations to exclaim, "My God! This means war." The 14th section was conclusive. It fixed the exact hour, the "when" of the attack.

Yet no word of warning that would have sufficed to put Hawaii on guard ever left Washington until it could do no good. The alarm, finally sent by commercial cable, reached the commanders seven hours after the Jap bombs had dropped and the Jap torpedoes had smashed home. At the hour of attack Mr. Roosevelt was sitting in the White House, with all telephones shut off, his stamp albums spread out. Waiting for what? What but Pearl Harbor and the war he knew was coming, to the exact day, at the exact hour, and at the exact place where it did come?

Where will the next line of defense be established? The only remaining line, already enunciated by Mayor Kelly at Des Moines, would seem to be that Pearl Harbor was a good thing for the country. We shall be content to let the Roosevelt idolators argue that case as best they can. At least the deceit and hypocrisy of four years will then be ended.

APARTMENTS WANTED

Chicago is confronted with a housing shortage comparable with that which existed after the first World war and after the great fire. All over town basements and attics are being adapted for living quarters. Houses are being divided into flats. Eight room apartments are being made into two fours. Some people expect to spend the winter in trailers. No doubt tent towns will come next.

Unfortunately there is no relief in sight. In the last three months permits were issued at Chicago's city hall for residential buildings which will house 1,364 families. That is at an annual rate of 5,456. It has been said that 50,000 new dwellings a year for several years will be necessary to catch up with requirements.

Two-thirds of the new dwellings provided in the last three months were houses, nearly all to be occupied by the owner. The great majority of the people in Chicago prefer to live in rented apartments, it appears, for 80 per cent of all living quarters provided in the last period of active building here were flats. In this category, the deficit is especially apparent. We ought to be getting about 40,000 new flats a year. In the first 10 months of this year the total was 567.

The government is largely responsible for the pitifully small amount of new flat building that is going on. Apartment building operators cannot add to the supply of living quarters unless they are able to anticipate a good return on their investment. That is not possible at present. The cost of construction is not calculable, because no one knows what either wages or materials are going to cost. Building wages are very high, but the President recently appealed to employers to grant further increases. The government controls the price of building materials, but as wage costs have increased without a corresponding rise in prices being permitted, there are acute shortages of every sort of material. The lumber supply is especially bad because of strikes in the west, and mill operators in the south have been forced out of business by OPA's fixed lumber prices and greatly increased stumpage costs. Even if a prospective apartment owner could find the necessary materials and get a firm price from a contractor, he would still have to wonder whether OPA would permit him to collect enough rent to come out even.

It is possible to speculate on what may happen if government controls are retained in spite of the fact that they are aggravating the housing shortage. One result may be a large increase in cooperative apartment ownership. This would circumvent OPA rent control, as presumably the government would not undertake to say how much a man could spend on buildings not offered for rent. The paralysis of building by investors will force people to build homes who would prefer to live in rented apartments. As vacant space suitable for homes is more plentiful in the suburbs, much of the building will be diverted there. Indeed, vacant residential lots are being gobbled up in the outlying areas. In one of them, more than 3,000 lots have been sold. If houses are built on all of them, this will quadruple the population of the town.

THEY NEED MORE THAN VETERANS

George M. Fisher, the chairman of the Republican central committee in Cook county, has brought forth the suggestion that the party put up a county ticket made up exclusively of war veterans in the election next year. His brother committeemen were so struck by the brilliance of the suggestion that a couple of them even suggested that the committee refrain from putting the usual bite on the candidates for the campaign chest [which is spent by the committeemen].

There is nothing wrong with the idea of putting veterans on the Republican ticket, but if Mr. Fisher and his colleagues think that by merely putting up a ticket of veterans they stand much of a chance of winning any county offices next year, they are as daffy as usual. If Abraham Lincoln and the members of the constitutional convention of 1787 were to rise from the dead and establish residence in Chicago, they couldn't get themselves elected on the Republican ticket in Cook county under the present setup. The main thing wrong with that setup is the very committeemen who are so enthusiastic about running veterans.

As long as the committee remains supine and unorganized, caters to New Deal policies, and retains in good standing a large proportion of members to whom Mayor Kelly and the Democratic machine are glad to give a handful of jobs if they will pull their punches at election time, the Republican party in Cook county will continue to go to pot. Its present incompetent direction is not only making the election of Republicans impossible in Cook county, but threatens to make the state go Democratic next fall.

The band leaders of Northwestern and Notre Dame universities seem to have been in hiding since last Saturday, when their organizations joined in disjointing "The Star Spangled Banner." No technical explanation for the ensuing bedlam has been issued; faces in the music departments of both schools are undoubtedly red. Nevertheless, something should be said about this exploit, for it marked the football season's highest point of humor.

* * *

The standard arrangement of "The Star Spangled Banner" is in B flat major. Two other arrangements, making the song more suitable for the average voice, have come into use, in A major [a half tone lower] and A flat major [a whole tone lower]. This column does not know which band played which arrangement. Perhaps all three versions crept into the huddle. At any rate, the reunion around the flagpole sounded like the atomic bomb arrangement of tl national anthem, and we expected to see the cement of Dyche stadium disintegrate.

* * *

The theme song of "Foolish Notion," Tallulah Bankhead's new play, half-sung, half-recited by a slightly inarticulate child actress, causes people to wonder where they have heard it before. Be informed, then, that it comes from "The Pirates of Penzance," by Gilbert and Sullivan, and is Mabel's song to Frederic, the leap year child, which begins with "Poor wandering one . . ." And Miss Bankhead's remarks over the funeral urn of her vanished husband are from Mark Antony's speech over the body of Brutus, in the last act of "Julius Caesar." The author of "Foolish Notion" dotes on familiar quotations.

INTERVAL OF CALM

Now are the dead leaves tangled in the brush,
Nursing the ground against the touch of waking;
All thru the sunlit grove a lonesome hush,
As nature had some secret in the making.

In a few days hale-hearted winter blows
Out of the north upon the winds of cheer,
To shake the snow-dust from his pleasure clothes
And warm with jollity the frigid year.

That barren pond, made glass, shall come alive
With flannel, flash, and mirthful overflow;
The fireplace and the chimney po revive,
And lamplit window to the evening low.

But now and here seem only pause and calm—

Souvenirs on Plate Rail

I remembered the dining room plate rail long after its disappearance. Ma used to be proud of those plates. They represented important events in her life.

Birthdays, anniversaries, and trips were commemorated by appropriate plates. Ma's honeymoon piece was a massive 14-inch affair which displayed Niagara Falls in all its glory. The fifth wedding anniversary plate was handpainted, with Pa's and Ma's names and the date lettered around two clasped hands.

Ma was forever comparing her collection with those of relatives and neighbors. She permitted no other person to dust the plates; that was her own weekly job. During housecleaning time she washed and lovingly replaced them.

Later on, to fill gaps, she added cups and saucers. For a lark, Pa placed his handpainted shaving mug among them. Ma said nothing at the time, but when he attempted to remove it for his Saturday night shave, she firmly insisted that it remain there. She had her way about it, too. After that, Pa used an old discarded tin measuring cup.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks will answer questions of service men, veterans, and their dependents by mail if a stamped envelope is sent to 435 N. Michigan av. The Tribune's veterans' bureau, 1 S. Dearborn st., Superior 0200, gives personal interviews.]

L. B. writes: "I recently was discharged from the army after 31 months of service. I am married and have two children. I want to take an apprenticeship in electricity in Chicago. At the discharge center I was told that if I took an apprenticeship the government would guarantee me $175 a month for my three years of apprenticeship and $200 a month for a journeyman for one year. I inquired at a United States employment service office and was told that they knew nothing about such payments. I then was told that the government would give me $75 a month plus what I may earn as an apprentice or journeyman. Can you please give me the correct information?"

There is no veterans' law or regulation under which the specific sums of $175 and $200 are guaranteed monthly. If you become apprenticed in any craft or trade you may become entitled to a maximum of $75 a month for subsistence under the GI bill but no more. Also, the length of time which you may receive this sum depends on your age at the time you entered service. If you were 25 or over you will have to show that your education was interrupted by your military service. The government does not pay anything to an employer who accepts veterans for apprentice training. As apprentices working on the job, veterans are paid by the employer. Here is how the veteran may qualify for the $75 monthly subsistence allowance if he has dependents: If his wages as an apprentice plus $75 do not exceed the journeyman pay. If apprentice pay plus $75 exceeds journeyman pay then the subsistence allowance is reduced proportionately.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

by Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]

TRACING THE CAUSE OF FEVER

FEVER can be expected during the course of some illnesses, merely as the body's reaction to disease. When the cause is known we are not concerned with this finding. But now and then individuals are encountered in whom the symptom is the only clew that sickness exists.

Such cases may tax the doctor's ingenuity. There are at least 75 disorders of infectious and noninfectious origin capable of producing fever. Many of these, such as tonsillitis, scarlet fever, or skin abscesses are easily recognized. But if the origin is less obvious the problem then turns to the thought that the ailment is an atypical variety of a common affliction or perhaps one that is prevalent elsewhere but seldom encountered in this country.

To start the investigation, he may ask a nose and throat specialist to examine the air passages thoroly, looking behind corners with special instruments. Infection high in the vault of the throat—in the adenoid region—may be the culprit. The sinuses are checked and even the larynx. The pelvic organs may also harbor nests of organisms. In men, the prostate can be the source of trouble. Abnormalities of the urine must not be regarded lightly and an immediate search for a likely cause in the kidneys or bladder is in order.

Diseases of the chest, especially tuberculosis, can be detected by X-rays and sputum analyses. A small focus can give rise to a low grade fever. I have observed patients who had a severe chest cold and recovered sufficiently to return to work. But they tired easily and, after a few weeks, found that the thermometer reading was up every afternoon. Examination disclosed residual lung involvement indicating that more than a simple coryza had been experienced. Probably a small patch of pneumonia failed to heal spontaneously so long as the sufferer was up and about.

It is also apropos to say here that our wonder drugs may indirectly modify certain disorders, making diagnosis difficult. An individual may take these remedies for a cough, not knowing that he has a mild pneumonia. As the medicine is stopped when the temperature drops, it may only half cure the more serious affliction. In a few days the victim is surprised to find that the level is again elevated. Furthermore, on occasion, the sulfonamides are capable of inducing fever and, when discontinued, it subsides.

Mild infections can smolder for a long time and contribute gradually to a feeling of ill being. Blood tests are required to eliminate these factors. Undulant fever, resulting from the ingestion of infected milk or handling diseased meat, is a common offender. Tularemia, typhus, or Rocky mountain spotted fever may also be to blame. The other manifestations of these maladies may be so minor that they are of little value in establishing the diagnosis.

Rheumatic fever, especially in children, may go on for a long period before being recognized. A study of the heart, electrocardiograph tracings, and sedimentation rates may be necessary. After the physician has eliminated these disturbances he turns to blood disorders such as infectious mononucleosis, or to Hodgkin's disease or malignant tumors. Ocasionally nervousness is responsible but this possibility is never considered until all others have been discarded.

In the majority of fevers the cause can be discovered without difficulty but in some a painstaking survey is needed to find the answer. We must keep in mind that a slight rise above the accepted standard of 98.6 degrees F. may be normal in a few.

ADRENAL DISEASE

W. E. writes: My sister's son was killed in action. She became quite rundown and the doctor made a diagnosis of Addison's disease. Could grief be responsible?

REPLY

It is not a likely cause. In one-half the victims of the disease, tuberculosis of the adrenal glands is responsible. There is a possibility that her lowered resistance invited this type of infection.

PROBABLY NOT

R. C. writes: Could an inward goiter cause a tense feeling at the base of the skull and pain up the back of the head?

REPLY

Not unless the thyroid is greatly enlarged. I doubt if this is responsible because, if it were, other symptoms including difficulty in swallowing and breathing would be present.

BLOOD CLOT

R. T. writes: What is an embolus?

REPLY

A plug in a blood vessel. It may be composed of a blood clot, air, particles of fat, vegetations, etc.

A NERVE DEPOT

E. J. writes: What is the function of the solar plexus?

REPLY

It may be considered a nerve depot from which nerves are sent to all the abdominal organs.

Singing in the Rain

Spurred out into the cold rain by a determination to record for the Carl Sandburgs of the year 1955 what, by then, will be a segment of American folklore, we spent a good deal of time the other day with the telephone girls in the picket line. Several of them wore posters saying, "The voice with the smile is gone for a while," but all seemed fairly cheerful, shivering tho they were. Whenever spirits seemed to flag, some one would start singing, and this cheered us, as it was the purpose of our call.

As far as we could ascertain they sing practically all the time, all their songs being relatively well known American ballads modified for their purposes. When we arrived, one group was doing well with "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here" [Their changes: "We'll stay on the outside, we'll stay on the outside now!"], but amiably went thru a considerable part of their repertoire.

"My favorite," one cold little girl said eagerly, "is to the tune of 'My Bonny Lies Over the Ocean.' It goes like this:

My ma gives me money for breakfast
My pa gives me money for lunch
But they're growing older and feeble
Still Ma Bell won't give us enough.
More dough! M-o-r-r-r-r-e dough!
I'm sticking out here for more dough—"

At this the tall blonde beside her, whose hair had been twisted by the rain into long straw wisps, interrupted with [to the tune of "I've Been Working on the Railroad"]:

I've bin working on the switchboard
All the live long day!
I've bin working on the switchboard
Just to pass the time away.
Can't you see the signals standing?
Rise up so early in the morn!
Can't you see the signals burning?
We want six bucks m-o-r-r-r-e!

By this time the pickets were really in their singing stride. Another, striking out in questionable soprano to the tune of "Funiculi-funicula," trilled thru the verse and chorus, too, of:

Some think the world is made for man's enjoyment
And so do I, and so do I.
Then why do we have war and unemployment
Just tell me why, just tell me why
The world is only one abundant storehouse
And nothing more, and nothing more
Illinois Bell calls it their house
And shuts the door, and shuts the door.

Two others broke bravely into the opening lines of an extraordinary parody of dear old "Red Wing," but as far as they got was:

There once was a union maid
Who never was afraid
Of goons and ginks and company finks,
And the big, bad sheriff who . . . who . . . who

When the voices broke down, one girl dived into her purse and extricated a wadded up piece of green paper which contained the typed verses of this and several others. The rest of the missing line turned out to be "who made the raid." The sight of the words spurred one girl, who, it being 3 p. m., was just being relieved, to burst out in farewell salute with what we must offhand admit is our favorite. This, to the tune of "Short'nin' Bread," is called "Mammy's Little Baby Loves a Union Shop." First verse:

"Rush," says the boss, "work like a hoss
I'll take the profits and you take the loss.
I've got the brains
I've got the dough
That's why the Lord decreed it so."

Who wrote the songs none of the girls in the picket line knew. All they knew was that they did not. They worked hard, however, when reeling them off for us, to atone in zeal for what the verses might lack in meter or rhyme.

SOLDIERS AT COOLIE JOBS

CHABUA, India, Nov. 9—We have been in this hellhole for 24 months building and operating the world's largest and longest military pipe line. The men are exhausted and half sick. In early October we completed our job of pumping the desired amount of gas to China—imagine [if I'm allowed to think] so they could carry on their revolution. We were then ordered to leave Myitkyina, Burma, and report to the staging area in Ledo, Assam, by Oct. 15 for shipment to the United States. After keeping us here for nearly a month, when it normally takes four days, we were issued our actual shipping orders for Nov. 16.

Before we left Myitkyina we were all ordered to fill out a V-mail form letter telling our people back home to stop writing, send no Christmas packages, and to wait for our next address in the United States. Yesterday all the outfits in this theater were ordered by the commanding general to take out all men with between 32 and 59 points and prepare them for what he calls the "big haul." It seems that the United States offered all its useless, beaten up equipment over here to England at a reported price of $4,000,000 and they refused, so, just out of spite, our commanders intend to ship it back to the United States. Previously I had seen with my own eyes the destruction of radar sets and of $5,000 engines and pumps. Yesterday 22 trucks pulled in here from the Stilwell road loaded with field ranges, which were placed ip a big field and destroyed. Now we go in for economy. There are between one and two million soldiers who have never left the continental boundaries of the United States. Why can't they come over here to give us some much needed relief?

Coldwater, Mich., Nov. 15—I suggest that foreign governments seeking financial aid in America be required to show justification for their loan, and the reasonable probability of their ability to repay; and that upon doing this, they be given license to use our available financing organization for their financing among the American people for the amount authorized—in just the same manner as our railways, public utilities, and manufacturing institutions are authorized, and complying with the same federal and state regulations.

WHO GETS SURPLUS GOODS

Chicago, Nov. 19—I was discharged after 59 months of service, yes, first draft. I have been trying very hard not to become a public burden by asking the veterans' surplus board for equipment necessary in operating a business of my own—radio servicing. Or is it all hush hush?

TRUMAN AND CONSCRIPTION

Dayton, O., Nov. 17—I am bitterly and unalterably opposed to compulsory military training by the army in peace time. Compulsion is a word which is odious to all Americans and is symbolic of old world philosophies and "isms" under which the people of Europe have been shackled and enslaved. It is diametrically the opposite of our highly prized, democratic principles and freedoms for which we have sacrificed so terribly much.

My oldest son lies buried in Belgium, having died in battle in Germany a few months ago at the age of 18. Taken from his home and loved ones at an age when he should be having his boyhood good times before assuming the duties of a responsible American citizen, he went willingly in the belief that he was helping to preserve our liberties and to prevent further intrusions upon our way of life which might involve his young brothers and thousands of other American lads.

President Truman proposes the Prussian system of a conscript army. If history proves any one thing conclusively, it is that a conscript army never made a nation secure; it does just the opposite. A great military force is not content to loaf in camp doing guard duty; it wants to be on the march, trying its weapons. In a burst of eloquence, Mr. Truman says, "Peace must be built on power." That was the philosophy of Frederick the Great, Bismarck, Hitler, Mussolini, and Hirohito. Peace must be built on justice and freedom. There is no other enduring peace. At San Francisco 50 nations devised a collective system of security that seemed to bring new hope to the world. Now, almost before the ink is dry on the new charter, the President stuffs it into the furnace, and we hear little else from the propagandists but the coming war with Russia.

LEASE RENEWED ITSELF

Chicago, Nov. 21—My lease on the flat I occupy expired Oct. 15, 1945. The landlord has not mentioned anything about renewal and neither have I. I sent the November rent to him and he accepted it. 1. Does the lease automatically renew itself under such circumstances? 2. The previous lease said nothing about allowance every year for decorating but the OPA rental registration, in answer to services, says "Yes" after the inquiry about an allowance. 3. Can I keep the one month's rent for decorating if the landlord protests?

S. M.

1. Yes.
2. A reduction in services would be equivalent to a rent increase and should be taken up with OPA.
3. The question is what services he was rendering at the ceiling date. There is no fixed rule of one month's rent.

GEN. IKE URGES U.S. TO CONTINUE UNRRA IN EUROPE

Admits It Didn't Do Job During War

BY WALTER TROHAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22—Gen. Eisenhower, supreme allied invasion commander and newly designated army chief of staff, today was drafted to fight for UNRRA, which is under critical fire in congress.

Speaking heavily because of a cold, the general told the house foreign affairs committee this country must fulfill its responsibility to help Europe thru its present chaos in order to avoid a disastrous postscript to the war. The committee is holding hearings on a proposal to provide additional funds for the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration.

Eisenhower declared that UNRRA is the agency thru which this nation should pipeline its aid to Europe and opposed formation of a separate relief organization.

Appearance Is Timed

The general's appearance was timed by UNRRA supporters for Thanksgiving day. His appearance was followed by a radio appeal by Herbert Lehman, UNRRA director general, for congressional action on two measures which would make 1 billion 900 million dollars available to his organization.

The former governor of New York said UNRRA has exhausted its resources and needs funds immediately to save millions in Europe from death, pestilence, and famine.

Congressional critics have charged that UNRRA has accomplished little with the millions it has spent and that it has been used for political purposes in Europe.

Industrial Setup Cited

Gen. Ike, who is about to relinquish his post as commander of the American occupation forces in Germany, said the problem of rebuilding Europe's shattered economy was complicated by the concentration of industrial power in Germany during the war. He said the Germans, industrially powerful in peace, greatly increased production during the war thru increasing their own establishments at the expense of invaded countries, with the result that the latter were economically paralyzed.

No matter how vigorously the various nations work to rebuild their economy, these countries will have to receive assistance during the period of transition, he said.

"I am fully confident that the people of Europe can recover from the grievous blows they have suffered if they can be helped thru this period," he said. "However, if this bitter situation is not to become so disastrous as to make men wonder if it was worth while to have taken up arms against the Nazis, we in the United States . . . must be prepared to discharge a very heavy responsibility.

Asks "Proportionate" Aid

"We must, now, make our proportionate contribution to the relief of Europe in order to ensure the permanence of our military victory."

The general acknowledged that UNNRA had not done its promised job during the war, but held this was due in part to the fact that military forces had the first call on resources, personnel, and supplies. He said the army is not qualified to administer relief because it is not a relief organization.

"UNRRA now has behind it that experimental period thru which any relief organization must pass," Eisenhower said. "It is already operating thruout much of Europe and I know from my own observation in Germany that it is operating with steadily increasing effectiveness.

Opposes Aid to Germans

"UNRRA represents one major effort of the united nations to act constructively in meeting the challenge of the peace. The United States assumed leadership in urging upon the other nations of the world the thought that by united action and consultation thru such a medium as the united nations organization, resort to war shall not again be necessary.

"If UNRRA were to fai. them they could not help but feel that not only the United States failed them but that the hope of solution of world problems thru united nations action was an illusory one."

In response to a question from Rep. Mundt [R., S. D.] Eisenhower said it was his "shotgun opinion that it would be a bit dangerous at the moment" to extend UNRRA to the Germans.

$40 OLD AGE PENSION SOUGHT

Washington, Nov. 22 [AP]—An increase in old age pensions to a uniform level of $40 a month was proposed today by Rep. Knutson [R., Minn.]. He said he would put the proposal before the house ways and means committee when it begins considerating revision of the social security law.

"Jarvis! Just because I'm behind in your salary is no reason you have to wake me up like this every morning."

FIND BODIES OF TWO SLAIN MEN NEAR ST. LOUIS

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 22 (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Bill Smith of St. Louis county said the bodies of two St. Louis men, who had been shot at close range with a shotgun, were found in an automobile near here today.

They were identified as Howard W. Akers, 38, and Fabian T. De Clue, 22.

No gun was found and there were no bullet holes in the car, Smith said.

Ownership of the automobile was traced to a St. Louis woman who told the sheriff's office De Clue had borrowed it.

TRUMAN LEADS U. S. IN PRAYERS OF GRATITUDE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22—President Truman led the nation in the observance of the first peace time Thanksgiving in four years today by attending services at the First Baptist church.

The pastor, Dr. Edward H. Pruden, noting the presence of the chief executive in a front pew, included in his prayer thanks for "the privilege of having with us today one who does not hesitate to recognize the need for God in both public address and private devotion."

Mr. Truman was accompanied by Mrs. Truman; their daughter, Margaret; Mrs. Truman's brother, Frank Wallace; the latter's wife and their two children. Mrs. Truman's mother, Mrs. D. W. Wallace, who is a White House guest, did not accompany the family to church.

Two Rob Couple of $400 and $2,500 in Jewelry

Police were searching yesterday for two armed men who robbed Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Knipple of Marengo, Ia., of $2,500 in jewelry and $400 early yesterday morning. The holdup occurred in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hawley, 7733 Cregier av., with whom Mr. and Mrs. Knipple had been visiting. The bandits overlooked $1,500 Knipple was carrying in a money belt.

CAMP TORTURER DOOMED

LONDON, Nov. 22 [Reuters]—A Lublin war crimes court has sentenced to death Joseph Sienkiewicz, guard in the Majdanek concentration camp, accused of torturing prisoners, the Warsaw radio said tonight.

TRANSIT SERVICE BACK TO NORMAL IN WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22 (AP)—Capital transit service functioned on a normal holiday basis today as bus and trolley drivers resumed work with the government as boss.

President Truman seized the system after a 16 hour strike yesterday. It was the second strike in two weeks in behalf of a 30 cent hourly wage increase demand by the AFL Amalgamated Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes.

An ODT spokesman said he assumed the union's plea for a pay increase from a present 95 cent hourly rate to $1.25 will be settled by arbitration.

HULL TO DEFEND HIS JAP POLICY AT PROBE TODAY

Doctor's Orders to Save Him from Strain

BY WALTER TROHAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22—Aged and ailing Cordell Hull, former state secretary, will take the witness stand to deny that his was the hand and mind "that pushed the button that started the war" when the joint congressional committee investigating Pearl Harbor resumes sessions tomorrow.

Cordell Hull

He will be the first witness in the state department's presentation of the diplomatic events leading to the Japanese attack. The "Old Gray Fox" of the state department will be hedged about by various protections ordered by his physicians.

A 22,000 word statement will be offered in evidence by the former secretary to support his contention he strove ceaselessly to avoid war with Japan altho he did pursue a firm policy against that country in an effort to curb the Nipponese swing toward aggression.

Cross-Examination Curbed

Hull will not read the statement as his physicians have advised the committee this would constitute an undue strain. Nor will he be open to cross-examination by committee members for more than 45 minutes at a time. Under this limitation he may appear before the inquiry group at intervals between other witnesses over a period of days.

The elaborate precautions thrown about the man who was nominally chief of the state department for more than 11 years under President Roosevelt, who actually ran the department, brought smiles to the faces of intimates of Hull.

Altho Hull was ill in the naval hospital for months, he is said to be more vigorous now than he has been in years. The victor of many an official feud has been known to spend an hour in colorful tirades against one or more of his old foes, pacing his hotel apartment all the while, without having to draw on his second wind.

On the Defensive

The former state secretary will be on the defense because he was criticized by the report of the army board which investigated Pearl Harbor for his conduct of the negotiations with Japanese diplomatic representatives here before the war on the ground that had he prolonged the negotiations, the army and navy could have been better prepared for hostilities.

Hull was awarded the Nobel peace prize last week. Two days later, his issuance of an ultimatum to Jap envoy's here on Nov. 26, 1941, was described as pulling the trigger for war.

Joseph C. Grew, former ambassador to Tokyo, who described the ultimatum as "The document that pushed the button that started the war" to the army board, will follow Hull before the committee. Grew recently retired as under state secretary.

Welles Also to Testify

Another former high state department official, who will appear in the state department phase of the investigation is Sumner Welles, under state secretary to Hull and his mortal foe.

The history of this country's relations with Japan before Pearl Harbor will be presented by Max Hamilton of the far eastern division of the state department.

As the committee idled, Sen. Lucas [D., Ill.] called upon the war and navy departments for data on planes available for duty at Pearl Harbor in 1941 and to explain why no long range patrol flights were being conducted in late 1941.

In an interview, Lucas said he wants to know why if it was possible to fly 300 mile reconnaisance flights in 1940, why such daily flights were not made in 1941.

SANTA ARRIVES EARLY TO CHEER A DOOMED BOY, 4

Nilwood, Ill., Nov. 22 (AP)—Santa Claus, his Christmas spirit unrestrained as always and disregarding the calendar, made a special trip to a farm home here today to bring cheer and happiness to a 4 year old boy suffering from a dread disease.

Thanksgiving day was Christmas for little curly haired Harlan Lair as he found a huge lighted, decorated cedar tree in the front room and toys and gifts from all parts of the country.

Early Death Feared

The special Christmas celebration was arranged for the little fellow, who is suffering from lymphatic leukemia, by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lair, after physicians advised them he might not live until Christmas day.

The story of the early Christmas plans spread. Cards, letters, money, six rocking horses, a 16 pound live turkey, a milk goat, fruit, candy, and loads of toys poured in from more than 1,000 persons. A registered nurse at Fairbanks, Alaska, paid $1 an ounce postage to send him a foot high doll.

He'll Keep Turkey

Standing under the Christmas tree, Harlan looked in delight at his toys — especially the six rocking horses. He christened them all "Doodle"—his name for horses, real or toy.

When it came time to eat today, the family had duck. Harlan wouldn't let them kill the turkey.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walton of Greenfield, Ill., Harlan's grandparents, joined with his parents at the holiday dinner.

The child became ill of the disease, which physicians say usually proves fatal, after an attack of chickenpox last May.

EXPLAIN ATTACK ON POLICEMAN WHO SHOT TWO

The mysterious attack that led to the critical wounding of Charles Gendrich, 31, of 9205 Normal av., and Peter Baekeloo, 32, of 10635 Edbrooke av., house movers, was explained yesterday by their employer, Glenn Webb, 4728 Wentworth av. Gendrich and Baekeloo are in St. George's hospital.

Webb, who is being held, told Police Capt. Barth Moran of the Graham station that he and his companions seized Patrolman Robert Martin of Desplaines st. station by the hair and tried to drag him from his automobile at 103d and Normal av. because they thought Martin had been driving too fast. Martin fired one shot which wounded both victims.

Webb said he and his employes had been drinking and had had "maybe 30 shots."

FRUGAL FRENCH OF OLD NOW ON SPENDING SPREE

Nation Lives for Today in Fear of Tomorrow

BY DAVID DARRAH
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BORDEAUX, France, Nov. 22—National characteristics of the French, even the provincial French, are changing. Old fashioned people attribute this to the heavy immigration of foreigners into France during the last 40 or 50 years. The French reputation for politeness began to decline before the beginning of World War I., many people say.

In the provinces and rural districts, particularly, the French people were noted for frugality and thrift. They mistrusted banks and put their savings in their socks. They debated awhile about spending a "sou" or penny. The war has changed all that.

Nothing But Best

No one tries to save money any more. Every one seems out for luxury goods and buys up the best and most expensive stuff he can find.

The farm markets in Bordeaux are in the center of the town. Farmers, who formerly used pennies, now shoot the works.

They get big meals in black market restaurants and buy up soap, clothes, and cotton stuffs. Farm women spend heavily in hair dressing shops and for cosmetics and perfumes.

Specialists and Spas

In the old days when a peasant had an ailment he bought a cheap patent medicine. Now he consults a specialist and goes to an expensive spa. The peasants have reaped huge profits from the black market and have much to spend. Eggs have disappeared from the regular market because the farmers will sell only at the black market price.

The French people put no limit on the amount they will spend for a good meal at a restaurant. Bordeaux restaurants famous before the war—such as the Chapon Fin near the markets, where the parliamentarians gathered during the gloomy days of the exodus of 1940—charge from $10 to $20 a person.

French youth also is changed. Before the war unmarried French girls didn't have much fun. They were strictly chaperoned. Now both French girls and boys are intent on having a good time. They are no longer shy. They revolt at parental discipline and sneak in with shoes in hand after midnight in a way unknown to this country before the war.

Law Breeds Boredom

The French people offer several explanations for developing the spendthrift tendency. The first one usually is that money might as well be spent because it soon may not be any good. Government printing presses are turning out a billion francs daily and the public debt is more than 500 billions. Another explanation is that social legislation which has brought shorter working hours and more leisure, has bred boredom and a taste for pleasure.

"Wait—here are some presents for her children. And don't dare ask her WHEN she'll have the laundry done."

MEDICS PREPARE ANSWER TO U. S. HEALTH SCHEME

Plan to Provide Care for More Persons

Groups of the Association of American Physicians and Surgeons will open two days of meetings in the Stevens hotel today at which the finishing touches will be put on its plan for over-all, voluntary, prepaid health insurance to make medical care available for more persons.

Joining in the sessions will be officers and members of the board of directors of the association, its house of delegates, and its medical economics committee.

Answer to Federal Schemes

The voluntary health insurance plan is the association's answer to such schemes for compulsory insurance and federal or state control of medicine as are proposed by the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill, now awaiting congressional committee action.

In addition to action on adoption of the final plan, the association is scheduled to formulate a campaign to seek its adoption in all states.

"The Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill would regiment all employed patients and physicians in the United States at an enormous increase of taxation to an already tax burdened people," said a statement issued by the association.

Coloradoan New President

A recent mail referendum of the association's membership authorized the board of directors and the house of delegates to transact the organization's business, including the election of officers for 1946.

Dr. Harold T. Low of Pueblo, Colo., president elect of the association, will assume the presidency at the meeting.

The association was organized in December, 1943, to intensify the medical profession's activities in the fields of medical economics, public relations, and legislation. Its national headquarters are at 11 S. La Salle st.

One of its recent activities was a request to President Truman and congress for an investigation of alleged delay in releasing medical officers from the services and calling attention to what it described as over-staffing of physicians in the services.

British Lift Restrictions on Trade with Philippines

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Nov. 22—The board of trade announced tonight that it would no longer be an offense for British importers and exporters to trade with British far eastern territories and the Philippines. Restrictions on trade with these areas, imposed under the trading with the enemy act, have been lifted, the board disclosed.

THAT'S A STRANGE BRAND TO ME

I don't want it

People who live in the smaller towns lean strongly to nationally advertised brands. Strangers on Main Street shelves are not popular. Consequently unknown private brands are seldom stocked by the better merchants. That's why national advertisers find such a responsive audience in PATHFINDER subscribers.

Weekly news magazine edited for families who live in the smaller cities and towns, PATHFINDER has influence beyond the usual in a market that is noted for its preference of the best in merchandise. Alert thinking citizens of Main Street lay stress on good personal living. And this is a stable market too. Small towns have few worries about reconversion. Employment is steady and spendable income is growing.

Which Insurance Policy shall I buy?

You know the new Illinois State Law makes it important that you carry automobile protection.

Motorists are today being offered automobile insurance by more than a score of companies.

With all these policies to choose from, which will you buy?

In the interests of insurance buyers, Lumbermens Mutual Casualty Company suggests this 6-point Buying Guide. Before you buy any automobile insurance policy, be certain it meets these qualifications:

1. The company must have a strong financial background.
2. The company must have a long established record of prompt and fair adjustment of claims.
3. The company must have offices to serve its many clients throughout the United States and Canada, and its service must follow your car.
4. The policy provisions must be broad, nontechnical and understandable.
5. Supplemental coverage must be available for injuries and hospital expense of the owner and members of the family.
6. The cost must be reasonable.

SUBWAY GUARDS ENLISTED IN N. Y. FIGHT ON CRIME

Volunteer to Patrol City Streets

Police Commissioner Arthur Wallander canceled all vacations and days off of patrolmen and detectives for an indefinite period and accepted the services of between 300 and 400 special subway officers who will serve as street guardians without pay for four hours daily.

Adds to Armed Patrol

Commissioner Wallander added 16 of the department's 20 police emergency trucks, with their crews of six to eight men and one detective, to the armed mobile patrol which roamed the streets.

The trucks carry machine guns, submachine guns, tear bombs, and powerful searchlights, and are equipped with radio. Each man in the crew has a rifle.

The mobile extra-duty night patrols now include 407 radio patrol cars, 54 special detective manned cruisers, all the department's patrol wagons, all cars owned by men assigned to special night patrol—about 550 units, possibly 600.

Search for Killers

In Brooklyn, more than 50 detectives searched for the murderers of Susan Scanga, 16, shot to death some time Tuesday night in a junk yard, and for the four holdup men who killed Abraham Davidoff, known in the prize ring as Al [Bummy] Davis, in a tavern. Murders have averaged one a day for the last two months.

POWDER BLAST ON BOAT KILLS 3 GIs, 18 JAPS

KYOTO, Japan, Nov. 22 (AP)—Three Americans and 18 Japanese laborers were killed today by an explosion in a small Japanese cargo boat carrying captured munitions in Osaka bay. The boat was demolished. Capt. William D. Gregorie, commanding a unit assigned to the Island of Awaji in the bay, said the craft was carrying gunpowder to be dumped at sea. It presumably struck a stray mine.

The 6th army reported that the "sympathetic" explosion of phosphorous bombs in an unreported Japanese storage cave near Matsuyama on the Island of Shikoku injured several Japanese civilians.

Ordnance men in the Matsuyama area have destroyed more than 200 Japanese planes, 23 tanks, 1,080 mines, 11,000 pounds of high explosives, 1,700 machine guns, 33 artillery pieces, and 31 anti-aircraft weapons.

BLOW UP LAST OF NAZI WALL NEAR BIARRITZ

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BIARRITZ, France, Nov. 21—French engineers are blowing up the last vestiges of the German's Atlantic wall.

The southern end of the wall was pivoted in this area at a time when the Germans believed the allied invasion might come over the sandy beaches of Hendaye. Most of the mines in the belt running into the interior have been blown. The fortifications along the coast, particularly around Cape Breton and adjoining towns north of here, are now being demolished.

HAITI MUTTERS 'DICTATOR' AT 10 YEAR PRESIDENT

Critics See Trickery in Term Extension

BY STANLEY JOHNSTON

[Chicago Tribune correspondent who has just returned from a tour of Latin America.]

Citizens of Haiti, the only Negro republic in the western hemisphere, are starting to mutter the word "dictatorship" in referring to the administration of President Elie Lescot.

In the last year they have become highly critical of the length of Lescot's term of office which was extended to May 15, 1951, by the national assembly in April, 1944. Lescot was elected president in April, 1941, for a five year term, or until 1946. The decision to keep him in office for another five years without resorting to an election is rankling the voters.

Political Trick Claimed

Lescot's political rivals charge that the national assembly's act was a political trick inspired by the president. Under the constitution, the president may not hold office for more than two terms, or 10 years, either consecutively or otherwise. Lescot's opponents charge that the extension of his term will enable him to hang on to the presidency for 15 years if he chooses to run for reelection in 1951 and is able to win the support of the people.

Most of the administration's critics express their opinions privately because they fear a public outburst will land them in jail. They recall that a newspaper proprietor who campaigned against the extension of Lescot's term is still in prison. The publisher also opposed the assembly's 1944 decision to suspend the election of senators, deputies and mayors until one year after the war.

Haiti is the smallest of the American republics but it is the most densely populated. Three million people live in an area of 10,204 square miles. The Latin republic is approximately the size of Vermont [9,609 square miles], which has a population of 359,000.

Majority Very Poor

The Haitians are an impoverished people, the majority of whom have an income of less than $4 a year. The wealthy and middle class Haitians number about 5 per cent of the population.

Agriculture is the country's chief source of wealth. Seventy-five per cent of the territory is cultivated and supports 90 per cent of the population. The farms are worked by small land owners. United States companies operate seven large plantations of about 200,000 to 250,000 acres. They grow bananas, sugar cane, and sisal. Haiti's most important crop is coffee, most of which is sold to the United States.

Haiti is the only French speaking republic in this hemisphere. The small, select upper class speaks excellent French. The lower class speaks a creole patois formed of French, Spanish, English, Indian, and African.

PALESTINE'S SIX ARABIAN PARTIES GET TOGETHER

JERUSALEM, Palestine, Nov. 22 (AP)—For the first time since 1939, political differences among Palestine's six Arab parties have been reconciled under urgent pleas of the Arab league.

Jamil Mardam Bey, former Syrian premier and chairman of the league's council session, said today that a new 12 member Arab higher committee had been formed after conferences in Jerusalem. The committee includes five members of the most powerful Arab political voice in Palestine — the Palestine Arab party—and leading members of the other five parties.

The committee will present the case of the Arabs in Palestine at a meeting of the Arab league council in Cairo. Arab and Jewish delegations have been invited to meet the new high commissioner for Palestine, Lieut. Gen. Alan Cunningham, tomorrow.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY MARYON ZYLSTRA

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Mrs. Doris Olson, 7942 Green st.]

THE QUESTION

What do you consider the most essential asset a high school student must have to be popular?

WHERE ASKED

THE ANSWERS

John Herbst, senior, 5505 Lake st.—It isn't necessary that a student have lots of money and an elaborate wardrobe to be popular. What counts most is a friendly and interesting personality. To impress this personality a student should take an active part in extra curricular activities.

Barbara Sturm, senior, 708 N. Leamington av.—I would say the chief essential quality of a popular person is being genuinely interested in the other fellow. It should not be a false interest as there is nothing that would make one unpopular more quickly. A sincere person willing to hear others' viewpoints is usually popular.

Nancy Enger, sophomore, 1532 N. Mayfield av.—In my opinion any high school student must be a good sport and have a pleasing personality to be popular. A boy doesn't have to be a movie star to have the girls like him, and the boys seem to like good natured, fun loving girls.

Harry Tyrrell, senior, 5819 Ohio st.—To be popular any one must be friendly with all persons and not just a certain small group. Jealousy and popularity don't mix. Interest in everything that takes place to the extent of a student's capacity is a great factor in helping him to attain popularity.

Caryl Dawn Weiss, freshman, 3935 Adams st.—I think the most essential assets of a popular high school student are pep, good sportsmanship and a humorous repartee. A vivacious person is nice to be around, and any one likes a boy or a gal with funny answers on the tip of the tongue.

Milton Schumacher, senior, 1059 N. Mayfield av.—To be popular in high school a boy or girl must have a personality that attracts others. This in my opinion is more important than anything else. Naturalness, intelligence, friendliness, and genuine enthusiasm will overshadow physical appearance and wealth.

U.S. GROOMS MEN TO OPPOSE REDS IN GERMAN RULE

BY HENRY WALES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BERLIN, Nov. 22—The American military government is racing with Red army authorities in grooming German political figures for the highest posts when the time comes to form a central German government.

The Russians have a head start, having commenced to prepare the future leaders of the new Germany months ago by giving them important positions in their zone of occupation. Now the United States is fostering the organization of a "landesrat," the council of land [district] presidents in the American zone of occupation.

The 16 German lander correspond roughly to the 48 states of America, and the United States zone comprises three lander—Bavaria, Gross-Hessen and North Wuerttemberg-Baden, the last being a merger of two old German lander because the French zone comprises a portion of both Wuerttemberg and Baden.

Dr. James Pollock, former professor of political science at the University of Michigan, is organizing the landesrat, which meets monthly at Stuttgart.

The land presidents are Wilhelm Hogner, a Social Democrat, Bavaria; Karl Geiler, nonpolitical but considered centrist, Gross-Hessen, and Reinhold Meier, Democrat, North Wuerttemberb-Baden.

Will Compete with East

The trio, considered likely candidates for top positions in the cabinet of the new Germany when organization of a central government is permitted, are expected to compete with Russian proteges from eastern lander in the eventual national elections.

Thus far the British are paying little attention to German politics, and the French, who expect the Ruhr and Rhineland to be separated from the reich, are politically indifferent about the rest of Germany.

MASKED GANG RAIDS ITALIAN TOWN; PACKS OFF A TENTH OF MEN

ROME, Italy, Nov. 22 (AP)—A masked gang carried off a 10th of the men of the village of Villarbasse, near Turin, northern Italy, the Italian news agency Ansa said today, after ransacking the village while keeping residents at bay with automatic weapons.

The invaders fled with their prisoners in automobiles after seizing clothing, food, household goods, and money.

Four days ago a gang was reported to have seized the village of Caggio Montano, 170 miles southeast of Turin, and to have held it six hours while robbing the bank and homes.

SOVIETS SPLIT UP 3,345,000 ACRES OF JUNKER LAND

BERLIN, Germany, Nov. 22 [Reuters]—One of history's biggest land reforms is under way in the soviet zone of Germany, where vast areas formerly owned by the junkers, the Prussian gentry, have been taken over by the soviets.

"Up to Nov. 10, there were 270,000 small farmers in the soviet zone," Edwin Hoernle, communist chief of central administration, said today. "We have divided 3,345,000 acres among them."

[The figures indicate an average of 12.3 acres to each farmer. The total acreage, 3,345,000, is the equivalent of 5,225 square miles, 326 more than the area of Connecticut.]

7,735 Estates Seized

"We have seized 7,735 estates comprising 5,245,000 acres from the junkers," Hoernle went on. "We have applications for this land from 355,000 land workers, German refugees from the east, and small holders who already have an insufficient piece of ground."

Hoernle said that reform movement had not hindered autumn or winter sowing. October figures for autumn sowing in Mecklenburg province showed farmers had sown 116.7 per cent of the land normally tilled at that time of the year.

"The former owners of the land," Hoernle added, "depend on their behavior record for the treatment they now receive."

"Aggressive" Nazis Barred

Hoernle said aggressive Nazis have to leave the districts in which they lived but may live within the province.

He mentioned committees for mutual help, saying:

"Fifteen hundred committees have been formed. These are to assure that machinery and animals to till the ground are used to the best advantage. They also watch over dairies, sawmills, and other establishments that have been taken over."

Discussing credits for the new holders of small tracts, Hoernle said the authorities had taken steps to grant them $300 for machinery, animals, or building materials.

PROBATE COURT HOLD $814,735 WILLED ALIENS

Judge Cites Difficulty in Locating Heirs

The probate court of Cook county is holding $814,735 for unlocated persons living in Europe and who have been named as heirs in wills filed here since the beginning of the war, a check of court records revealed yesterday.

None of the 1,701 persons named has been notified of a bequest or received any money, Probate Judge John F. O'Connell said. Until recently, Judge O'Connell said, all property belonging to aliens, or awarded them under wills or business contracts, has been frozen by the federal alien property custodian. Property belonging to former enemy aliens is still frozen, pending a decision by the government whether such property may be seized as war reparations.

Many of Heirs Dead

Indications are, Judge O'Connell said, that a great many of the heirs, particularly in German occupied countries, never will be located. Many are dead, he said, while others have been displaced and have lost contact with their former lives.

A search for a formerly famous Parisian dancer, heir to a $25,000 fortune left her by the late Ira Nelson Morris, former minister to Sweden, has been futile, Judge O'Connell said. The dancer, Angele Olagnon, known professionally as Suzy Deslau, was traced to the Hotel Ruhl, Nice, France, but there the trail ends, Atty. David J. A. Hayes, representing the French consul general, reported to the court. Morris died Jan. 15, 1942, leaving an estate of more than a million dollars.

County Will Get Property

The bequests to heirs who cannot be located will become the property of Cook county under an order entered by Judge O'Connell in August, 1941. The order directed the county treasurer to hold all monies due foreign residents until proper settlement could be made. If the judge had not entered this order the money would revert to the foreign government under which the heir was living.

In addition to the $814,735 due foreign residents the county treasurer is holding an additional million due unfound heirs living in the United States.

MOTHER AND SON KILLED AS AUTO RUNS INTO POLE

John Frerksen, 55, and his mother, Mrs. Caroline Frerksen, 80, both of 3052 N. California av., were killed yesterday when the son's automobile struck an electric power line pole at Irving Park and York rds., Bensenville, Du Page county, during a snowstorm. Deputy Harry O. Kolze said Frerksen apparently lost control while driving west in Irving Park rd.

Everett Ramsey, 35, of 243 S. Maple av., Oak Park, was killed yesterday when his car got out of control as he was driving with his wife in McHenry county. Mrs. Ramsey, who was slightly hurt, said the car ran over the shoulder of the road and into the embankment. Ramsey was thrown from the car, which rolled back from the high bank, turned over, and crushed him.

Yvonne Hesslau, 4, of 1020 N. Monitor av., was severely injured last night when she was struck at Augusta blvd. and Menard av., by an automobile driven by Ensign Frank Jirka Jr., 22, of 1422 Clinton pl., River Forest, grandson of the late Mayor Anton J. Cermak. Ensign Jirka, a double amputee who lost his feet while in action off Iwo Island in February, was not held. The girl was taken to West Suburban hospital.

Illinois department members of the Jewish War Veterans of the United States yesterday initiated an annual Thanksgiving day pilgrimage to the Washington-Morris-Salomon monument at Wabash av. and Wacker dr. They were joined by representatives of the army, navy, marines, and American Legion.

A wreath was laid at the base of the monument after a short ceremony. The monument honors George Washington, Robert Morris, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, and Haym Salomon, a patriot.

Addresses were made by Capt. Robert Shrum, district chaplain, representing the 9th naval district, and Lt. Col. Lauris M. Eek of the army air forces, representing the 6th service command. Others attending were William Burns, Illinois commander of the Legion; former State Rep. Abe Marovitz, recently discharged sergeant major in the marines, and Maurice Nathanson, Illinois commander of the Jewish War Veterans.

PLANE HITS TREE AND BURNS IN FIELD; 2 KILLED

Bucyrus, O., Nov. 22 [Special.]—The bodies of two persons were found today in the burned wreckage of an airplane which struck a tree and crashed in a field near the village of Chatfield west of here.

One of the victims was identified from his baggage as Lloyd R. Hagan, 47, of Detroit, Mich., who left Norton field at Columbus, O., yesterday piloting a plane bound for Detroit. The other was identified as S. Arahais [address unknown]. Sheriff Ralph Schreck said Arahais' body was badly burned and frozen.

Hagan's plane had been unreported during the night after he turned back near Windsor, Ont., and headed for Cleveland, O. Residents in the vicinity of Chatfield said they noticed a fire last night in the area where the plane was found.

W-G-N TO HERALD START OF NEW TRIBUNE BLDG.

Col. McCormick Will Speak at Ceremony

BY LARRY WOLTERS

A ceremony starting construction of THE TRIBUNE'S new eight-story building to complete Tribune square is to be broadcast over W-G-N at 2:45 p. m. today. Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, is to speak.

The program will open from W-G-N's studio No. 1, where the staff orchestra, conducted by Henry Weber, will play the "Chicago Tribune March." The program then will be switched to the site of the new structure, on the southwest corner of Illinois and St. Clair sts., where the first caisson, on which the foundations of the new building will rest, will be sunk 110 feet into the ground to bed rock. The caisson is to be lowered during the broadcast.

Col. McCormick will review the events leading up to the decision to build the new structure to accommodate expanding Tribune and W-G-N post-war activities. John W. Park, production manager of THE TRIBUNE, will be interviewed by Lee Bennett of W-G-N on plans for the addition.

The building and equipment will require an expenditure of 6 million dollars. Excavation for the structure has been in progress for several weeks.

Forty-nine radio, screen, and stage performers and directors have subscribed $7,500 to "adapt Shakespeare to the modern idiom for broadcasting." The group has organized as The Play's the Thing, Inc. Basil Loughrane, former Chicago radio director now handling the Young Dr. Malone and Light of the World serials in New York, is president. Details on when and over what network the first re-written drama, "Romeo and Juliet," are to go on the air remain to be worked out.

A seance will be a feature of Ralph Edwards' Truth or Consequence Victory bond broadcast from the Auditorium theater tomorrow night. There will be two shows—the regular broadcast at 7:30 over WMAQ-NBC and a repeat for the west coast later. The famous army band, the Jungleers, which recently returned from Pacific areas, will be heard on both shows. Edwards recently received the Eisenhower award for selling 400 million dollars in war bonds thru Truth and Consequences shows.

SHIP BRINGING BRAZIL NUTS FOR CHRISTMAS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Nov. 16 [By Mail]—A consignment of Brazil nuts, the first in four years, has been shipped to the United States and will be on sale for Christmas. The shipment from Para included 138 tons of unshelled nuts and 150 of shelled meats.

It was reported at Para that larger shipments were awaiting transportation to the United States, Canada, and Great Britain. The largest American market for shelled nuts is San Francisco, Cal., while the unshelled product is sent to New York City.

Shipping of Brazil nuts ceased in 1941 thru an agreement by Brazil with the United States, Canada, and Great Britain in order to release Brazilian labor employed in the collection of the nuts for work in war industries.

AGREE GLOBAL TELEGRAPH RATE SHOULD BE CUT

BERMUDA, B. W. I., Nov. 22 (AP)—Spokesmen for British and American delegations at the Anglo-American telecommunications conference opening today agreed that international telegraph rates should be reduced.

Raymond Birchall, deputy director general of the United Kingdom postoffice and chairman of the British delegation, said "the level of existing rates is too high and we hope we can agree to substantial reductions." Heads of dominion delegations concurred.

Paul Porter, FCC chairman, outlined the United States delegation's objectives for maintenance of direct circuits with the British empire commonwealths instead of routing traffic thru the empire system, eliminating "artificial restrictions."

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

De Gaulle will go before the assembly for expected approval of his new government and its program of action.

De Gaulle held the first meeting of the cabinet today, and told Finance Minister Rene Pleven and National Economic Minister Ambroise Croizat to present to him by next Tuesday the plans for putting credit and electrical power under state control.

North, Central Wisconsin Snowplows Get Workout

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 22—Highway traffic in central and northern Wisconsin was returning to normal tonight after a blinding snowstorm, accompanied by high winds, hit the area last night. Driving conditions were made hazardous and snowplows and sanding crews were given their initial workout of the season. Scores of motorists were stranded temporarily and many deer hunters, bound for northern areas for the opening of the season Saturday, were delayed en route. Motorists on highway 41, south of Fond du Lac, are encountering five foot snow drifts.

Arrange Talk by Chennault Here Dec. 18

BY JUDITH CASS

THE National Society of the Colonial Dames of America in Illinois only occasionally sponsors a large event, but a gala evening planned for the night of Dec. 18 in Orchestra hall will be a grand occasion to celebrate the society's 50th anniversary. An organization dedicated "to stimulate a spirit of true patriotism and a genuine love of country," among other objectives, the society that night will present an outstanding war hero, Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault, to as many of his Chicago admirers as can be crowded into the hall. Gen. Chennault, former commander of the 14th air force in China and leader of the famous Flying Tigers, will speak.

The society, whose members make up in enthusiasm and endeavor for their comparatively small numbers—fewer than 200 in Illinois—had its inception in December, 1895, when a group of women gathered in the home of Mrs. Samuel H. Kerfoot to meet a few Colonial Dames from the east for the purpose of establishing a society here. The Illinois society was the first to be incorporated in a state outside of the original 13 colonies. There now are societies in 42 states.

Mrs. Paul B. Magnuson, president of the Colonial Dames in Illinois, has gone to Washington, D. C., with her husband, Dr. Magnuson, who is spending six months there as adviser to Maj. Gen. Paul R. Hawley, acting surgeon general of the veterans administration, and so probably will miss the evening's festivities. Many dinner parties already are being planned, and most of the boxes available have been sold. Some of the box holders are Mrs. Howell B. Erminger Jr., first vice president of the Colonial Dames, and Mr. Erminger; the Freeman Hinckleys, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hopkins, Dr. and Mrs. Phillip Miller, the Roy E. Sturtevants, the George A. Ranneys, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hutchins, Woodbridge Dickinson, the Frederick H. Scotts, and the John Stuarts.

After Dec. 10 seats will be on sale in the Orchestra hall box office, and the committee in charge of the evening hopes that the balcony will be filled with school-age children and service men.

The society has been working quietly and constantly to encourage newcomers—foreigners and immigrants—to study American history, to understand their new surroundings, and to become good citizens, in an adult education program planned by Miss Frances K. Wetmore, whose classes have been copied in other states. Out of the education work have grown Graduate clubs, sponsored by the Colonial Dames, and which now are self-supporting, largely attended, and valuable to the new American citizens.

On the Calendar

The Grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel literally will be a maze of card tables tomorrow, for the annual benefit party sponsored by the many guilds of the Convent of the Cenacle, which attracts hundreds of guests each year, will start there at 2 p. m. Mrs. R. Joseph Rich serves as general chairman of the event. Among the young women who will usher are the Misses Anne Bouscaren, Joan and Barbara Condon, Madeleine Hoffman, Mary Livingston, Patricia Alger, and Patricia Thompson.

The Casino will be gay with lights the evening of Dec. 8, for the Mary Crane league has engaged the smart little club for its benefit dinner-dance that night. Strolling musicians will entertain guests during the cocktail interlude from 7 to 8:30. Filet mignon with all the trimmings has been promised for dinner, which will start at 8:30. Mrs. Winton Brown serves as chairman of the party, assisted by Mrs. Donald J. Bergman, Mrs. Herbert E. Mueller, Mrs. Louis E. Borregard, and Mrs. Robert E. Spaeth.

Lemon Refrigerator Cake

1 tablespoon plain gelatin
¼ cup cold water
6 egg yolks, slightly beaten
½ cup sugar
¾ cup lemon juice
1½ teaspoons grated lemon rind
6 egg whites
¾ cup white corn sirup
1 large angel food cake
1 cup cream, whipped

Soften gelatin in water. Combine egg yolks, sugar, lemon juice, and rind and cook over hot water, not boiling, until mixture coats a spoon. Remove from heat and add gelatin. Stir until dissolved. Beat egg whites until stiff and gradually add sirup, while beating constantly. Fold into custard. Tear cake into small pieces and arrange a layer in bottom of large oiled tube pan. Pour custard over cake and alternate layers until all is used. Chill until firm. Unmold and ice with whipped cream and decorate with cherries or nuts if desired. Serves 16.

Raya Garbousova, Russian Cellist, Plays Haydn Concerto at Thanksgiving Concert

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Desire Defauw, conductor; Raya Garbousova, cellist. Presented in Orchestra hall Thursday evening, Nov. 22, 1945, and scheduled for repetition Friday afternoon. The program:
Overture, "The Roman Carnival"....Berlioz
Concerto for Violoncello, D major....Haydn
"Summer Day," Children's Pieces....Prokofieff
[First performance in Chicago.]
Rondo, "Till Eulenspiegel's Merry Pranks"....Strauss

Raya Garbousova, a cellist who had not appeared with the Chicago Symphony orchestra for six or seven seasons, returned to Orchestra hall to play Haydn's D major concerto at the Thanksgiving concert under the direction of Désiré Defauw. The blonde Russian was the picture of how a wise woman cellist can look if she invests in palest blue slipper satin for a flowing period gown, but her performance was not in quite so distinguished a category.

Somewhere along the line, perhaps just at last night's concert, she had mislaid the fire and brilliance that once made her remarkable. Her tone was still warm, and voluptuous enough to sound voluminous, but it lacked the backbone of style to give it strength and sparkle, and her playing was by no means impeccable. The result was rather dull Haydn, concentrated on a hushed kind of cello crooning that may have made you remember, by sharp contrast, the magnificent way the late Emanuel Feuermann used to play that same concerto.

The concert also held a minor novelty in Prokofieff's "Summer Day," transcriptions of seven piano pieces for children, a slender work of some vagrant charm, which carries at least a quick scrawl of the Prokofieff signature in its wry little waltz and march. The orchestra played it well tho without the flair such unimportance needs if it is to be carried off in triumph.

Mr. Defauw began the evening with one of his favorite Berlioz overtures, "The Roman Carnival," a singularly disjointed performance that gathered itself together for a flashing finale. He ended the concert with Brahms' D major symphony, the same work so magnificently played two weeks ago under the direction of Bruno Walter. The same orchestra put forth approximately the same amount of effort last night, but the performance did not belong in the same world of music.

"Ryan Girl" Closing

New Shopping Service Helps the Budget, Too

BY REA SEEGER

You career girls who are trying to stretch a dollar into two, or more, rate a new break—and are about to get it.

One of Chicago's smartest stores will present a new service for the next two weeks, a financial expert who will appraise your problems, check your income and wardrobe needs, and give advice as to replenishing or curtailing. From there on the store will take over, and it guarantees to find you the smartest and most individual wardrobe your budget will allow—that is, after the expert has determined your allowance for clothes.

Clothes will be selected to keep within a $100, $200, $300, and up to $500 a year allowance. This means suits, dresses, and coats that are mixable and matchable. For example, if you favor a tweed wardrobe, the store will pick out swank tweeds and the proper blouses, hats, gloves, coats, extra skirts, and jackets that melt in with the best of tweed colors and fabrics. When finished, the wardrobe will be flawless. It'll be high fashion, and its cost will be within your means. Don't look for any plunging on one too-expensive outfit, so that the rest of the wardrobe is skimpy.

The collections from which all these carefully checked clothes are picked are outstanding. Smart, sleek suits, equally streamlined dresses for office, jackets, skirts, blouses, hats, gloves, bags, and such important items as belts, costume jewelry, ascots, and vestees are rounded up daily so as to include all the newly arrived colors and fashions. If you are baffled as to how to make the money you have to spend cover the wardrobe you should have to make the best impression, look into this clever new service. It will save you money and precious shopping time.

The bride's sisters will attend her, and their uncle, the Rev. Harold L. Wilson of Chicago, will perform the ceremony.

The bride attended University High school before her family moved to New York City, from where they moved back to Chicago early this year. Her fiance also was a member of the class of 1943 at Wooster, leaving college in 1942 to enter the army. His division, which was the first to enter both Manila and Tokyo, served with Gen. MacArthur from Australia thru New Guinea, the Admiralties, Leyte, and Luzon. He now has returned to college, and he and his bride will live in Wooster while he completes his senior year's work.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Hebert of Chicago and Los Angeles, Cal., announce the marriage Oct. 6 of their daughter, Louise, to Maj. Dorwin C. Wilson of the army air forces, son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix D. Wilson of Winner, S. D. The ceremony took place in the chapel at the San Bernardino army air field in California. The bride was graduated from the University of Southern California. Maj. Wilson, a combat pilot who served in the Southwest Pacific, received his degree from the University of South Dakota. He and his bride have gone to Fort Leavenworth, Kas., where he will attend the command and general staff school until next spring.

Dr. and Mrs. Julius H. Wilson of Yates av. were in San Francisco, Cal., for the marriage Oct. 11 of their son, Lt. Richard B. Wilson, and Miss Harriet Gill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Gill of Decatur, Ill. The ceremony took place in the navy chapel on Treasure Island.

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. William John Wulbern of Charleston, S. C., of the marriage Nov. 4 of their daughter, Catherine Isabelle, to Nello Joseph DiAngelo of the army air forces. The ceremony took place in St. Matthew's Lutheran church in Charleston, where a reception followed in the home of the bride's parents. Mr. DiAngelo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis DiAngelo of Chicago, and his bride are at home in Charleston, where he is stationed.

Ministry Reverses Itself; London Will See 'Carmen Jones'

BY E. R. NODEREER
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Nov. 22—The ministry of labor experienced a change of heart today and summoned Billy Rose, American theatrical producer, for a talk on the question of bringing the cast of "Carmen Jones" to London.

Altho Minister of Labor George Isaacs has been "too busy" for the last 10 days to see Rose, other ministry functionaries discovered today they were able to see him and discuss the matter of bringing his cast of 75 to the United Kingdom. In what Rose described as an "about face," the ministry of labor said he could bring his 75 member cast here whenever he liked. Rose likes next September as the date since the "Carmen Jones" company at present is playing to capacity houses in Chicago. The show would be staged in the Stoll theater in London.

Rose still is fogbound here. He will proceed to Germany when transportation permits. He said the ministry's action looked like an opening wedge for a general exchange of artists between Britain and the United States.

He attributed the ministry of labor's changed attitude to a story in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE detailing his inability to get American artists permission to come here despite cooperation in the United States with all British activities.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
3 diamonds	Pass	4 clubs	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	6 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead, king of spades.

There is no good defense against a tornado, but proper precaution will safeguard you against the ravages of a gale. At the bridge table there are certain unfortunate distributions which no amount of skill can overcome.

It is a sound principle of card playing that the use of one's high cards should be delayed until one of the opponents has been obliged to play first. In this way it is frequently possible to avoid having your high cards ruffed.

South, the declarer in today's hand, appears to have grasped that principle, but not to its full extent. The final contract of six hearts was ultra-conservative. The odds strongly favored the fulfillment of a grand slam contract, which on North's bidding South might have reached for. North's responses were very sound. Every one of his cards is known to be a key card which, looked at in that light, renders his hand as the equal of an opening bid in high cards. His partner has opened the bidding and not only jumped but made what we might call a super-jump. This makes the slam a moral certainty.

The king of spades was opened and taken with the ace. Before drawing any trumps South quite properly led a diamond to the king. He then took the precaution of entering dummy with a club in order to lead another diamond. This was a safety measure against East having no more of the suit, so that if he ruffed, South could play a low diamond instead of the ace. However, West ruffed the ace of diamonds and returned a trump. This left declarer with three losing diamonds and only two trumps with which to handle them, so that he was down one on the hand.

While this was concededly an unfortunate break, nevertheless declarer did not take full precautionary measures. Had he contracted for a grand slam he would, of course, have been obliged to play the hand in that manner. But since he had bid only six, he should have been satisfied to forego the luxury of an overtrick in order to insure the contract. This could be done by conceding a diamond trick to the opposition. But the important point is to let them have a low diamond trick and not one of the high honors. The surefire play when the king of diamonds wins the first trick in that suit is to give the enemy a small diamond trick. Their best defense is to return a trump, but now declarer has only two diamond losers and still two trumps in dummy with which to take care of them. True enough, this requires a bit of farsightedness, but farsightedness often pays off.

Had this hand been played in duplicate no question could be raised as to the soundness of declarer's play. The chances were so distinctly in his favor as to justify his attempt to make seven, even tho it failed.

The usual weekly quiz will appear tomorrow.

Proper storage of left-over turkey is important to insure full flavor of the bird when it appears the second time. Cool it thoroly before placing in the refrigerator. Remove all dressing and put it in a covered bowl. Wrap the entire bird in waxed paper, if very little of it has been carved. Otherwise, remove remaining meat from the bones, cover, and refrigerate as soon as possible. If bones are to be used for soup, crack them, wrap in waxed paper, and store them in the refrigerator along with the meat.

Served incased in pastry, or combined with noodles, or simply reheated in gravy, left-over turkey tastes as good as when it made its debut.

Turkey Pastries
[Serves six]

- 2 cups diced cooked turkey
- 1 cup cooked peas
- ½ cup diced cooked celery
- 2 cups cream sauce or turkey gravy
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon minced parsley

Combine turkey and vegetables and add to hot cream sauce. Add seasonings and turn into individual baking dishes. Cover with relish crust and bake in a hot oven, 400 degrees, for 20 minutes.

Relish Crust

- 1½ cups flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons fat
- ⅛ teaspoon paprika
- 1 teaspoon minced parsley
- 1 tablespoon grated raw carrot
- 1 tablespoon minced green pepper
- ½ cup milk

Mix and sift flour, baking powder, and salt. Cut in fat and add seasonings and vegetables. Add milk to make a soft dough. Knead lightly and pat out to ¼ inch thickness. Cut to fit over turkey.

Turkey and Noodle Casserole
[Serves six]

- ¼ pound noodles, cooked
- 1 cup cooked diced celery
- 1½ cups diced cooked turkey
- 1½ cups thin white sauce or gravy
- ¼ cup grated cheese

Arrange noodles, celery, and turkey in alternate layers in greased casserole; pour white sauce over all and sprinkle with cheese. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, about 25 minutes, or until top is browned.

Turkey Terrapin
[Serves four to six]

- 3 tablespoons butter
- 3 hard cooked eggs
- 5 tablespoons flour
- ¾ teaspoon mustard
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon white pepper
- 2 cups top milk
- 1½ cups diced turkey
- 1 pimiento, cut in strips
- 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
- 4 ripe olives, cut in strips
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice

Melt fat in pan; add mashed egg yolks, flour, and seasonings. Stir to blend thoroly. Add liquid and cook until thickened. Add chopped egg whites and remaining ingredients except the lemon juice. Heat very thoroly over hot water. Add lemon juice just before serving. Serve in patty shells, reheated in the oven, or on hot toast.

No doubt there will be a little meat left on the bones for a good rich soup for the children on these cold days. To make turkey soup, remove meat scraps from the bones. Crack bones, place in a large kettle with 2 quarts water, 1 sliced carrot, 1 chopped celery stalk, 1 tablespoon chopped onion, 1 sprig parsley, ¼ bay leaf, and 3 peppercorns. Bring to a boil and simmer, covered, for 2 hours. Strain and cook a handful of rice in the broth until tender. Add turkey scraps and serve.

Vegetable Shortening

Attractive Frosted Sandwiches

Slice a loaf of sandwich bread in thin lengthwise slices, trimming crusts. Spread one slice with devilled ham and cover with another slice which has been spread with chopped cucumbers moistened with salad dressing. Top the two layers with a plain slice. Cut into sections for individual servings. Frost each sandwich with cream cheese softened with milk. Arrange almonds and green onion stems in flower pattern on some, and garnish the remainder with thinly sliced stuffed olives and pecan halves. Chill ½ hour before serving. Any desired filling may be used in place of devilled ham and cucumbers.

Wedding News

A wedding which will take place today in St. Mark's Episcopal church in Pasadena, Cal., is of interest here because the bridegroom is Robert Dawes Ames, son of Mrs. Paul McGinnis of San Marino, Cal., and of Knowlton Lyman Ames Jr. of Nassau, formerly of Chicago. Invitations to the ceremony were issued by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lewis Wallace of Altadena, Cal., and Buffalo, N. Y., whose daughter, Kathryn Ann, will become young Mr. Ames' bride. A small reception for the two families will follow in the Wallace home.

Both Miss Wallace and her fiancé attended Pasadena Junior college. Mr. Ames, a nephew of John D. Ames of Chicago, joined the army air forces in December, 1943, and served as a gunner on a Flying Fortress with the 15th air force in Italy. He received six battle stars and three oak leaf clusters, and recently was discharged from the service.

In a ceremony at 11 a. m. tomorrow in the Church of SS. Faith, Hope, and Charity in Winnetka, Miss Barbara Mary Oshe will become the bride of Gray Edward Hayden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Hayden of Oglesby av. A reception will follow in the Wilmette home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marcellus M. Oshe.

For "something old" the bride will wear a coronet of Brussels lace which belonged to her maternal grandmother. Miss Oshe will be attended by her sister, Miss Regina Oshe, as maid of honor, and Miss Mary Withrow and Mrs. Paul Chester Rooney as bridesmaids. The bridegroom's father will serve as best man. Ushering will be Lt. Walter J. Delaney Jr. and Lt. Richard Withrow of the naval reserve, Edward Haller, a former classmate of Mr. Hayden at the University of Notre Dame, and Patrick McDonald.

Mr. Hayden, who just has been released from the navy air forces in which he served as a lieutenant, and his bride will live in Evanston.

Today's Events

The Poetry Magazine committee will give a luncheon today in the Arts club for Oliver St. John Gogarty, who is here from New York and who will tell about his experiences in Ireland last summer. Among those who have reservations for luncheon are Mrs. James Herbert Mitchell, who arranged the luncheon with Mrs. Augustine Bowe; Miss Florence Bartlett, Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw, Miss Joanna Fortune, Miss Sally Mitchell, Miss Joan Van Buren, and Arthur Meeker Jr.

A joint meeting of the Illinois Opera Guild Seniors and Juniors will be held at 3 p. m. today in the Arts club.

Sigurd Maseng, Norwegian consul, and Mrs. Maseng will be special guests at the English Speaking union's after-the-symphony tea this afternoon. Miss Cornelia Conger and Mrs. Irene Sidley will assist Mrs. Harold C. Smith as hostesses.

The first of the Forthightlies series of dancing parties will be held tonight in the Fortnightly club.

Domineering Parent Ruins Life of Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

It is one thing to order your children's lives lovingly and thoughtfully and well, because, after all, you are older and [we hope] wiser than they, having had quite a number of years in which to learn something of living, and because they need your mature hand at the family helm.

But it is another thing to be such a dominating parent that your children have no lives of their own at all.

Unless you have looked on at this sort of thing, you can have no idea of how prevalent it is or of what havoc it can work in children's lives. It happens that I have. And, in the faint hope that it may do some good, I want to warn parents against allowing their passion for running other persons' lives, for "managing," for their determination to have their own way about everything, to take possession of them.

For the domineering parent does serious damage to her children's souls, to their personality; and such a mother frequently ends by driving them from her [if she has not happened to achieve first the tragic result of crushing their spirit].

She may have succeeded in sending them to the best schools, having them study music [or any art she chooses]; she may have kept them immaculate, watched over their every move that they may not get hurt; she may have weeded out their friends and given them every "advantage." But she has dominated them, ruled them, managed them so that they function as tho in a cage, knocking up against her rules, decisions, and personality at every move—physical, mental, and emotional.

They have no loose time in which to dream or think; no chance to stand on their own feet, make their own childish decisions, express their own childish tastes. They are truly, in a sense, prisoners, these children of a "managing," forceful, dominating mother.

If your nature is like that and you are about to have your first baby, watch out. If you've already begun to err in this fashion, mend your ways before it is too late.

FASHIONS
By Angela

Holiday parties for youngsters have added charm for them when they have a new coat, dress, or outfit which definitely spells party going. White bunny fur mittens, cap and muff set, fur coat, and colored fur ear muffs are only a few of the many things we will see on our favorite young sprouts.

Strictly an outfit for "best" for one's favorite girl friend from 1 to 4 is the warm white fleece pile coat with bright red 100 per cent wool leggings at the left. The coat, with its red collar, front, and pockets, is lined in white. The matching white bonnet repeats the color combination, having red ruffle framing the cap.

A toddler from 1 to 3 will create a pretty party picture in the floral print rayon crepe dress in the center. Tiny red roses dot a pale pink or blue background. Dainty lace trims the hemline, sleeves, neck, and yolk, with a blue satin bow for the finishing touch.

The party goer who is 4, 5, or 6 years old will like to wear the full length white bunny coat at the right. It fastens with large fur buttons and has a matching cap. The lining is white rayon satin.

Thru the Looking Glass

If there's one unforgivable flaw in makeup, it's an overdose of cheek rouge. Unnaturally bright cheeks look artificial in the extreme, and it's sheer folly to think a lot of rouge makes a woman look younger than her years. Too much rouge is ageing, emphasizes lines, and plays up defects of skin and facial contour.

There's always controversy over the merits of dry rouge versus cream rouge, but we think for a lasting, natural looking blush, cream rouge has definite advantages. Granted it may be a little hard to get the knack of applying it, once a woman learns to use it skilfully, she's acquired a makeup trick which is invaluable.

We've been playing with a cream rouge lately and like its creamy consistency and the ease with which it slides on. This is a rouge even the butterfingered can manage, smooth in texture and nicely spreadable. It comes in 11 good shades, ranging from pale pink to a rich burgundy, so that you can find a shade to blend nicely with natural complexion tones.

To apply it in the right degree and proper placement, dab it on in three tiny dots placed high on each cheek bone. Smooth the rouge over the cheeks in a course that follows the contour of the face, veering more upward than downward. Blend it evenly so there are no hard edges or obvious line of demarcation between the applied color and natural skin tint.

Underplay rather than overplay the intensity of color, tissuing off any excess before powdering. Powder does play down the color somewhat but don't depend on it to camouflage a too heavy dose of rouge.

Artfully applied, your rouge will make your cheeks look naturally rosy, and the delicate blush will stay put for hours with little need for retouching. LOUISE DOOLEY

PXs Help Fill Santa Role for GIs in Europe

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 22 (AP)—The Army Post Exchange Procurement office has a dual Santa Claus role in Europe this winter. First it has the job of buying gifts for GIs to send home to the United States for Christmas. The orders, then, provide a good advertising contact between European factories' future customers in the United States, and in some cases have even enabled war-ruined factories to start up business again.

The office, with headquarters in Paris, has one of its main branches in Stockholm.

There it has already purchased 35,000 pieces of Swedish crystal, 10,000 pieces of pottery, 5,000 steel items, such as knives; placed orders for 10,000 pieces of cutlery or table silver, and has been authorized to buy 20,000 pieces of silver, such as bracelets, brooches, and salt and pepper sets. The office, opened Aug. 1, has begun just this month to ship out the first lots of goods.

In addition, captured German parachute silk has been shipped to Sweden, where factories are commissioned to print it and make scarves and handkerchiefs for future sale by the United States army.

Items strictly limited in price, so that they retail from $2 to $15, are sent to PX's all over the continent and are carefully chosen so that GIs get something typical of the country from which they come and dollar value besides. Similar purchasing offices obtain such things as leather goods in Spain, watches and embroideries in Switzerland, pottery in Czechoslovakia, perfumes and costume jewelry in France, lace scarves and handkerchiefs in Belgium, and wood carvings in Holland.

Spokesmen said that the army had provided raw materials and placed orders which enabled a lace factory in Belgium, perfume factory in France, and even a German camera factory to start work again. In each country representatives of manufacturing concerns present samples to the branch office, which weeds out the "junk" and send a few things on to Paris for final decision.

Mary's Mother Is Taking No Chances! Are You?

Right from the start, Mary's mother has made sure that her daughter was getting plenty of sunshine, and a diet adequate in bone-building minerals. Mary's legs will be as strong and straight, and her teeth as sound, as sufficient calcium can make them.

Will your child have these assets? Although even sufficient calcium cannot correct bowed legs after a child is three, an adequate supply is important right through life to keep bones sturdy and help the child look his best. That's one of the main reasons why doctors advise that children get plenty of milk...the best food source of calcium.

However, as children grow older, they are often reluctant to drink all the milk they should have.

That's where Cocomalt can prove invaluable. For not only does Cocomalt give milk a delicious chocolaty flavor that children love, but it is so rich in calcium it makes 3 glasses of milk equal to a whole quart in calcium value.* (Also ensures the day's entire minimum requirements for iron, phosphorus, Vitamin B, and D.)

Start your children on Cocomalt today. Save this as a reminder to order from your grocer.

INSTALMENT XVII.

CAUSE OF SHOCK

Steel clashed. There might have been only Maud and the doctor in the room. "There are degrees of mental derangement, one is told. One also hears of strong, unprincipled wills preying upon the feeble with malicious intent. I can give only facts. One is that my sister paid a secret visit last night to the lower regions. That she was seen opening doors with my keys."

Bruce said evenly, "If it is equally a fact that your life has been attempted, what if any object can you name?"

"Really, doctor! At one stroke not only to deprive my sister of her solitary protectress but to make her mistress of my fortune as well as her own?"

O, help! So here was another one who hadn't made any will.

"I see. Yes, Miss Bolles, the motive as you put it seems abundantly clear. Less clear, I think, the connection between this shot and—the cellar door."

There could be, she muttered, no direct connection. "I cannot prove that my father's weapon has been smuggled from this house into the keeping of a vindictive criminal, or that subtle malice is being employed to turn my next of kin into an instrument to humiliate and annoy. I leave you to judge."

"One moment, Miss Bolles," said Avis. "I suppose after this shot you did come straight in?"

"I have said so. If you wish to know the time, it was precisely 14 minutes past 7 when you and I met in the small lobby."

"Useful to know," Bruce murmured with a glance at his own watch. He must not linger, he explained, he had surgical jobs beginning at 10. He rose. "You'd like me, now I'm here, just to look in at my patient?"

"Quite," Maud said dryly, and conducted him upstairs.

The three left at the table said not a word. Presently Olive sauntered from the room. Avis was alone with Robin.

Up in the school-room Bruce gently relinquished Erica's wrist. Pulse excellent, he declared, and was she eating once again?

"Eating!" Miss Erica shook her ridiculous curls. Why, she was always half-starving! "But there isn't so much food just now, is there? I know, it's the ships. Sometime after I'm in bed—" She stopped, round eyes searching him.

"O, so that's what took you down last night," he teased. "Raiding larders at your age!"

"Only a bun. Who told you? Not Maudie, she can't have known. There was a bun, left over from tea, I was suddenly so hungry . . . O, does Maud know I borrowed her keys?"

The doctor's eyes were grave, but his tone kept its lightness. No, Maud didn't know. "Next time, get Miss Marriott to bring you your buns. Promise?"

"It—it wasn't only the bite for myself," Erica faltered, "What I really wanted was some whisky for poor Ossie's cold . . ."

Wind-torn hair, excitement-blazing eyes . . . "Now!" In the hedged seclusion she faced him. "Get this on ice right at the start: All, all that woman's been telling you is a lie."

"How do you know?" Bruce flashed.

"First, because there just wasn't any shot. Not then. You see, I happened to be out front, right by these gates, for a good five minutes round the time she says she was shot at. Robin and Moravian were with me, and what's more, I looked at my own watch, if you'll hang on a second I'll tell you why. Three of us barely a hundred yards from the gap round the side where her bullet was supposed to have been fired! She never thought of bullets at all till she woke up this morning and found she'd been sleeping off a real honest-to-God drunk in her own armchair!"

"Drunk! You think it was that, do you?"

"I didn't think, I knew . . . And so did the lot of us. She also knew it was she and nobody else who shut the poor kid in that death-trap hole, and that Robin and I had seen her snoring in her clothes, because we had to get the keys in order to see if little Albert was living or eaten up by a rat. You can't laugh a thing, like that off, now can you? I don't say Erica mayn't have gone down later on."

"That," Bruce muttered, "is the complication. Erica did go down, having on her own confidential admission borrowed her sister's keys. She says she wanted a bottle out of the wine-cellar for Moravian's private use."

"Well, what's wrong with that? It's her drink as much as it is Maud's. Don't you believe Erica? I do, because for one thing she was all there, while Maud—do I have to keep telling you she was plain soused? We all heard her bumbling around in that basement passage. We even heard her opening up doors. She opened up her desk, too, but there's a roomful of witnesses to swear she never touched that middle drawer where the pistol was supposed to be kept. She did have a shock, and I'm dead certain that's the reason she started hitting the brandy bottle, and the thing that petrified her was the letter Agatha Trimble had brought round and dropped in her box?"

The letter, she whispered, might have been some threat. Certainly Maud had seemed unsurprised by Lady Barkdale's news about Miss Trimble's weapon.

"But," she hesitated, "just a little while before there was a shot. You'd have heard it if this engine hadn't been backfiring, and Maud may have, too, if she really was cycling this way from the other end of the lane. Would it sound too utterly haywire to say Maud fired it herself? It would explain the cartridge-case, tho she could have picked that up this morning to plant it for her farmer to see. Anyhow, here's where the bullet went."

"Not yours?"

Under his swift fury she quailed. "Now for Pete's sake don't you go writing this to Aunt Jill! I don't say it wasn't just a wild shot from the road."

"Stop gabbling! Did it seem like close range?"

"What if it did? Not even a cracked-brain could suppose it was intended for me. I've told you Moravian was there, he must have been dodging just round the gates, and Robin wasn't far off either when it comes to that. I wouldn't have told you only I'd got to make you see thru Maud's rotten little frame-up, because that's what it is, I'll give you two guesses what for. Here, let me get back! She'll be wondering where—what's this, a bottle?"

Her foot had kicked it. "Hers," Bruce said dryly. "I'm being told to analyze it myself, for possible drugs."

Women's Share in Public Service, the interclub group formerly known as Women's Share in Post-War Planning, will meet at 6 o'clock tonight in Huyler's restaurant, 308 S. Michigan av., for a public health and welfare symposium. The organization, which has representation from 25 of the largest business, educational, and cultural clubs in Chicago, is headed by Mrs. Stella Ford Walker, president of Chicago Altrusa.

On the panel of speakers will be Dr. Carroll Birch of the University of Chicago college of medicine; Mrs. Walter M. Rennie, executive secretary of the state board of public welfare commissioners; Miss Myra Siegendorff, Chicago Council of Social Agencies; Miss Beatrice Wade, director of the occupational therapy department of the University of Illinois, and Dr. Martha Ziegler, regional director of the United States department of labor women's bureau.

Women's Speakers' Day in Bond Drive Is Dec. 3

Monday, Dec. 3, has been chosen by Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, chairman of the women's division speakers' bureau of the women's committee of the Victory loan drive, as Women's Speakers' day. More than 200 volunteers from the bureau will canvas the city on that day in a plea for the support of the Victory loan drive.

'Kiss and Tell' Good Fun as Film Comedy

By Mae Tinée

Tales of feuding families and romancing offspring have been good since the robust rowing between the Capulets and the Montagues, and here's a modern version. This time its the Archers and the Pringles, and the trouble starts at a U. S. O. club. Two mercenary misses discover that kisses are the most easily salable item and proceed to dispense them, for patriotic purposes only. Their mothers discover them doing a rushing business, and they are hauled home in disgrace.

Mrs. Archer intimates that her daughter Corliss would never have had such an idea, it must have originated with Mildred Pringle, whereupon Mrs. Pringle is highly offended —and the war is on. The fathers are soon involved, and the young people are forbidden to see each other, which is awkward in view of the fact that the contaminating influence, Mildred, has secretly married Lenny, the Archers' soldier son.

Corliss is sworn to secrecy and, being a literal minded miss, goes to great lengths to keep her oath, which process reduces her parents to tears and tempers and involves the innocent kid who lives next door.

Mr. Archer gets a bloody nose, kicks the dog, threatens to fire the housekeeper; Mrs. A. suffers silently and sweetly, and the entire family is badly bruised by the time the plot allows matters to be ironed out.

There are some funny lines and situations in this movie, but it tries, awfully, awfully hard. Almost every member of the cast over-acts, and that goes for Shirley Temple, as Corliss Archer; Walter Abel and Katharine Alexander, as her parents, and Mary Philips and Tom Tully, as the Pringles. Even Darryl Hickman, who provides a lot of the comedy as the pesky youngest Pringle, is funny the first couple of times he pronounces all his elders and their behavior "very dumb," but it does get a bit tiresome after a while.

The same is true of Jerome Courtland, a very attractive kid, who is the victim of his adoration for Miss Temple and provides one of the best performances in the film, but his "holy cow" palls after you hear it for the umpteenth time. Walter Abel also is funny as father Archer but nearly knocks the role over with his enthusiasm. Miss Temple seemed intensely camera-conscious to me, and did her best work when she was pathetic rather than precocious.

You get your share of laughs from the situations rather than the performances, but you will laugh now and then.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, CAL., Nov. 22—Merle Oberon, who is recovering from a serious operation in a Boston hospital, will be there another two or three weeks. Husband Lucien Ballard is living nearby and in constant attendance. . . . Bob Hope's first independent picture for Rainbow Productions will be a screen version of his book "I Never Left Home," with the whole gang that left home with him, including Frances Langford. This will be worth waiting for. . . . Richard Kollmar is huddling with Eddie Sherman over his Broadway play "Are You With It?" for Bud Abbott and Lou Costello. Understand he wants plenty of moolah, and may sell it on a flat rate and percentage. If deal goes thru, it'll be the first major vehicle bought for the boys themselves. . . . Hal Wallis has signed Judith Anderson for rôle in "The Strange Love of Martha Ivers" [new handle for "Love Lies Bleeding"]. She plays rôle of meanie aunt whose murder motivates plot. After the picture Judith goes to New York for Robinson Jeffers' "The Medea."

"Weep and You Weep Alone"

Bob Benchley, whose death touched this town deeply, believed laughter was the universal language, and he spoke it often. . . . Margaret Sullavan, looking younger and cuter than ever, is in town for a few days with husband Leland Hayward, who's trying to find actors for his New York play which will star Geraldine Fitzgerald. . . . Maj. Dallas Clinger, who preferred riding Jap planes to the ground to wasting bullets on them, is talking a picture contract with Walter Wanger and another producer, even tho he won't be out of uniform until spring. But what this handsome, dark-eyed, dark-haired Fighting Tiger, who wears nine decorations on his jacket, would prefer is to run for the governorship of his home state, Wyoming. He believes, as most of us do, that he can help returning men faster and better from a political position than from the screen.

Is It Double Trouble?

Ivan Albright wires from Warrenville, Ill., that the Chicago Art institute is having a heck of a time handling the crowds flocking to see his painting of Dorian Gray on exhibition there. Even the bobby-soxers have left their live models to take a look. Ivan and his brother outdid themselves. I know—I watched them work. . . . Walter Stane, the dancer, didn't get any breaks here, so he's back in New York and will be Mary Martin's partner in "The Lute Song." . . . Sue Carol Ladd is just getting over a bad case of flu. Incidentally Alan went to visit Richard Denning, who was doing a location scene for "Black Beauty," and unknowingly stepped into camera range. They left him in—without billing.

That Crosby Clan

Bing's dad, Harry L. Crosby, will handle the money on "Abie's Irish Rose." That gang sure believes in keeping it in the family! . . . Perry Como is the hottest singer on the air lanes. His new tune "Hubba, Hubba, Hubba" by Jimmy McHugh and Harold Adamson is a dilly. . . . Even before he left for New York, Paul Small was chumming with ex-wife Estelle Taylor at the Trocadero. Sally Eilers showed with her ex, Harry Joe Brown, at Ciro's. . . . I understand that Burl Ives is seriously ill in New York. Maybe that explains why he wouldn't come back here to do added scenes for "Smoky." Picture will be released without them. . . . Leroy Hillman and Joan Barclay have gone east, he to seek talent for the Club Donroy, and both to scout for a baby to adopt. . . . Remember Zeffie Tillbury, the grand old actress? She was 82 the other day, has had four eye operations, and is about to have another, but she's still gay as a cricket. . . . Elliott Nugent is having eye trouble, too. . . . Jack Kirkwood's the winner. When his car was stolen the other day there was only one bottle of whisky in it. When the police returned it, he had two.

Sally Requests Aid for Family of War Widow

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

Perhaps readers on the northwest side can supply some necessary furniture, household equipment, and clothing for the G. family, a widowed mother and two daughters, 8 and 3 years old. The father died in service overseas about a year ago. An agency is giving temporary support but cannot supply the following: A bed for the younger child, a rug, kitchen table and two chairs, bedding, and living room pieces, for which transportation can be arranged. Mrs. G. is tall and wears size 18-20; the girls, who wear sizes 4 and 12, are particularly in need of underwear and dresses.

Mrs. F. and her two little girls, 3 and 5 years old, live on the southwest side of the city. Her husband is in the army, and she is unable to work to supplement the family allowance. Perhaps some one has outgrown youth or bunk beds which could be passed on to them. Mrs. F. also is very much concerned about toys for their Christmas, since they are hopeful of getting doll buggies.

Has any one a discarded but usable sewing machine for Mrs. T., mother of four children, girls 11 and 10, and boys 9 and 6? All are active growing children, and the problem of clothing them is a serious one, relieved occasionally by donations from friends and neighbors of used wearables, which require altering and mending to be serviceable. This hand job is made the more difficult by reason of Mrs. T.'s ill health. Her husband's earnings preclude any but basic expenditures. The address is on the south side.

MacDowell Allied Arts Society to Meet Nov. 30

The MacDowell Society of Allied Arts will meet at 8:15 p. m. Nov. 30 in the Wilmette home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Dubbs. Among the artists to be presented by Miss Grace Seiberling, program chairman, are May Barron, mezzo soprano; Joe Anderson, accompanist; Arcule G. Sheasby, violinist; Hadassah McGiffin, pianist, and La Mar Warrick, author. Mrs. Leon J. Willien, president of the group, will preside and head the receiving line.

American Cosmetics Gaining Popularity with French Women

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Nov. 22—American cosmetics are among the luxury and semi-luxury products recently imported from the United States that most delight the women of Paris, Bordeaux, Nice, Lyon, and Lille.

The new Yank shades of lipstick and rouge, such as Red Grape and Red Feather, are popular, as is also "Pa-Ta-Kake" makeup, a light paste in cake form that spreads evenly over the face and dries with a finish requiring no powder. Especially pleased with it were French career girls who claim it is a boon because the usually delicate retouching job just before that dinner date may be achieved easily at the office by cleansing the face and applying the paste. The girls agree that the bright red victory shades from the United States are striking with winter ensembles and very flattering to blondes and brunets alike for daytime or formal use.

The Paris salons are concentrating on makeup for chilly interiors as most French homes may be heatless again this winter. One base called "Rosee" is used upon a foundation cream and gives a warm tinge to the face before the wearer applies a lighter shade of powder to match the complexion.

Household Forum

By Louise Bargelt

Mrs. J. R. Mostyn Jr., Berwyn—To make worn spots in your rug less conspicuous, apply a little dye which is the color of the rug background. Use a small toothbrush or handbrush for application.

Mrs. R. G., Hammond, Ind.—I have just finished some attractive sash curtains for a bathroom made from a pair of old shower curtains. And also—some bibs for my baby.

WOULD YOU LIKE TO HEAR A SECRET?

WE HOPE SO!

We hope you'll tell it to every woman who's wept bitter tears over a flat iron that won't iron, over a toaster that won't toast . . . to every man who's groaned over an alarm clock that won't alarm.

Tell them all. Tell them this. Tell them Walgreen's is receiving hard-to-get merchandise.

And just as quickly as it's received, Walgreen's is placing it on the counters for sale—distributing it fairly to you and all of our customers in all our stores.

We can't say we'll always have enough for you and your friends too. Quantities are limited. But shipments are coming oftener and oftener. Shipments are containing more and more.

FOR THE THINGS YOU'VE MISSED . . .

Keep Your Eye on Walgreen's!

Two Photos

In a humble home that I know so well,
Two photos stand and their stories tell.
There's a youthful smile on a soldier's face
And a nurse wears her white with becoming grace.
A brother and sister who had been nowhere
But this slip of a lad has now crossed Europe's span
While the shy little nurse with her healing art
Just a boy and a girl from a farmhouse home
But thousands of girls like brave Mary Ann
Have succored the suffering as they only can,
And millions like Pat, the once care free kid,

Get Us Home!

" Get Us Home! " was rubber stamped
In letters plain as day
Upon a GI envelope
Which I received today
From the far-off South Pacific
Where they're destined still to roam,
Comes that mute appeal so poignant,
That plaintive " Get Us Home! "

They harkened to the call to arms
When their country made its plea,
Now they in turn send out a call
To other arms, you see;
The arms outstretched to welcome them,
They hear the yearning call
Sent out by loved ones waiting
And longing, one and all.

" Get Us Home! " was all it said,
But reading it, I fear,
I grasped its lonely message

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 22—Professional football has a new tenant in the west's high and mighty seat.

The Cleveland Rams completed the job of winning the National Football league's western division championship today at a time when, by all odds, they should have been enjoying a Thanksgiving day dinner. That came later, of course, but the exultant players still were working their jaws more in gabbing about the triumph than in making headway against the bird of the day.

The score was: Cleveland, 28; Detroit, 21. It was much more decisive than it sounds because the badly outplayed Lions scored two of their touchdowns in the fourth quarter after the Rams had constructed a 28 to 7 edge.

Detroit Fans Shiver

Snow flurries fell on Briggs stadium in 25 degree temperature while a crowd of 40,017 watched in disappointment as the smooth working, youthful Ohio team confidently fastened the clincher to round out its spectacular 1945 campaign.

The Rams have a game a week from Sunday in Cleveland against the Boston Yanks, which they can lose, 100 to 0, if the fancy suits them. Today the Lions lost their third game of the season and only one remains on the schedule.

The Rams may have to wait quite a spell to know who their opponents will be in the league's championship game, scheduled for Dec. 16 in Cleveland's Municipal stadium. The Washington Redskins must beat the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday to win the eastern title and there is considerable doubt concerning their ability to do so. If they fail, a playoff is a possibility in the east, which would set back the pay-off game to Dec. 23.

It's Been a Long Time

For the first time since 1935, when the Lions won in the west, a team other than the Chicago Bears or Green Bay Packers is this section's representative in the title show. Back in 1924 a Cleveland eleven won the National league title. Since then the Ohioans had been decisively frustrated.

It took a superlative dual job by Bob Waterfield, the sunkissed Californian, and Jim Benton, the lean Ozarkian, to put over the Rams in a game which started an hour before noon and ended shortly after 1 p. m. It was Waterfield pitching and Benton catching to such an extent that the angular Arkansan routed one of Don Hutson's many league records.

Benton Catches Ten Passes

Benton, who has almost as many projected retirements to his credit as has Hutson, snatched 10 of Waterfield's pitches out of the frosty air for one official touchdown, and two unofficial ones, with a yardage tabulation of 303. This smashed the Hutson standard of 237 yards set against Brooklyn in 1943 when he snagged eight throws. All of the Rams' scores were set up by long distance passes from Waterfield to big Jim.

Cleveland took the opening kickoff, but had to punt. Chuck Fenenbock tried to pass on first down, which was intercepted by Jim Gillette of the Rams on his 22. Don Greenwood, the old Illini, got four yards in two tries. Then Waterfield's pass was taken by Benton on the Cleveland 36. Jim galloped 46 yards to the Lions' 18. Fred Gehrke, the Rams' speed boy, then circled defensive left in an almost leisurely manner to score standing

BARNUM, JOYCE MEET TONIGHT

Return Bout Heads Fight Program in Stadium

BY FRANK MASTRO

Willie Joyce, 1937 Chicagoland Golden Gloves featherweight champion, who is recognized as fourth leading challenger for the world lightweight title by the National Boxing association, will meet Joey Barnum, promising Los Angeles boxer, in a 10 round return bout in Chicago Stadium tonight.

Their first meeting a month ago ended in a draw, and each boxer has an objective tonight. Joyce has his eyes on a prospective title contest with Champion Ike Williams, while Barnum plans a campaign in the welterweight division and hopes to meet Beau Jack.

Whips Nick Moran

Barnum, born in Kansas City in 1922, received his chance to break into the boxing spotlight when he defeated Nick Moran in Mexico City before the latter won from Bob Montgomery in Los Angeles last May 8. Joey conquered Johnny Bratton in his Chicago debut last July 30, and followed with victories over Gene Spencer in Marigold Gardens and Juan Carrero in Madison Square Garden.

Barnum suffered an eye cut while knocking out Carrero in the sixth round, but the injury didn't prevent him from gaining the draw decision with Joyce.

Costner Faces Bell

George Costner of Cincinnati and O'Neil Bell, Detroit, two of the hardest hitting welterweights in the game, will meet in a 10 round secondary feature. Costner has not fought since knocking out Oscar Suggs last summer, but Bell came thru with one of his finest punching exhibitions recently when he floored Benny Droll of Peoria for the count in Marigold Gardens.

Gene Roberts, Golden Gloves product from Danville, Ill., will be trying for his 15th straight success at the expense of Georgie Hahn of Cincinnati in a six round event. The program:

Pete Leno, Cincinnati, vs. Jerry Pittro, Chicago [6], 152.
Pete Ferrand, South Chicago, vs. Marty Colura, Milwaukee [5], 150.
Gene Roberts, Danville, Ill., vs. Georgie Hahn, Cincinnati [6], 126.
George Costner, Cincinnati, vs. O'Neil Bell, Detroit [10], 150.
Willie Joyce, Gary, vs. Joey Barnum, Los Angeles [10], 140.

85,132 to See Michigan Battle Ohio State Rivals Tomorrow

BY WILFRID SMITH
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 22—Neither Ohio State nor Michigan may win the Western conference championship in the final game of the season here Saturday afternoon—Indiana can cast the deciding vote—but the Buckeyes are certain to shatter the conference attendance record. Saturday's capacity attendance of 85,132 will give Ohio State a total of 529,513 for all games this season, approximately 84,000 more than attendance for the Buckeye's 1927 campaign, best previous mark.

More than 12,000 are coming from Ohio, many on special trains. The Ohio State varsity arrives in Detroit tomorrow at 1 o'clock by special train, will go by bus immediately to the Dearborn inn and then come to the stadium here for a brief drill. Railroads are permitted to furnish these trains as long as Pullman accommodations are not included.

Scalpers Ask $25

All tickets were sold more than two weeks ago and speculators now are asking $25 a ticket for midfield locations.

An attendance of 85,132 will match the sellout three weeks ago for Michigan's victory over Minnesota. This was the second largest crowd ever gathered in the Wolverines stadium. Largest was the 86,408 which saw Notre Dame defeat Michigan in 1943.

Coach Fritz Crisler and his aids had the Michigan squad out for early afternoon practice today, taking advantage of the holiday. At 6 o'clock this evening the boys sat down to a turkey dinner with nearly all of the trimmings. Appetites were sharpened by the subfreezing temperature which followed yesterday's rain.

Crisler said today that he did not believe Jack Weisenburger, Wolverine full back, will be ready to start against the Buckeyes. Loss of this star, who is most adept on the full back spin plays and who is the best punter on the squad, climaxes a list of injuries which repeatedly have threatened to knock the Wolverines out of the conference race.

Both Ohio State and Michigan must wait an hour after Saturday's game here to determine their status in the 1945 standings. Title hopes rest entirely on a Purdue victory over Indiana for a tie game in Bloomington still would give the Hoosiers their first conference championship with a record of four victories and two ties. Northwestern previously tied Indiana, 7 to 7.

Every "If" Means Something

If Purdue wallops Indiana, the winner here will take the conference title. If Ohio State is victorious, the Buckeyes will retain their 1944 title with a record of six victories and a defeat by Purdue. If Michigan wins, still presuming Indiana is beaten by Purdue, the Wolverines will have the conference championship with a record of five victories and a defeat by Indiana.

Despite loss of such stars as Capt. Joe Ponsetto, Harold Watts, and Weisenburger, Michigan is regarded as at least on a par with Ohio State. Many who are not Wolverine partisans pick Michigan to win. They base their assertion on Michigan's deceptive and balanced offense. They reason that Purdue won from Ohio State by deception and passing and that Northwestern, which lost to the Buckeyes only by a field goal, 16 to 14, scored because the Buckeye line again proved inept when the point of attack was well screened.

St. Louis U. Beaten, 40-6, by Marquette

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 22 [Special].—Marquette university's football team established a new modern season's scoring record for the Milwaukee school in defeating St. Louis university, 40 to 6, before 8,000 in Walsh stadium today.

Their 40 points gave the Hilltoppers a season's total of 238, which bettered the 213 aggregate of Marquette's undefeated varsity of 1922. Marquette's unbeaten team of 1917 scored 348 points.

Trying a fourth down punt in the first quarter, Bob Teik of Marquette fumbled, but ran the ball 30 yards to the St. Louis 31. On third down, Bob Lodde passed 26 yards to Paul Copoulos for a touchdown, and Bob Dams kicked the extra point. Shortly after, Copoulos broke loose for 33 yards and another touchdown.

In the second quarter, Teik scored for Marquette on a 33 yard romp and Lodde tallied from the 5 yard line, while St. Louis put across a touchdown on a 20 yard pass from Dick Weilmuenster to Eddie Shortal.

Teik hit center for 12 yards and a Marquette touchdown on the fourth play of the third quarter. Johnny Rudan hit the line for 3 yards to account for the Hilltoppers' final tally in the fourth quarter.

AURORA EAST UPSETS WEST ON BLOCKED PUNT

East's victory, its third straight over the west eleven, was gained on a blocked punt which Ronnie Tesch caught in the air to race 45 yards for the touchdown. The score came on the seventh play of the game when Brad Quackenbush's punt was blocked by Tackle Len Stahler.

IRISH PACK 'EM IN AT TULANE

70,000 Eagerly Await Battle Tomorrow

BY ARCH WARD
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

New Orleans, La., Nov. 22—This was a holiday for most residents of New Orleans, but there was no rest for the Tulane football squad which Saturday will meet Notre Dame in its biggest test of the season.

There was no leisure for Horace Renegar, Tulane athletic director, and his football ticket staff, either. Thousands were clamoring for seats that were unavailable. Sales have exceeded 70,000 and temporary bleachers will be required to accommodate the throng anxious to see the Irish in their first appearance in this area.

Even the weatherman was cooperating to make this a gala weekend. Temperatures which have hovered in the 80s the last several days have fallen to the 60s and for the first time this fall New Orleans is enjoying football climate.

No One Is on the Fence

Fans streaming into town from Mississippi, northern Louisiana, and other sections of the deep south do not anticipate a close contest, altho hope flames high in the collective Tulane breast. They're here to see the team they have been reading about so many years. Notre Dame has tremendous followings in all the major cities of the land, but nowhere is there a higher precentage of support than in New Orleans. Almost every one down here who isn't a Tulane rooter is a self-styled Notre Dame man.

Coach Monk Simons devoted most of today's workout at Tulane to checking defenses and smoothing the team's forward passing attack. The Green Wave leaders are pretty well convinced their charges will make no substantial progress against the Notre Dame line. Their best chance is to break a runner loose after catching a pass and then try to protect the lead.

Tulane Cripples Back in Action

Hugh Devore and his Notre Dame entourage of 35 players will detrain at a suburban station tomorrow morning and attend mass at Sacred Heart church in an outlying area. They will work out at Tulane stadium in the afternoon.

Tulane comes up to the Notre Dame game with its squad in the best condition since its opening game. Injuries which deprived the team of some of its strongest talent were largely responsible for its disappointing performances against Georgia Tech and Clemson in its last two games. All but one of its roster is available for Saturday's contest.

The teams have had only one common opponent—Georgia Tech. The Irish routed the Yellow Jackets, 40 to 7, while Tech in turn crushed Tulane, 41 to 7. All of which ought to prove something, but we are not sure what.

IRISH HEAD SOUTH

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 22 [Special]—Thirty-six Notre Dame football players and Coach Hugh Devore left Notre Dame this afternoon for their game with Tulane in New Orleans Saturday. The traveling squad:

BY EDWARD BURNS

The first Chicago Stadium hockey crowd of less than 18,000—13,983—last night saw the most exciting period of the season, and left for home, satisfied, no doubt, with a 3 to 3 Blackhawk tie with the New York Rangers.

The third period was the thriller, following two listless sessions, at the end of which the Hawks were trailing, 2 to 1. Then followed the first real fist fight of the Chicago season, a brawl which awakened the Hawks to the extent they scored two goals, one each by the Bentley brothers in a span of 2 minutes 22 seconds, to take a 3 to 2 lead.

Shibicky Ties It

Unfortunately, their exuberance caused them to grow careless and in a little more than two minutes after the Chicagoans had taken the lead, Alex Shibicky scored his second goal of the night, to effect the final 3 to 3 count.

The fisticuffs started at the midway point in the final period when Bill Juzda and Phil Watson tried to gang up on Doug Bentley. Johnny Mariucci promptly took up little Doug's cause and pummeled Juzda to the extent of giving the New York defense man a black eye and a bloody schnozz.

Moe Sent to Cooler

When Linesman Mush March sought to help the other officials in quelling a threatened free fight, Watson took a punch at March. Mariucci and Juzda were given major penalties, and Watson drew a 10 minute misconduct penalty for popping March.

Later Bill Moe joined the boys in the lockup and while he was out, Max Bentley, assisted by Bill Mosienko, scored the tying goal, in 11:46.

In 14:08 Doug Bentley assisted by brother Max and Mosienko scored to put the Hawks ahead. With four minutes of the game remaining Juzda assisted Shibicky to the tying goal in 16:12.

Rangers Connect First

In the Chicago season opener against the Rangers, Red Hamill, Max Bentley and Wingy Johnston all scored in the first period before Hank Goldup registered the New Yorkers' lone tally of the evening—a bit of clicking absent in the first period last night, when the visitors were the first to score, Ab De Marco, assisted by Hal Brown, counting in 7:45.

This goal stood up for a lead until Doug Bentley scored a slanter from 20 feet out in 13:34 after getting the puck from Mariucci. Alex Kaleta also won an assist on the maneuver.

Gain Point in Standings

The Rangers led, 2 to 1, at the end of the second period by virtue of a goal scored by Shibicky from 10 feet out in a power melee in which the Hawks seemed startled by the presence of five Rangers in their defense zone. The time of the goal was 5:28 and Ed Laprade was credited with an assist.

The game was the only one played in the league so the third place Hawks gained a point on the Montreal Canadiens and the Detroit Red Wings, now tied for first place, three points ahead of the Chicagoans.

CHICAGO GEARS LOSE, 53 TO 49, IN LEAGUE OPENER

Sheboygan, Wis., Nov. 22 [Special] — The American Gears of Chicago lost their opening basketball game in the National Pro league to the Sheboygan Redskins tonight, 53 to 49. Failure to take advantage of scoring thru free throws cost the Gears the game as they missed 12 of 23 shots.

Stan Patrick, former Illinois star, tallied 17 points to lead the Gears, while Ed Dancker scored a like number for the Redskins.

The Gears return to Chicago to open their home season tomorrow night in the Cicero stadium, where they meet Indianapolis.

RAIN OR SNOW, BEARS ARE SET FOR STEELERS

Chicago Fears Dudley, but Not Weather

BY CHARLES BARTLETT

Regardless of what brand of breezes the weathermap brings Sunday afternoon, the Chicago Bears will be adapted for his whimsies in their Wrigley field battle with the Pittsburgh Steelers. In their Wednesday drill on offense, the Chicagoans underwent two hours of rain while skidding over the Cubs' infield surface. Yesterday morning they were on deck at 9 o'clock for a defensive session conducted in freezing temperatures and snow flurries.

The Bears, who have won only one game in their last eight [and that a resounding conquest of the late champion Green Bay Packers], are determined to wind up their season with three victories. This can be arranged if they'll hand a licking to the Steelers Sunday and another to their fellow townsmen, the Cardinals, in the season final on Dec. 2.

Steelers Have Lost Only Six

The Steelers will come to town in a somewhat uppity mood, for they have won two while losing only six to the Bears' 1-7 record.

The Bear coaching staff of Hunk Anderson, Luke Johnsos, and Paddy Driscoll yesterday morning received some valuable tips on one member of the Steeler ensemble from an unofficial scout named George Halas. The founder and pre-war coach of the Chicagoans, who is still wearing the uniform of a navy commander after 20 months of Pacific duty, emphasized the importance of detaining a Steeler wearing the playing numeral 35.

That would be William McGarvey Dudley. Hunk and Luke and Paddy don't require too much warning about Bill, for they saw the former Virginia star do his stuff in the 1942 All-Star game, which the Bears won in Soldiers' field. But Comdr. Halas has had more recent opportunity to witness the young man in action.

Stars in Pearl Harbor Series

Dudley, recently honorably discharged from the army air forces, was noted again by Halas in the service round robin, held thru the last few months at Pearl Harbor. This involved army air force, navy, and marine elevens, and George attributed the airmen's victory to the work of the slender native of Bluefield, Va.

Carnera Says He Was Awed by Fan's Gun

MILAN, Italy, Nov. 22 (AP)—Primo Carnera, one-time world heavyweight boxing champion, said today that a spectator forced him at pistol point to enter the ring for a losing comeback bout with Luigi Musina last night.

In an interview with the Associated Press, the 264 pound Carnera blamed his seventh round technical knockout on upset nerves and demanded a return bout.

"I had undressed and dressed three times for the bout when finally it was announced that the match had been called off because of the behavior of the crowd," Carnera explained, "and after the second announcement of the postponement I was convinced that the fight would not be held.

He Has Some Cognac

"I had become chilled in the dressing room and drank a glass of cognac to warm me up and it hit me in the legs. I also smoked a cigaret.

"Then a spectator threatened me with a pistol, saying, 'I want satisfaction if the match is not held.'

"I entered the ring very cold and very nervous," Carnera continued, "and I surely hope Musina will give me a return bout under better conditions. I was in good shape last night but a fight under those conditions is foolish and terrible."

Say Primo Has Glass Chin

After last night's bout the referee said the match ended as "had been foreseen." He said Carnera slumped to the mat twice in the first round and that in the seventh he stopped the fight because of "Carnera's obvious inferiority."

The promoter also had ideas that differed from those of Carnera. "The match was a financial disaster and Carnera no longer is a drawing card. He also has a glass chin," he said.

BY DAVID CONDON

Prep football champions of the public and parochial schools will be crowned this week-end following two title games in Soldiers' field, with the victors meeting next Saturday, Dec. 1, on the same gridiron in the Kelly bowl game.

One Kelly bowl contender will be selected tomorrow afternoon when Tilden Tech, bidding for its fourth victory in five years in the City league championship battle, meets a strong Schurz eleven at 1:30 o'clock. The second contender will be determined Sunday afternoon when Fenwick, 1944 runner-up, meets St. Ignatius for the Catholic league crown. Starting time Sunday will be 1:45 o'clock.

Expect 20,000 Fans

An attendance of more than the 20,000, which witnessed last week's semi-final contest between Tilden and Fenger has been forecast for Soldiers' field tomorrow, but this may not be realized under present weather conditions. A long range forecast indicates temperatures around 35 degrees and possible sunshine thru scattered clouds. The Catholic league, with an extra day in which to court the whims of the weatherman, hopes for warmer atmosphere for its title contest.

Tilden, which shared the title with Austin last season when the teams battled to a 7 to 7 tie in the semi-finals and the Blue Devils beat Fenger in the finals, has a chance to win undisputed honors by defeating Schurz. Austin again can share the title should Schurz win, having tied the Bulldogs in last week's semi-final.

As in 1944, Austin lost out on the coin toss to determine which tying eleven should qualify for the finals. However, the west section champions have not yet checked in their equipment, but are aiding Schurz by running off Tilden plays in practice.

Both Teams Are Ready

Yesterday, Coaches Chuck Harvey of Tilden and Fred O'Keefe of Schurz each interrupted engagements with turkeys to report their squads were in top shape for tomorrow's battle.

Meanwhile, Coach Ralph Malliard of St. Ignatius and Fenwick Coach Tony Lawless got together and selected four officials for the Catholic league championship game. They are George Simpson, Northwestern; Ike Craig, Illinois Wesleyan; Emmett Carey, Loyola; and Howard Groeninger, Sacred Heart.

JOEY GETS SOME EXPERT ADVICE

INDIANA GIVEN HARD DRILL AND TURKEY DINNER

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 22 [Special]—It was rehearsal time in the Indiana football camp today, as Coach Bo McMillin sent the Hoosiers thru a stiff practice session and then rewarded them with a turkey dinner. The Hoosiers sought to sharpen up the offensive and defensive lessons they learned earlier in the week.

McMillin still laid emphasis on defense today, but did pay attention to how the Hoosiers' offensive maneuvers were working out. Most of the practice period was spent on rehearsing the defenses laid out to stop Full Back Ed Cody on line thrusts, the running of Bill Canfield, and the passing of Bob De Moss.

Punting also got attention by Hoosier coaches, George Taliaferro, Dick Deranek, Ted Kluszewski, and Louis Mihajlovich booting the ball.

Today's drill will be the last hard workout before the game. The team will taper off with only a light practice tomorrow afternoon. Clear skies and a high wind here today practically assured a dry field for the game. The gridiron has been covered with a tarpaulin since Tuesday.

PURDUE POLISHES PASSES

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 22 [Special]—The effectiveness of Indiana's line against running plays caused Purdue's squad to take to the air with frequency this afternoon as Coach Cecil Isbell polished up the Boilermaker passing offense for the Old Oaken Bucket battle in Bloomington Saturday.

It was obvious that the Boilermakers hopes of springing an upset will depend on the aerial team of Bob De Moss, the Big Nine's leading passer, and Bill Canfield, who leads the conference in pass receptions. During the extended drill, Canfield was De Moss' chief target.

Coach Isbell said he intended to stand pat on the starting lineup that opened the Michigan game Saturday. There will be a light drill tomorrow afternoon before the squad leaves by bus for Indianapolis.

Illini, Hard Hit by Injury, Leave Today

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 22 [Special]—After a short workout this morning in Memorial stadium, Coach Ray Eliot nominated an Illinois backfield composed of Quarter Back Bill Butkovich, Half Backs Jack Pierce and Gene Kwasniewski and Full Back Joe Saban to start against Northwestern Saturday in Dyche stadium, Evanston.

Half Back Stan Stasica and Tackle Lou Agase will not play Saturday.

Ray Ciszek, regular right end, has been shifted to left because of injuries to Left Ends Bill Heiss and Jim Valek. Both will play Saturday but can't be depended upon for much action. Wes Tregoning, discharged marine, was moved to right end.

The team will leave for Chicago tomorrow afternoon and will stay overnight in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

2 Gift Goals Beat Chicago Soccer Team

BY OFFSIDE

Chicago players accidentally kicked the ball into their own net twice as the Natural Set-Ups, of St. Louis, Mo., belied their name and dealt a combined Slovak and Necaxa team from Chicago's National Soccer league a 3 to 1 defeat yesterday in Sparta stadium. The Set-Ups will attempt to set down Hakoah Center and Sparta players in Sparta stadium Sunday. The latter combination defeated the Milwaukee Tigers, 1 to 0, on a goal by Carlos Mendes in yesterday's preliminary game.

The Set-Ups gained a 2 to 0 lead over the Slovak-Necaxa in the first 15 minutes of play, and this despite the fact no St. Louis player had booted the ball into the Chicago net. At the 10 minute mark Chicago's Enrique Cardoza kicked the ball into the Chicago cage in attempting to clear and, five minutes later, the same misfortune overtook Chicago's Charles Ruzich.

Pete Matevich scored for the Slovak-Necaxa forces on a 25 yard free kick near the first period's close. Just to show that they could do it, the Set-Ups scored a goal for themselves in the middle of the second period. William Fogarty did the tallying, on a 15 foot shot. Lineup:

St. Louis [3]		Chicago [1]
Whetzel	G. K.	Martinez [Necaxa]
Thie	R. B.	Ruzich [Slovaks]
J. Garcia	L. B.	Cardoza [Necaxa]
Menendez	R. H.	Alonza [Necaxa]
Kickman	C. H.	Fuentez [Necaxa]
Payne	L. H.	Lascana [Necaxa]
A. Garcia	O. R.	Rivera [Necaxa]
Cohen	I. R.	Matevich [Slovaks]
Gunning	C. F.	F. Tomecek [Sl'v'ks]
Fogarty	I. L.	Doubek [Slovaks]
Munz	O. L.	Cipra [Slovaks]

Substitutes: St. Louis—L. Garcia, Gorman. Chicago—S. Tomecek [Slovaks], Hernandez [Slovaks].
Referee—Rudolph Basek.

WISCONSIN ENDS DRILLS; SQUAD LEAVES TODAY

Madison, Wis., Nov. 22 [Special]—The Wisconsin football squad ended its drills in the fieldhouse here today, the Badgers being forced indoors by a heavy snow fall and extreme cold. Coach Harry Stuhldreher selected 36 players to make the trip to Minnesota for Saturday's game, the squad leaving here early tomorrow afternoon.

Those selected to make the trip:

The Badgers are in good shape and highly confident they will turn back the Gophers and end the season with a victory. The lone loss may be Hal Faverty at center, who still is confined to bed with a bad cold. Larry Lauer will get the first call at the pivot post if Faverty cannot play.

GOPHERS DRIVEN INDOORS

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 22 [Special]—Minnesota's football team was rated a seven point underdog against Wisconsin Saturday in a game that will be played in cold and snow unless today's blizzard abates.

The snow and wind drove the Gophers indoors for their work-out. A juggled line-up with four newcomers in the first string again drilled as a unit.

ROLLER DERBY OPENS ANNUAL SERIES TONIGHT

The Roller derby, featuring nightly contests between teams representing Chicago and New York, will open its 11th annual Chicago show tonight in the Coliseum. The personnel will be the strongest since pre-war days, returning service men having joined both teams.

The track on which the roller skaters will match speed and aggressive rough-and-tumble tactics has been rebuilt to insure greater speed.

The De Paul university basketball team will play the first of a 21 game schedule at 8 o'clock tonight against Vaughan General hospital in the De Paul gymnasium, 2235 N. Sheffield av. The Blue Demons again will be led by big George Mikan, who is captain of the team.

Denver Beats Colorado; Wins Big Seven Title

Denver, Colo., Nov. 22 (AP)—Denver university staved off a last quarter threat by Colorado today before 21,285 to capture the Big Seven conference football championship with a 14 to 8 victory.

SCHICK VS. MAYO

IOWA SQUAD OF 33 LEAVES FOR NEBRASKA GAME

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 22 [Special]—A University of Iowa football squad of 33 men left tonight for Lincoln, Neb., where the Hawkeyes will play their final game of the season Saturday against Nebraska.

Nelson Smith, regular right half back, who has been ill with the flu, will make the trip but it is doubtful if he will start. Bob Wishmeier, reserve end, and Ralph Katz, reserve tackle, were left at home, since they had not recovered from similar trouble.

Fight Broadcast on WENR Tonight

Two of the best middleweights in the East, Jerry Fiorello (above) of Brooklyn, and Coley Welch of Portland, Me., are scheduled to go ten rounds in New York tonight.

Fiorello is an aggressive, colorful, scrapper with a good left hook and a hard right. He fights from a crouch, always moves in and is a tough customer in the clinches. Among others, the joltin' jockey has defeated Vic Dellicurti, Joe Bennett, Johnny Lawer and George "Red" Doty.

Coley Welch punches well with both fists and is highly rated among current middleweights. He has scored victories over Ralph Zannelli, Berlie Lanier, Vic Dellicurti, Izzy Jannazzo and other capable opponents.

GROWTH OF OPA AND ITS DOMAIN RAPID, STEADY

Becomes Largest of War Agencies

BY ROBERT YOUNG
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22—The office of price administration, in less than five years, has steadily increased its price fixing powers from informal supervision over a handful of industrial goods to statutory control over almost 8 million articles and services—or virtually everything Americans buy, eat, wear, and use.

The rearmament and war years also saw the OPA grow into the largest of the several emergency war agencies, with a national office, nine regional offices, 93 district offices, 5,569 local price and rationing boards, 62,615 paid employes, and 168,048 volunteer workers. Altho it began as a price stabilization bureau, it soon acquired rationing authority over many of the most important civilian foods and goods.

Seeks Wider Authority

Since the end of the war the OPA has relinquished its price control on only a few hundred items, mainly luxury or rare goods of no importance to day-to-day living costs, and is still seeking to extend its authority. In the industrial field, price controls have been lifted from aluminum, magnesium, stainless steel, die castings, and aircraft. Basically, the end of the war has not affected the OPA's price powers.

Price Administrator Bowles has asserted that some key price controls must be retained at least 20 months longer. He wishes the price control act, from which the OPA draws its power, extended another year beyond its expiration date of next June 30.

The foundations of the agency were laid in May, 1940, when the late President Roosevelt started the national rearmament program and appointed an advisory commission to the council of national defense. On this advisory group was Leon Henderson, later the first price administrator, who was placed in charge of price stabilization.

Voluntary Plan Discarded

In those early days price problems were specific and localized rather than general. Henderson and his staff were occupied primarily with attempting to prevent speculative excesses in rearmament materials such as metals, lumber, paper, coke and machine tools. The price stabilization division also experimented with maximum prices to be enforced by the voluntary cooperation of industry.

On Feb. 17, 1941, the first of these voluntary price ceiling schedules was issued to cover second hand machine tools. This was followed by similar maximum price schedules on aluminum, zinc, iron and steel scrap, secondary aluminum and zinc metal, and bituminous coal.

On April 11 of that year, after it was decided that advisory price control powers were inadequate, President Roosevelt replaced the price stabilization division with the office of price administration and civilian supply [OPACS]. This agency was directed "to take all lawful steps necessary or appropriate in order to prevent price spiraling, rising cost of living, profiteering, and inflation."

Authority Is Divided

OPACS made its first major move on April 16 and imposed price ceilings on iron and steel. By August, when its control over civilian supplies was transferred to the war production board and its name shortened to office of price administration, the agency had ordered additional price maximums for several other industrial materials, including pig iron, hides, certain textiles, and nickel and brass scrap.

Meanwhile — in July — President Roosevelt had called on congress for specific price control legislation which would give the OPA statutory powers. The house passed the emergency price control bill on Nov. 28, just a few days before Pearl Harbor. In the four months between the introduction of the bill and its passage, the OPA further expanded its price authority until on Dec. 1, about 40 per cent of the wholesale value of the nation's manufactured and industrial goods were covered by formal or informal controls.

Acts Quickly as War Starts

When the United States declared war on Germany and Japan, the OPA still was operating with only delegated executive powers. Nevertheless, it moved rapidly in the first few weeks of the war and extended price control to many important commodities, including wheat, butter, eggs, soybeans, sugar, fats and oils, coffee, pepper, cocoa, leather, tires and tubes, cigarets, stoves, and iron and steel products.

On Jan. 30, 1942, the President signed the price control act, which gave the OPA its first statutory authority and also gave it the power to punish violators of its regulations. Between that date and Feb. 11, when Henderson took office as price administrator, the OPA issued other ceilings which brought its control to 50 per cent of the wholesale price structure. Also at that time, the administration was making plans for a sweeping control of cost of living items at retail.

Rent Rule Started in 1942

On March 2, the OPA ordered rent ceilings in 20 designated "defense rental" areas at levels prevailing at various periods in 1941. In the next few weeks, price ceilings were placed on important consumer items and manufactured goods—refrigerators, vacuum cleaners, washing and ironing machines, radios and phonographs, typewriters, mattresses, rayon and cotton piece goods, newsprint, dressed hogs and wholesale pork cuts. Gasoline prices were frozen in 17 Atlantic seaboard states.

The OPA completed its price control and extended its authority to the nation's retailers on April 28, 1942, with the issuance of the general maximum price regulation and separate ceilings for primary commodities and products.

By the end of the war, the OPA's price fixing authority covered almost every article or service an average American civilian might buy or require. Rent control had been increased to cover 14,700,000 dwelling units in 382 designated areas in which lived more than 92 million persons, or two-thirds of the population of the United States.

At present the major OPA activities are in the field of reconversion pricing or setting maximums for goods which were not manufactured during the war.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC

In connection with Southern Pacific company's recent dividend increase, I should like to know how much its fixed charges have been reduced and amounts earned in recent years.—O. S.

The system's fixed charges in 1944 were $6,060,000 less than in 1939, a reduction of nearly 20 per cent. After allowance for federal taxes at the 1946 rate, this saving is equal to about $1 a share on the company's 3,772,763 outstanding shares. A further cut in charges is indicated for 1945 and 1946.

Long term debt was decreased $136,337,000 from 1939 to 1944, besides repayment of a 20 million dollar bank loan outstanding in 1940. A further cut of $18,473,000 in long term debt will result from the proposed refinancing of the Southern Pacific railroad first refunding 4s. Net working capital was increased more than 72 millions from 1939 to 1944.

The better position is the result in part of the retention of earnings in the business. No dividend was paid during the nine years 1933-'41. Recent increase in the quarterly payment to $1 makes a total of $3.25 for 1945, compared with $2.50 in 1944, $2 in 1943, and $1 in 1942. Earnings as reported for the first nine months of 1945 were $7.63 a share. For the full year 1944 they were $9.73, for 1943 $15.47, for 1942 $21.29. These profits are much above the level of earnings in the immediate pre-war years. In 1938 there was a net loss, and in 1937 a profit of only 20 cents a share.

Strike Holds Up Sleepers to Return Vets

BY ANNE DOUGLAS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Kenosha, Wis., Nov. 22—Company and union officials at the Simmons company, the nation's largest bedding and mattress manufacturer, agreed today that negotiations to end a two month old strike halting output of berths for troop sleepers have reached a complete deadlock.

Approximately 25 meetings between the management and the AFL Simmons Employes union and with the United States conciliation service since the strike began Sept. 24 have disclosed the disputants farther and farther apart, it was said.

Troop Sleepers Held Up

The company had orders to manufacture berths and stanchions for 1,200 troop sleepers by Jan. 1, but had outfitted only 40 or 50 before the strike, said Elmer W. Hanak, general works manager. He said about 400 sleeper cars already await berths at the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company in Chicago. The shortage of sleepers for troops arriving from the Pacific was a factor in action taken by the government this week in requisitioning 70 per cent of air line space from the west to the east coast for returning veterans.

The union is demanding a 25 cents an hour pay raise for the company's approximately 2,000 employes. Simmons has offered 5 cents. Martin Ferkin, union president, said the wage issue, however, was not the cause of the strike. In June, 1944, the company opened its contract with the union to clarify certain clauses and change the wording of others.

Since then the union and the company have been unable to agree on the contract. Ferkin said the union was willing to accept the recommendations of a tripartite panel of the war labor board, but that the company was not, even after further study and approval by the regional WLB in Chicago.

Company Appeals to WLB

When the company appealed to the national war labor board in Washington the union asked for the wage increase, which Ferkin said would have been done later because of the higher cost of living and a reduction in the work week from 46 hours to 40. It then voted under national labor relations board supervision overwhelmingly in favor of a strike.

The strike has been sanctioned by the AFL, the first to receive such sanction in Kenosha in 18 years, he said.

The latest round in the battle occurred this week when United States Conciliator James P. Holmes met first with the company, which had formulated a "full explanation and clear agreement" of its stand, said Hanak. Holmes then met with the union and submitted the company's report, which consisted of "saying no to everything we ask for," said Ferkin. No plans for further arbitration have been made.

Hanak said government orders for insulated tents and for hospital and ship equipment also are being held up by the strike. He said company officials are conferring night and day on the problem, but that he, who is spokesman for the management, was not quite ready to give a detailed report of the company's stand.

Winnipeg Rye Prices Fall 2 to 3⅝ Cents; Trade Dull

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 22 (AP)—Rye futures prices on the Winnipeg grain exchange today declined in dull trading. Most of the dealings were in initial trade when local selling and some reported for American accounts appeared with thin support. Prices closed 3⅝ to 2 cents lower with December $1.90¼.

OPA Exceeds Its Authority, Says Wright

Price Administrator Bowles exceeded his authority in establishing the ceiling prices for 1946 automobiles, Ben. T. Wright, Ford dealer, charged yesterday. Wright has just been elected regional director of the National Automobile Dealers association, with jurisdiction over the Chicago district and the states of Illinois, Wisconsin, and Iowa.

Wright said that because of the confusion over the pricing of new automobiles the public has been misinformed as to the dealers' position in their controversy with the OPA. The dealers ask for no more than they received in the last several years before the war—that they be given the same percentage of opportunity to make a living and rebuild their business, he said.

Says Bowles Misinterprets Law

"After four years of desperate existence, because of no production of new cars and price ceilings on used cars, ours is the first group to be curtailed and completely tied up by red tape and regulations in spite of increased expenses of every kind," Wright said.

"It is the opinion of the dealers association that Bowles has exceeded his authority and placed his own interpretation on the government's war pricing act. This was borne out in congressional hearings.

"Bowles said his reason for cutting dealer discounts was that thru increased production and the holding up of used car prices by government regulation the dealer will not have a loss on his operations. All automobile factories have stated that new car quantity production is extremely indefinite because of many problems affecting output, such as the General Motors strike.

Says Used Car Price Will Fall

"In view of limited production and few new cars to deliver for a lengthy period, plus the rapid fall of used car values as new car output increases, Bowles seems to be in reverse in trying to hold up the prices on used cars. This simply cannot be done."

Wright said it appears that the public will have the alternative of paying reasonable increases for new cars or of paying excessive prices for fictitious values in used cars. He said many persons have tried to hold up prices of securities and commodities in falling markets and went broke trying it. The auto dealers refuse to be placed in this position.

Eastern Air Orders 50 Transports from Martin

New York, Nov. 22 (AP)—Eastern Air Lines, Inc., has ordered 50 two engine, short range, 36 passenger transports from the Glenn L. Martin company for more than 10 million dollars, Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, Eastern's president, announced today. They will be delivered between April and November of 1947.

ALTER SUBSIDY REMOVAL PLAN, FEEDERS URGE

Ask Truman to Lift Ceilings First

Assailing the method by which the government proposes to withdraw live stock subsidies next spring, the Illinois Cattle Feeders association yesterday submitted to President Truman a four point substitute program.

Strother G. Jones, Buffalo, Ill., president of the association, warned in his letter that the "worst meat shortage this or any other nation ever saw will come next summer" if the government's plan is carried out.

The association's plan provides:

1. While shortages still are general, remove immediately not only the ration points on meat, but ceiling prices on it.
2. As the ceilings are removed, remove the subsidies to packers in like proportions until they are entirely eliminated.

"In Ratio to Price Rise"

3. When the subsidies to the packers have been removed, then remove "unwanted" subsidies paid to feeders of cattle and lambs in like ratio to a further rise in meat prices.
4. Declare the war ended and "let the OPA die on June 30, 1946, and stop this burocratic blundering."

The government program announced Nov. 8 by Stabilization Director Collet provides that ceilings on meat, flour, and live stock cannot be removed before the subsidies are unless there is a break in the prices of some other nonsubsidized commodities that affect the cost of living, Jones said.

"Suppose there are no breaks in prices of nonsubsidized foods to offset the elimination of the unwanted subsidies?" Jones asked. What then? Where else, under present conditions, can that offsetting break in the cost of living come from?

Feeders Would Face Big Loss

"It won't come from decreasing rents. With short crops of cotton and wool, it won't come from clothing. With the coal strike cutting supplies so short, it won't come from heating. With labor wages being boosted, it can't come from reduced selling prices of general commodities. Where can it come from?"

Jones said the government policy would "result in the terrific liquidation of all hogs and cattle in the corn belt" long before midsummer and would make heavy losses inevitable on cattle brought into the area for feeding this fall.

"The cattle feeders do not propose to take it without a struggle," he said. "We have done our patriotic duty during the war, feeding to produce meat despite profit or loss. Now we demand justice."

Canada Ships 12 Pct. of War Output to U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 22—Twelve per cent of Canada's war production went to the United States, and 53 per cent to Britain and other empire countries, C. D. Howe, minister of munitions and supply, reported in a final review of war production. Thirty-four per cent was utilized by Canada.

Howe said the total dollar value of war contracts by the department in the war was 12 billion 751 millions. At the peak of war production 1,186,000 Canadians were employed directly and indirectly in war industry, or one in 12 persons.

Big Increases Accomplished

Indicating the industrial development of Canada from Sept. 10, 1939, when Canada declared war, until the defeat of Japan, Howe said iron and steel capacity had increased 166 per cent, chemical production capacity 233 per cent, and output of nonferrous metals three times.

Canada has a new synthetic rubber industry producing 40,000 tons a year, and electrical capacity had increased from 7½ million horse power to 9,600,000.

The country produced 800,000 automotive and armored vehicles, 16,200 aircraft, 28,000 naval and field guns, 1½ million rifles and machine guns, 4 billion 400 million rounds of small arms ammunition, 100 million rounds of heavy ammunition, 2 million tons of chemicals, and 8,000 war ships.

Large Part for Export

Sixty per cent of all production in Canada in the war was for war uses, of which 70 per cent was for export.

Private capital made an investment of 500 million dollars in war production facilities, and the government invested 720 millions in land, plant, and equipment for war output.

WARD, PULLMAN REPORT UNEVEN EARNING TREND

Net income of Montgomery Ward & Co. in the nine months ended Oct. 31 was $14,405,472, equal to $2.56 a share, compared with $13,979,784, or $2.48 a share, a year ago, the company said yesterday. Taxes totaled $21,790,000, against $18,245,000. Third quarter profit was $6,004,370, equal to $1.08 a share, compared with $7,133,047, or $1.30 a share, a year earlier.

Consolidated net income of Pullman, Inc., for the nine months ended Sept. 30 decreased to $9,499,253, equal to $2.84 a capital share, from $10,615,037, or $3.29 a share, a year earlier. Third quarter net income was $3,915,899, or $1.21 a share, against $3,717,488, or $1.15 a share, a year ago.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY COMPANY

To the Holders of Southern Railway Company's

Development and General Mortgage Bonds, 6% Series, due April 1, 1956; and Development and General Mortgage Bonds, 6½% Series, due April 1, 1956.

In furtherance of its program of retiring debt, Southern Railway Company has, within the past thirty days, purchased substantial blocks of its Six Per Cent and Six and One-Half Per Cent Development and General Mortgage Bonds, aggregating $2,650,000 principal amount, at the respective prices of 118 for the Sixes, and of 122 for the Six and One-Halfs.

The Company desires to give the same opportunity (to the extent its resources available for such purposes permit) to the remaining holders of these Bonds, and at the same time thus to augment its debt retirements before the end of the year 1945.

Southern Railway Company therefore offers to purchase, for retirement, up to $5,000,000 principal amount in the aggregate of the above described issues, at the following prices:

Six Per Cent Series

For each $1,000 Development and General Mortgage Bond, 6% Series.....$1,180.00, together with accrued interest on the principal amount from October 1, 1945, to November 30, 1945, inclusive, (being $10.00 for each $1,000 Bond).

Six and One-Half Per Cent Series

For each $1,000 Development and General Mortgage Bond, 6½% Series.....$1,220.00, together with accrued interest on the principal amount from October 1, 1945, to November 30, 1945, inclusive, (being $10.83 for each $1,000 Bond).

This offer is open between Tuesday, November 13, 1945, and the close of business on Friday, November 30, 1945.

Bonds should be presented at the office of the Company's Agent, The First National Bank of the City of New York, 2 Wall Street, New York 15, New York. Coupon Bonds must be surrendered with April 1, 1946, and all subsequent coupons attached. Registered Bonds must be assigned in blank or be accompanied by appropriate detached assignments, with signatures guaranteed.

Bonds will be paid for in the order in which presented until the above mentioned $5,000,000 principal amount shall have been acquired, provided, however, that the Company reserves the right (a) to accept such additional principal amount of Bonds, if presented within said period, as it may desire, accepting such proportion of each lot (to the nearest $1,000) presented as the aggregate amount of Bonds in excess of said $5,000,000 determined by the Company to be accepted bears to the total additional principal amount presented, without preference between the two Series, or (b) to reject any amount offered in excess of the first $5,000,000 principal amount presented.

The Agent will pay, with reference to any Bonds presented for account of the owners thereof by any Bank, Trust Company, Member of a National Securities Exchange or Member of the National Association of Security Dealers, Inc. (such Bank, Trust Company or Member not being the owner), a commission of $2.50 per $1,000 Bond.

All Bonds purchased are to be cancelled, and United States Stamp Taxes are not payable on the sale.

BYRNES GIRDS TO HALT GRAB BY WALLACE

Commercial Bureau Control at Stake

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22—Battle lines are being drawn between the commerce department for a bitter conflict over control of commercial intelligence information.

Commerce Secretary Wallace is preparing to launch a campaign for the return of commercial representatives to his department from which they were snatched almost 10 years ago by order of President Roosevelt. Radical groups are massing behind their chief administration spokesman.

State Secretary Byrnes is mapping plans to resist the raid and retain the commercial representatives in the state department on the ground that commercial interests and diplomacy go hand in hand and belong in one department.

Lack of Coöperation

In opening his drive, Wallace stands ready to take advantage of widespread criticism of lack of coöperation business men have been receiving at the hands of American commercial attaches thruout the world. He has been advised the drive might bring him support of segments of business for 1948 Presidential aspirations.

Business men have noted with indignation that business men of other nations are warmly received at their various foreign service offices, while American diplomatic officials treat visiting American business men as poor relations.

State department officials readily acknowledge the department's shortcomings in this respect, but attribute this to the war and insist that the situation is being mended as rapidly as possible in a world of unrest.

Usually Unwelcome

The attitude of American business men is summed up in an editorial in the current issue of the magazine, American Aviation, whose editor, Wayne Parrish, is now in Europe. He writes:

"Americans visiting in foreign countries, especially Europe, are often surprised when their hosts inform them of the location of the American legation or embassy and suggest that, of course, they will want to pay a call on their diplomatic representatives. It rarely occurs to an American to call at any of his legations or embassies while traveling abroad for the simple reason that he is usually not welcome.

"There are exceptions, of course, but an American from home is invariably considered [and called] "a visiting fireman" and treated as a general nuisance. The attitude of the cookie-pushers in our legations and embassies to fellow countrymen has always been boorish to an extreme.

Frown on Americans

"The new secretary of state, Mr. Byrnes, is well intentioned in every respect, but the roots of the troubles in the department are outside of Washington and out of the United States of America. They center in the smug, almost expatriot coterie of cocktail loungers who frown on anything American and who disdain to be of any real service to their countrymen."

Sen. Pepper [D., Fla.] is expected to fire the opening gun of the Wallace campaign on his return from Europe. The senator, who was an early and tireless advocate of American entry into the war, went abroad when peace was declared. He missed Europe in 1917, when he enlisted in the student army training corps and in 1941, when, at the age of 41, he decided he could best serve his country in the senate.

Transfer Adm. Wagner to Florida Station
